Departments and agencies may order the publications listed in this issue by riding the OPM printing items indicated below. Field and regional offices should submit their requirements to their department or agency Washington, DC, area headquarters printing officer before the cutoff date shown.

Agencies may estimate costs by using the current GPO price list of printing services and the information given in the description of each publication. PLEASE NOTE: The Office of Personnel Management cannot provide agencies with the exact cost of the individual publications listed in this flyer. The cost agencies will pay is an actual production cost which varies greatly, depending upon the various specifications of the publication, especially the quantity. Individual unit cost can vary significantly, usually decreasing as the total quantity printed increases. Since we are unable to estimate the total number of copies that agencies will order, accurate estimates are nearly impossible to gauge.

OPM regrets this inconvenience; however, your agency headquarters printing officer may be able to assist you.

Some of the publications listed below may be purchased from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, DC 20402; however, the most economical way of obtaining bulk quantities is to ride OPM's printing requisitions. Riding OPM's printing requisition is the only way to obtain copies of documents not stocked by the Superintendent of Documents. Agencies may order a bulk supply from GPO and make their own distribution to component offices or have GPO make the distribution (distribution list should be attached to the Standard Form 1 showing the number of copies to be sent to each address).

NOTE: Field or regional activities should coordinate their requirements with their Washington, DC, area headquarters printing officer before submitting any paperwork. GPO will return all requisitions sent directly from field or regional offices.

PLEASE NOTE: OPM has discontinued listing requisition numbers; instead, we are asking you to refer to the item number and title when ordering these publications. Please substitute the item number in the requisition number space on the SF-1. Thank you for your observance of this important change. The items in parentheses are for OPM use only.
