Subject: A-76

I object to the A-76 action the government is considering to any and all government agencies. Especially the Department of Defense jobs can not and should not be looked at for A-76 studies this is a threat to national security, in my opinion.

If member's in Washington DC believe A-76 is the future, I believe its a big mistake. A-76 does not save the government money-in fact many cases have shown that it costs the government more money!

Many military bases are going through A-76 studies and finding its a miserable process. Not only to understand your job may be lost to a government contractor at the current time, but you have to compete against the contractor again in the near future. Its a never ending process, which sounds ridiculous.

Please reconsider and hopefully understand my thoughts on this issue as I see the A-76 process through coworkers.

Thank you

Catherine Humphrey
