Who We Are

Since 1967, the National Network of Libraries of Medicine has been meeting the nation's information needs.

Network members include libraries, health departments, hospitals and clinics, and community organizations.

Eight Regional Medical Libraries across the country coordinate services for over 5,000 Network members.

The South Central Regional office is located at the Houston Academy of Medicine-Texas Medical Center Library, Houston, TX, and serves Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas.

Network with health information centers in your community, state, and across the nation!
