What Is GPO Access?

GPO Access is a service of the U.S. Government Printing Office that provides free electronic access to a wealth of important information products produced by the Federal Government. The information provided on this site is the official, published version and the information retrieved from GPO Access can be used without restriction, unless specifically noted. This free service is funded by the Federal Depository Library Program and has grown out of Public Law 103-40, known as the Government Printing Office Electronic Information Enhancement Act of 1993.

The free services of GPO Access fall within the following categories:

- Government information databases for your online use.
 - Individual Federal agency files available for download.
 - Tools to assist you in finding Government Information.
 - Collections of Government information available for free use at a library near you.
 - User Support.

Government Information Databases

GPO Access provides free online use of many Federal databases. These databases include the following:

- Popular regulatory materials such as: The Federal Register and The Code of Federal Regulations.
- Critical Congressional products such as: The Congressional Record and Congressional Bills.
- Important business materials such as: Commerce Business Daily \(CBDNet\).
- Useful reference tools such as: Catalog of U.S. Government Publications \(MOCAT\), The Sales Product Catalog \(SPC\), and The Government Information Locator Service \(GILS\).

You can use these and the other GPO Access databases in two ways. A general search page provides the opportunity for searching one or multiple GPO Access databases from a single page. Specialized search pages allow you to easily perform detailed searches of most GPO Access databases.

[\[Back to Top\]](#)

Individual Federal Agency Files Available for Download

Over 4,500 individual Federal agency files, in a variety of formats, are available for free download from The Federal Bulletin Board \(FBB\). The FBB enables Federal agencies to provide to the public free, immediate, and self-service access to Federal information in electronic form. Participating Federal agencies directly add the files to the FBB themselves, in order to ensure that the latest official information is available.

[\[Back to Top\]](#)

Tools to Assist You in Finding Government Information

GPO Access provides a number of useful, free tools to assist you in finding Government information. They are:

- Catalog of U.S. Government Publications \(MOCAT\)

If you would like to use Government information collections at Federal depository libraries near you, GPO Access provides a tool for researching what is available. The MOCAT database allows you to retrieve cataloging records of titles that are available through the Federal Depository Library Program. Once you find a record that interests you, a function is available to locate a library near you that has that item in its collection.

- The Sales Product Catalog \(SPC\)

If you wish to purchase your own copy of a Federal information product, the SPC is a good place to start. You can quickly search the SPC for the products currently available for purchase from the Superintendent of Documents. Upon finding the product that you wish to purchase, you can either place an order online, or print out an order form to mail or fax to GPO for processing.

- The Government Information Locator Service \(GILS\)

GILS is a valuable tool for identifying and reaching publicly available Federal information resources. This includes both electronic and non-electronic sources. The GPO Access GILS application allows you to search all available Federal GILS sites at once, or search individual agency GILS databases maintained at GPO.

- You can use GPO Access to get extensive lists of links to official electronically available Government information and sites arranged for quick reference.

Federal Agency Internet Sites

Browse Topics

Browse Electronic Titles

- Pathway Indexer

GPO Access provides you with an indexed search of more than 1,350 official U.S. Federal agency and military Internet sites. It also provides easy access to other U.S. Federal agency search engines.

- Core Documents of U.S. Democracy

This electronic collection links to the authentic electronic versions of selected Government documents that define our democratic society.

- Locate Federal Depository Libraries

You can use GPO Access to locate Federal depository libraries in your area. You can search by state and/or area code, to find key information about these important libraries.

- New/Noteworthy Page

This page provides you with a quick chronological view of new GPO Access applications and noteworthy changes to the site.

- U.S. Fax Watch

You can use your telephone keypad and your fax machine to retrieve lists of available Government information products for sale.

[\[Back to Top\]](#)

Government Information Collections Available for Your Free Use at a Nearby Library

The Federal Depository Library Program \(FDLP\) was established by Congress more than 130 years ago to ensure that the American public had access to its Government's information. GPO Access provides applications that allow you to find a depository library in your area and to search for what is available in those collections.

[\[Back to Top\]](#)

User Support

If you have any problems using GPO Access, trained specialists, known as the GPO Access User Support Team are available to assist you. These individuals are available to answer your questions about GPO's electronic products and services from 7:00 a.m.--5:00 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, Monday through Friday (except Federal Holidays). You can reach the GPO Access User Support Team in the following ways:

- Phone: 1-888-293-6498 (toll free)
1-202-512-1530 (In the Washington, D.C. Metropolitan Area)
- Internet e-mail: gpoaccess@gpo.gov
- Fax: 1-202-512-1262

The Federal Bulletin Board (FBB) is an electronic bulletin board service of the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office (GPO). Federal agencies use the FBB as a means to distribute electronic files to the public. Users can access information from the White House and Executive Branch agencies (includes independent agencies). The FBB enables Federal agencies to provide to the public free, immediate, and self-service access to Federal information in electronic form. The FBB also runs in FTP and Telnet mode at Internet address: fedbbs.access.gpo.gov. The FBB is a component of the GPO Access service and provides utility and support files for use with the GPO Access online, searchable databases.

Federal Depository Library Program

Government Information at a Library Near You

[Find a Depository Library in Your Area] [Search for What's in Depository Collections]
[Administrative Business with the FDLP]

The Federal Depository Library Program (FDLP) was established by Congress to ensure that the American public has access to its Government's information. For more than 130 years, depository libraries have safeguarded the public's right to know by collecting, organizing, maintaining, preserving, and assisting users with information from the Federal Government. The Government Printing Office provides Government information at no cost to designated depository libraries throughout the country. These depository libraries, in turn, provide local, no-fee access to government information in all formats in an impartial environment with professional assistance.

As institutions committed to equity of access and dedicated to free and unrestricted public use, the Nation's nearly 1,400 depository libraries serve as one of the vital links between "We the people" and our Government.

Any member of the public can visit these depository libraries and use the Federal depository collections. You'll find these collections filled with information on careers, business opportunities, consumer information, health and nutrition, legal and regulatory information, demographics, and countless other subjects.
