

With STAT•News, you will receive important updates about product enhancements and changes, as well as useful training materials to help you maximize the value of STAT-USA®'s resources. Manage your STAT•News account at:
<http://home.stat-usa.gov/statnewsacct>

STAT-USA Products & Services

STAT-USA®/Internet™
<http://www.stat-usa.gov>

USA Trade® Online
<http://www.usatradeonline.gov>

EuroTrade® Online
<http://www.eurotradeonline.gov>

Syndicate USA
<http://www.syndicateusa.gov>

STAT-USA Training Center
<http://www.stat-usa.gov/training>

STAT-USA, an office within the U.S. Department of Commerce, has been delivering timely federal economic and trade information for 20 years.

STAT-USA
U.S. Department of Commerce
HCHB Room 4885
Washington, D.C. 20230
1-800-STAT-USA (782-8872)
202-482-1986
202-482-3417 (fax)
<http://home.stat-usa.gov>

Receive Regular Updates from STAT-USA with STAT•News!

Did you know we recently added trade lead offers from the United Nations to the National Trade Data Bank? Or, that USA Trade Online will soon be expanded to include port data? We want you to maximize the value of your STAT-USA subscription(s), which is why we created the STAT•News mailing list. With STAT•News you have the option of receiving timely notifications about product enhancements and changes, as well as training materials and other relevant news.

Here's the best part, especially for our site license and consortium customers: Anyone can join! Whether you're an individual user, a professor at a university, or a patron of your local library, you too can receive STAT•News. Using your STAT•News account, you can tailor the options to fit your individual interests. For example, you can sign up to receive any combination of the following: electronic notices through STAT•News, dates of STAT-USA events and appearances, promotional offers, and product specific information such as software and data updates. Account holders will still receive renewal notices and other account maintenance materials.

Go to <http://home.stat-usa.gov/statnews>, click on "Sign up for STAT•News today!", and give the new system a try!

For single-designated user customers with access to only one service, it's easy; your account password now doubles as your STAT•News login password (though you can change it at any time). In fact, if you're already logged in, the system will automatically recognize you. All you need to do is select/deselect the items you wish to receive. See the "Thanks, but no thanks!" section below for details on how to remove your name from the list.

If you have multiple accounts with STAT-USA and aren't sure which password the system defaulted to when creating your STAT•News account, use the "Forgot your password?" option to have it mailed to you.

Attention managers of shared access accounts! It's important for you to spread the word about this exciting new service. Send students and professors at your university or co-workers in your organization to <http://home.stat-usa.gov/statnews> to learn more about this system and start their free STAT•News subscription today.

Thanks, but no thanks!

To remove your name from the mailing list, go to <http://home.stat-usa.gov/stat-news>, login (again, there's an option to remind you of your password if you've forgotten it), and deselect the publications you no don't want to receive. Finally, click the "Submit Request" button to complete the process.

