

I noticed the NSF 3-2003 standard is referenced and the latest edition is 2007. There are no significant changes in this edition. Another opportunity for improvement in the eligibility criteria final draft is in regard to the GPR formula for door type machines that shows only 5 or 7 seconds load time. There are many front loading door machines that are not undercounter. I suggest adding a line that states, "load time = 30 seconds for front opening door-type dishwashers".
