The Quest for Excellence® XX

April 22-25, 2008 • Hilton Washington • Washington, DC

Who Should Attend: CEOs, senior managers, government executives, education and health care professionals, directors of staff functions, heads of operating units, quality/performance improvement practitioners, and anyone who wants to implement the Baldrige Criteria for Performance Excellence (Criteria) in their organization.

Organizations from all sectors of the U.S. economy should attend to learn how to improve competitiveness and performance. Whether your organization is large or small; is involved in service, manufacturing, nonprofit, education or health care; or has one office or multiple sites across the globe, you can benefit from the experience of the Baldrige Award recipients.

For 20 years, The Quest for Excellence has provided a forum for Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award recipients to showcase their exceptional performance practices and share their journeys to excellence with interested businesses and organizations.

The Quest for Excellence provides an opportunity for in-depth learning about the best practices and results of the 2007 Baldrige Award recipients, offers special sessions with previous recipients, and maximizes networking opportunities. Senior leaders will discuss the seven Categories of the Criteria, their journeys to performance excellence, and their lessons learned.

"Hard work, innovation, and the entrepreneurial spirit reflect the values that make our country strong. Twenty years ago, the Baldrige Award was established to honor American organizations that demonstrate a strong commitment to quality and performance excellence. This year's Baldrige Award recognizes business, health care, and nonprofit organizations for their leadership and management and their focus on putting people first."

Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award Recipients

Small Business: PRO-TEC Coating Company

PRO-TEC provides world-class, hot-dipped galvanized coated sheet steel primarily for the most demanding customers and applications in the automotive market. Established in 1990 as a joint venture between United States Steel Corporation and Kobe Steel of Japan, PRO-TEC continues to operate under the joint venture agreement.

PRO-TEC has been continuously profitable for 12 years in an industry that has been undergoing widespread bankruptcies and consolidations. Over the past five years, profits have doubled.

PRO-TEC is the industry leader in advanced-high-strength steel coating and ultrahigh-strength steel coating, supplying about 15 percent of all hot-dipped galvanized steel to the automotive market. PRO-TEC produces in excess of 100 percent of design capacity in a 24/7 operation.

PRO-TEC was the first steel-processing plant to earn both OSHA's Voluntary Protection Program (VPP) Star and EPA's National Environmental Performance Track (NEPT) recognition at the same time.

Health Care: Mercy Health System

Mercy Health System (MHS) is a vertically integrated health system that provides services to residents of southern Wisconsin and northeastern Illinois. Hospital-based services (50%) include three hospitals; clinic-based services (34%) include 285 physicians employed at 38 community clinics in six counties; post acute care/retail services (4%) include subacute care services, long-term care services, home health services, a community-based residential facility with hospice beds, a "health mall", and six retail pharmacies; and an insurance company. Insurance products (12%) include an HMO, POS (Point-of-Service) products, Medicaid HMO, and Medicare supplement plans.

Results for community acquired pneumonia mortality rates have decreased steadily since 2003, with current results at 1.2%—significantly below the benchmark of 4.0%. MHS received the 2006 American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) "Best Employers for Workers Over Age 50" award and was named one of the "100 Best Companies in Which to Work" by Working Mother magazine. In addition, in 2007, MHS was named one of the "100 Best Adoption-Friendly Workplaces."

MHS provides approximately 1.8% of its hospitals' revenue and more than 2% of its clinics' revenue to charity care.

Health Care: Sharp HealthCare

Sharp HealthCare is an integrated health care delivery system that provides a full continuum of care through its 4 acute care hospitals, 3 specialty hospitals, 3 affiliated medical groups, 19 outpatient medical clinics, and a health insurance plan. Sharp HealthCare's net revenue increased by over $900 million from 2001–2007 (projected). In 2006, Sharp HealthCare surpassed the performance level of its largest local competitor.

Sharp's four acute-care hospitals—are in or approaching the top 10% in performance nationally for non-intensive-care-unit community-acquired pneumonia patients, with sustained improvement year after year. For all three hospitals with intensive care units, heart attack mortality is demonstrating sustained levels from 2004–2007, a mark that is at or better than the national benchmark.

The economic value of community benefits provided by Sharp increased from approximately $100 million in 2001 to approximately $180 million in 2006. Management's donation of hours toward community programs increased from 10,000 hours to almost 60,000 during the period 2003–2006. Sharp is recognized as one of only nine health care organizations to receive the "100 Most Wired" award for nine consecutive years.

- Including the first two Award Recipients in the new Nonprofit Category

Nonprofit: City of Coral Springs
The City of Coral Springs is a municipal corporation—a city government following a corporate management model. Coral Springs is a centrally planned community incorporated in July 1963. The population of 131,257 makes it the 13th largest city in the State of Florida.

The city demonstrates a consistently high level of financial performance, reflecting the city's effectiveness of running like a business, its key strategic advantage. Results include a AAA bond rating from the major rating agencies, the "Government Financial Officers Association Distinguished Budget" award for 16 consecutive years, and zero findings on external audits for 11 years.

The city is committed to customer focus, demonstrated by senior leaders multiple approaches to communicate the city's strategic priorities, goals and plans, including the yearly "Slice of the Springs" meetings for its two key customer groups.

The city's efforts to improve public safety have resulted in crime rate incidents per 100,000 decreasing by nearly half over the last 10 years. This is the lowest crime rate in the state, fourth lowest in the nation for cities with populations between 100,000-499,999. Employee satisfaction and willingness to recommend the city as a place to work has been 90% or higher for 10 consecutive years.

Nonprofit: U.S. Army Armament Research, Development and Engineering Center (ARDEC)

ARDEC is the R&D center for armaments used by the U.S. Army, Special Operations Command, and other organizations. ARDEC's purpose is to provide battlefield supremacy for U.S. troops through "overmatch capabilities." Over the past 10 years, ARDEC has developed and released more than 20 products that have provided U.S. troops with "world's best" capabilities, compared with products from foreign military and other U.S. defense organizations.

Efforts to diversify ARDEC's revenue stream have led to growth in non-Army revenue from about $60 million in fiscal year (FY) 2001 to $140 million in FY2007. Overall revenue has increased from approximately $600 million in FY2001 to around $1.2 billion in FY2007.

ARDEC has received awards and recognition based on customer satisfaction and perceived value, including Value Engineering Accomplishments of Merit. Over the past five years, ARDEC has won 13 of the Army's "10 Greatest Inventions of the Year" awards. Additionally, ARDEC has won the "Army Research and Development Lab of the Year" award for two of the last four years. ARDEC's SWORDS robot was named one of the "most amazing inventions of 2004" by Time magazine.

Results for workforce engagement were more than 84% positive and job satisfaction ratings increased from about 87% positive in FY2004 to 92% positive in FY2007, exceeding government productivity and quality benchmarks.
