

FACT SHEET

Amended Preliminary Determination in the Antidumping Duty Investigation on Imports of Certain Lined Paper Products from the People's Republic of China

On May 19, the Department of Commerce (Department) issued its amended preliminary determination in the antidumping duty investigation on imports of certain lined paper products (CLPP) from the People's Republic of China (PRC). We preliminarily found PRC producers/exporters have sold certain lined paper products in the U.S. market at less than fair value, with margins ranging from 80.18 to 258.21 percent. As a result of this amended preliminary determination, the Department will instruct U.S. Customs and Border Protection to suspend liquidation of entries of subject merchandise and to collect a cash deposit or bond based on the preliminary rates.

Next Steps: The Department will consider all submitted comments from interested parties along with other record evidence before making its final determination, currently scheduled for August 2006. If the Department makes a final determination that imports were sold below fair value by PRC producers/exporters, and the U.S. International Trade Commission (ITC) makes a final affirmative determination that imports from the PRC materially injure, or threaten material injury to, the domestic industry, the Department will issue an antidumping duty order and instruct U.S. Customs and Border Protection to collect cash deposits on imports of subject merchandise.

Application of Total Adverse Facts Available: The preliminary dumping margin for imports of CLPP from the PRC-wide entity (258.21 percent) is based on adverse facts available.

PRC Companies Qualifying for a Separate Rate: Based on the separate-rate applications submitted by PRC producers/exporters, the Department has preliminarily determined that 22 additional companies have demonstrated an absence of government control, a requirement for separate-rate status. The Department will apply the weighted-average dumping margin of the mandatory PRC respondents (137.62 percent) to these companies for purposes of the preliminary determination.

Critical Circumstances: The petitioners alleged that critical circumstances exist with respect to imports of CLPP from the PRC. The Department has preliminarily determined that there is sufficient evidence to warrant a finding that critical circumstances exist with respect to all PRC producers/exporters except for the Watanabe Group, Lian Li, and 14 of the separate-rate respondents (see chart).

Petitioners: The petition requesting this investigation was filed by the Association of American School Paper Suppliers, an ad hoc trade association whose members are located in Ohio, Tennessee, and Georgia.

Product Description: The scope of this investigation includes certain lined paper products, typically school supplies, composed of or including paper that incorporates straight horizontal and/or vertical lines on ten or more paper sheets, including but not limited to such products as single- and multi-subject notebooks, composition books, wireless notebooks, looseleaf or glued filler paper, graph paper, and laboratory notebooks. Merchandise subject to this investigation is typically imported under headings 4820.10.2050, 4810.22.5044, 4811.90.9090 of the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States (HTSUS). The tariff classifications are provided for convenience and customs purposes; however, the written description of the scope of the investigation is dispositive. For a complete scope description, see the preliminary determination Federal Register notice.

Source: U.S. ITC DataWeb under HTSUS subheadings 4820.10.2050, 4810.22.5044, and 4811.90.9000. In calculating the import volume for HTSUS subheadings 4811.90.9000 and 4810.22.5044, the Department converted import data obtained from the DataWeb into a unit basis by dividing the reported total weight (in kilograms) by 0.491262 kilograms, the per unit weight of the most common filler paper product (150-count filler paper), as indicated by Petitioner. See Petition, Volume I, page 9, Footnote 1. HTSUS subheading 4820.10.2050 did not require conversion.
