

Stanley L. Minken, M.D.

Dr. Stanley Minken is a professor of surgery at the Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences. Dr. Minken earned his undergraduate degree in 1958 from the University of Maryland. He completed his Master of Science degree the following year at the George Washington University in Washington, D.C. In 1963, Dr. Minken received his M.D. from the University of Maryland School of Medicine. Dr. Minken completed his surgery residency at Strong Memorial Hospital in Baltimore in 1969, taking a year to complete a surgical research fellowship at the National Institutes of Health in mid-residency. Following completion of his residency, Dr. Minken served on active duty in the U.S. Air Force, at the rank of Major, for two years. He then returned to Baltimore as Associate Chairman, Department of Surgery, at Franklin Square Hospital. He also served as director of the surgical outpatient services and chief of vascular surgery. Dr. Minken subsequently served as director of the vascular surgical clinic and attending surgeon at the University of Maryland Hospital; attending surgeon at Johns Hopkins Hospital and Mercy Hospital; and he held a variety of positions at St. Agnes Hospital, including chairman, Department of Surgery and director of the vascular laboratory. Dr. Minken came to USU fulltime in 2001. In addition to his appointment to USU's Department of Surgery, he is an assistant professor of surgery at both the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine and at the University of Maryland School of Medicine.