

Kelly Parkhill
Director of Industry Support

Our company works with many industries...from Steel to Food. Like most U.S. companies, we are struggling to recover from the three-year recession coupled with many steel/metals chapter 11 loseers. There is no doubt, we have sold out our industrial base to the world, and are sliding toward being only a tech/service country. As a result, what will happen to our independence longterm?? Anything Washington can do to preserve or enhance America's industrial base?...hence minimize industrial erosion, related American jobs...tax base, and the saga goes on and on!

Thank you for reviewing my thoughts.
