Dear Friends,

Regrettably, due to Hurricane Isabel, the Fairmount Water Works Interpretive Center ribbon-cutting ceremony this Friday, September 19, 2003 and public opening on Saturday, September 20, 2003 will be postponed most likely till mid to late October - after the hurricane season. Exhibits are being moved to higher ground as we speak and flood protocols are in effect. Out of consideration for our guests, we made the decision today. We apologize for any inconvenience and hope you will consider joining us later in the fall. We will keep you posted!
