From: Woollen, Stan - OC on behalf of OC GCP Questions
Sent: Monday, February 10, 2003 8:00 AM
To: [redacted]
Subject: RE: GCP Training

Dear [redacted],

We certainly commend your initiative to seek out GCP training. There are several organizations which offer training. I would suggest that you visit their web sites for the current offerings. Non-profit groups which offer training include for example the Drug Information Association (DIA) http://www.diahome.org/docs/index.cfm and the Association of Clinical Research Professionals (ACRP) http://www.acrpnet.org/ . ACRP offers a formal certification program. Though FDA is not permitted to formally endorse any one organization or program, I'm sure these contacts will serve as some examples of what is available.

Sincerely,
Stan W. Woollen
Associate Director for Bioresearch Monitoring
Good Clinical Practice Program

> -----Original Message-----
> From: [redacted]
> Sent: Friday, February 07, 2003 4:21 PM
> To: gcpquestions@oc.fda.gov
> Subject: GCP Training
>
> Dear Ms/Sir,
> I am a new investigator and would like to complete formal GCP training. Can you direct me to any upcoming workshop? Is there anyone else whom I should contact? Thank you.
>
> [redacted]