The United States financial markets are the most corrupt of world developed nations. You, the SEC must be proud. Elimination of regulations and selective enforcement of others previously found necessary for properly performing free markets have allowed the government to protect its fascist partners while allowing these same partners to manipulate the markets and rape targeted companies and steal from the investing public. The Cox selective enforcement of naked shorting for only 19 of the government partners is an admission by Cox that the SEC does not enforce regulations. Naked shorting is illegal, period. The naked shorting regulation must be enforced for everybody and all companies across the board. The up-tick rule must also be re-instituted. The naked shorters have caused severe damage to investors and targeted companies. These criminal scum are traceable. They must be prosecuted individually and made to reimburse in full all damaged parties.
