- Eat three smaller meals every day. Include small snacks between meals if desired.
- Eat about the same amount of food every day.
- Try not to skip meals.
- If you are trying to lose weight, cut down on your portion sizes.

FATS

- Eat less fat.
- Eat less saturated fat. Saturated fat is usually solid at room temperature. It is mostly found in animal products, such as butter, cheese, and meats. Coconut milk and cream are also high in saturated fat.
- Substitute or dilute coconut milk and cream with low-fat cow's milk for use in cooking. Substitute low-fat or skim milk for half-and-half.
- Choose vegetable oils such as canola, olive, or peanut oil for cooking.
- Bake and steam foods instead of frying.

SWEETS

- Eat desserts such as puligi, kopai, suafa'i, half moon pies and candies less often as they are high in sugar and often fat, too.
- When you eat sweets, substitute them for starches or fruits. Don't eat them as extras.
- Eat fewer desserts made with coconut milk and sugar.
- Eat more fresh fruits as desserts.

ALCOHOL

- If you choose to drink alcohol, limit the amount and have it with a meal. Check with your health care provider about a safe amount for you.

MILK/CALCIUM-RICH FOODS

- Choose nonfat or low-fat products, such as fat-free or 1% milk, plain unsweetened nonfat or low-fat yogurt, and low-fat cheeses.
- Fish canned with bones (such as salmon or mackerel) is a good source of calcium.
- Calcium-set (firm) tofu is a good source of calcium.
- Use low fat milk, nonfat dry milk or evaporated skim milk in dishes such as sua'alaisa, suafa'i, fa'alifu fa'i, fa'alifu talo, or palusami.
- Dark green, leafy vegetables and greens are good sources of calcium.

MEAT/PROTEIN-RICH FOODS

- Trim all visible fat from meats.
- Remove the skin from poultry and pork before cooking.
- Skim fat from soups and stews.
- Substitute skinless turkey legs for turkey tails in soups and stews.
- Bake, broil, grill, or roast meats instead of frying or adding fat.
- Limit eating corned beef, sausage, bacon, and hot dogs which are high in sodium, fat and preservatives.
- Dried beans such as kidney beans are a good source of low fat protein.

VEGETABLES

- Choose more dark green and deep-yellow vegetables such as spinach, lettuce, leafy greens, bell peppers, long beans, broccoli, taro leaves, squash, and carrots.
- The deeper the color of the vegetable, the more nutrients they have.
- Choose fresh or frozen vegetables without added sauces, fats, or salt.
- Flavor raw vegetables with lime juice, celery, curry, garlic, ginger, onion, herbs, and vinegar.

FRUITS

- Choose whole fruit more often. Whole fruit has more fiber than fruit juices.
- Choose fruit high in Vitamin C such as grapefruit, oranges, tangerines, and papaya.
- If using canned fruit, choose those packed in juice, not in syrup.

GRAINS, BEANS, STARCHY VEGETABLES

- Choose high fiber foods such as whole wheat bread and crackers, oatmeal, whole grain cereals, and brown rice.
- Choose enriched breads, crackers, noodles and rice.
- Cooked beans are a good source of fiber.
- Dried fruit is an excellent source of fiber, but can be high in sugar.
- Limit use of packaged rice and noodle dishes, as these are often high in fat, salt, and preservatives.
- Try baking special breads and cakes with whole wheat flour, or try using half white and half whole wheat flours.

TIPS FOR STAYING HEALTHY

- Exercise every day. Walk, dance, or engage in another activity you enjoy.
- Drink at least 8 glasses of water each day.
- Eat a variety of foods. Try new foods.
