EXCHANGE COMMISSION

COMMISSION ANNOUNCEMENTS

SEC AND CFTC APPROVE EXPANDED CROSS-MARGIN PROGRAMS

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and the Commodity Futures Trading Commission concurrently have approved proposed rule changes by The Options Clearing Corporation (OCC) and the Chicago Mercantile Exchange (CME) that are intended to improve coordination in the clearance and settlement of options, futures and futures options. More specifically, the proposals, as approved, will expand the existing cross-margin program between the two organizations to permit clearing members to include intermarket futures and options positions they hold for participating market makers, specialists, registered traders and CME members (market professionals). This non-proprietary cross-margin program will permit OCC and CME to offer beneficial margin treatment to clearing members that hold combined futures and options positions and that are members of both organizations or have affiliates that are members of the other organization. (Press Rel. 91-69)

CIVIL PROCEEDINGS

CIVIL INJUNCTIVE ACTION AND MOTION FOR TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER AND OTHER RELIEF AGAINST ARTHUR NUGENT III, ET AL.

The Commission announced that on November 25 it filed a civil injunctive action against Arthur F. Nugent III, A.F. Nugent & Company, Specialized Commercial Maintenance, Inc. and SCM, Inc. The Commission also filed a Motion for a Temporary Restraining Order and Other Relief in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan, Southern Region. On the same day, the Court entered an order freezing defendants' assets and preventing destruction of documents.

According to the complaint, defendant Arthur F. Nugent III (Nugent), 28, is a resident of Shelby Township, Michigan and the corporate defendants are entities through which Nugent conducts his business. The complaint alleges that Nugent falsely held himself out to potential investors as a registered investment adviser and manager of a mutual fund and solicited investors to invest money with him by making materially false and misleading statements. According to the complaint, investors have entrusted Nugent with at least $250,000. Nugent told investors that he bought securities and commodities on their behalf, but the Commission alleges that, in reality, he converted client funds to his own use. [SEC v. Arthur F. Nugent III, et al., 91 CV 76430 DT, E.D. Mich.] (LR-13102)
