MEMORANDUM

TO: Designated Agency Ethics Officials

FROM: Jack Covaleski
Deputy Director for Agency Programs

SUBJECT: New OGE Web site

The Office of Government Ethics (OGE) is pleased to announce the availability of its new web site at www.usoge.gov. The new OGE web site has been completely redesigned both structurally and graphically with the most active users, the government ethics community, as the primary target audience. Ethics officials will find the site easier and more logical to navigate when researching ethics questions, looking for information such as DAEOgrams, training and conference information, publications, advisory opinions and ethics laws and regulations or merely keeping up to date on current ethics events.

The attached pamphlet on the new web site is designed to help you transition to this new format and help you find the information you have come to depend on in managing your agency ethics program. We welcome any comments you may have on this new site as we continue to identify ways to improve information dissemination from OGE to the ethics community. Comments can be directed to OGE's webmaster at webmaster@oge.gov.
