USCIS to Observe National Day of Mourning for President Reagan

As the nation pauses to remember a great president, USCIS will observe the national day of mourning for President Reagan on June 11. As a result, USCIS HQ and field offices will be closed on Friday, June 11, 2004. However, please note that all naturalization ceremonies scheduled for June 11 will take place as previously planned. All USCIS appointments currently scheduled for June 11 are expected to be rescheduled as soon as possible. The USCIS National Customer Service Center's toll-free number (1-800-375-5283) will be staffed on Friday, June 11. USCIS customers may also access information, including case status information, from the USCIS website: www.uscis.gov
