MEDIA ADVISORY

- WHO: Philadelphia Water Department
- WHAT: 3rd Annual Southeastern Pennsylvania Coast Day
- WHEN: Sunday, September 12, 2004
11 a.m. to 5 p.m.
- WHERE: Coast Day: 670 Water Works Drive
Fairmount Water Works Interpretive Center

Everyone is invited to spend the day along banks of the Schuylkill River by the beautiful Fairmount Water Works. Visitors will be able to tour the interactive booths of local environmental and educational groups and follow a treasure map to discover the wonders of the Delaware Estuary. More than 25 organizations from across the region will be in attendance.

Many educational and family-oriented activities which include a treasure hunt and open access to the Fairmount Water Works Interpretive Center will educate the public about the Delaware Estuary – where the river meets the sea.

The Philadelphia Water Department will also host a Free FUN Fishing Event open to everyone including kids and disabled participants. Fishing licenses will not be required and rods will be provided by the Pennsylvania Fish and Boat Commission.

Both Coast Day and the Fishing Event are FREE. For more information, visit www.phillywater.org/boating; For more information about Coast Day, visit <http://www.delawareestuary.org> or call 1-800-445-4935.
