Please do not eliminate the pizza standards.

Now is not a good time for this unless you would consider requiring pizzas to have no more than certain amount of meat like at least 11% meat by weight.

The frozen pizza industry would be free to really cheat the consumer.

Their television ads for Freshetta and Kraft's Di Giorno and Tombstone are too tempting for what is sold already, though I understand the FTC regulates advertising.

Do not give them any more than they already have.

Sincerely

Craig Brady
