From: Daniel Kingery
Reply To: DanielKingery@PortablePublishing.com
To: agencypro2008@fec.gov
Subject: Comments Regarding the FEC
Date: 02/10/2009 01:53 PM

To Whom it Concerns:

As one of the 2008 Presidential Candidates, I campaigned in 33 states on less than $15,000; approaching each "state-wide" newspaper and T.V. station in each of those states.

With comments by FEC "miss"management who make national media statements like, "To be considered a credible candidate in the 2008 Presidential race, a candidate has to demonstrate the ability to raise 100's of millions of dollars."

SUGGESTION: Media is to INFORM the People. Not deliberately mislead them. Failure to provide full disclosure is deception in the media, especially when additional information is crucial to the People in their decision making. Require of all media that if they cover an election (national in scope) that any of the media covering an election MUST publish the names of all the candidates in the race they cover. Minimum information must include the basic stats of age, citizenship, years in country, campaign contact info (such as, info provided to FEC, like website, e-mail address, phone number). Beyond that, let candidates spend all the money on a campaign they desire. If the People wish to elect one who spends 100's of millions of dollars than the job pays; let the People get what they desire or whomever they will not speak out to have removed, no matter how bad that candidate may be.

Respectfully,

Daniel Kingery

D O T E A S Y - "Join the web hosting revolution!" http://www.doteasy.com