ORIGINAL PETITION IN INTERVENTION OF DENTON DRILLING AWARENESS GROUP AND EARTHWORKS

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF THIS COURT:

Pursuant to Rule 60 of the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure, Defendants-Intervenors Denton Drilling Awareness Group and Earthworks (collectively, “Intervenors”) file this Original Petition in Intervention (“Intervention Petition”) and respectfully show the Court as follows:

I.

PARTIES

1. Defendant-Intervenor Denton Drilling Awareness Group (“DentonDAG”) is a Texas non-profit corporation with its registered office in the City of Denton, Texas. DentonDAG is dedicated to educating the public about the dangers of gas well drilling and its related processes to public health, the environment, and property values in the City of Denton. DentonDAG created the “Frack Free Denton” campaign, which supported a November 2014 ballot initiative, calling on the City of Denton to enact an ordinance prohibiting hydraulic fracturing within city limits. The ballot measure passed by a margin of almost 59% to 41%, and DentonDAG now seeks to intervene to defend the ordinance enacted by the City following passage of the initiative (the “Ordinance”).

2. Defendant-Intervenor Earthworks is a national nonprofit organization dedicated to protecting communities and the environment from the adverse impacts of mineral and energy development, while promoting sustainable solutions. Earthworks fulfills its mission by forming partnerships with local affected communities, including the community in Denton, Texas, and working collectively with them to solve the growing threats presented by extractive industrial activities. Earthworks worked closely with DentonDAG in support of a prohibition on hydraulic fracturing within Denton’s city limits, including collecting signatures for and educating the public about the ballot initiative calling for enactment of the Ordinance. Earthworks seeks to intervene to defend the Ordinance.

3. Plaintiff Texas Oil and Gas Association (“TXOGA”) is a statewide trade association representing businesses and individuals engaged in various aspects of the oil and gas industry, including production, transmission, processing, and refining. TXOGA seeks to invalidate the Ordinance. Through its counsel, TXOGA has entered an appearance in this Court, and no service of process is needed upon it.

4. Defendant City of Denton, Texas, is a chartered home rule municipal corporation under Article XI, Section 5, of the Texas Constitution. At approximately 3:00 A.M. on July 16, 2014, the City Council of the City of Denton voted 5-2 not to enact an ordinance prohibiting hydraulic fracturing within city limits. Following the passage of the November 2014 ballot initiative requiring enactment, the City of Denton enacted the Ordinance, which became effective on December 2, 2014. Through its counsel, the City of Denton has entered an appearance in this Court, and no service of process is needed upon it.

II.

JURISDICTION AND INTERVENTION

5. The jurisdictional allegations in the original action confer jurisdiction over the Intervention Petition, which concerns the same subject matter as that in the original suit.

6. The original action and Intervenors' defense concern a dispute over the legality of the Ordinance. TXOGA claims, and Intervenors deny, that the Ordinance is inconsistent with state law and that it is invalid under Article XI, Section 5, of the Texas Constitution.

7. On November 5, 2014, TXOGA filed an Original Petition against the City of Denton seeking a declaratory judgment invalidating the Ordinance and an injunction against the City's enforcement of the Ordinance.

8. On December 1, 2014, on or before 10:00 A.M., the City of Denton filed Defendant's Special Exceptions and Original Answer to Plaintiff's Original Petition (the "Answer"). The City specially excepted to TXOGA's field preemption claim, generally denied the allegations in the Original Petition, and asserted an affirmative defense of public nuisance.

9. Intervenors file this Intervention Petition as party defendants to provide a vigorous defense of the legality and enforceability of the Ordinance. An entity has a right to intervene as a defendant where "if the action had been brought against him, he would be able to defeat recovery, or some part thereof." Guaranty Fed. Sav. Bank v. Horseshoe Operating Co., 793 S.W.2d 652, 657 (Tex. 1990). Had the original petition been filed against Intervenors, as proponents of a prohibition on hydraulic fracturing within Denton's city limits and the sponsors of the ballot initiative that required enactment of the Ordinance, Intervenors would have been able to defeat TXOGA's claims by establishing that the Ordinance is not preempted by state law.

10. Moreover, intervention as a defendant is proper if "a judgment for the plaintiff may . . . seriously prejudice the intervenor." Evan's World Travel, Inc. v. Adams, 978 S.W.2d 225, 234-35 (Tex. App.—Texarkana 1998, no pet.). Intervenors expended extensive time and resources to secure passage of the Ordinance that TXOGA now seeks to nullify. Intervenors identified the need for a prohibition on hydraulic fracturing within Denton's boundaries to prevent harms to the health, environment, and property of citizens within the community; participated in the drafting of the Ordinance; educated the citizens of Denton about the need for the Ordinance; educated the citizens of Denton about the need for the ballot initiative following the City Council's refusal on July 16 to enact the Ordinance; collected signatures sufficient to get the Ordinance on the November 4, 2014, ballot; and then tirelessly advocated for its passage. Because of the close, continuous, and integral role that Intervenors played in the sponsorship of the initiative and passage of the Ordinance, Intervenors would be seriously prejudiced by a judgment for TXOGA. Cf. Blum v. Lanier, 997 S.W.2d 259, 262 (Tex. 1999) (recognizing that initiative sponsors and signers have a justiciable interest in the valid execution of a charter amendment election that is distinct from that of the public at large); Tex. Civ. Prac. & Rem. Code § 37.006(a) ("When declaratory relief is sought, all persons who have or claim any interest that would be affected by the declaration must be made parties.").

III.

DEFENSES TO CAUSES OF ACTION

11. Intervenor adopt and incorporate by reference the Answer of the City of Denton and hereby assert the special exceptions, general denial, and affirmative defenses contained therein as if set forth in this Intervention Petition in their entirety.

IV.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

Intervenor request the following relief:

- (a) That this Court declare that the Ordinance is not inconsistent with any state law, rules, or regulations and therefore is valid under Article XI, Section 5 of the Texas Constitution;
- (b) That this Court declare that the Ordinance is not invalidated by operation of the Texas Natural Resources Code, the Texas Water Code, the Texas Health and Safety Code, rules or regulations of the Texas Railroad Commission or the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality or any other Texas statute, rules, or regulations;
- (c) That this Court declare that the Ordinance is valid and fully enforceable by the City of Denton;
- (d) That this Court award attorneys' fees and costs to Intervenor; and
- (e) That this Court grant Intervenor such other and further relief, both general and special, at law and in equity, to which they may be justly entitled.

Respectfully submitted,
