

Reimbursement of Non-VA Medical Expenses for Service-Connected Veterans

Benefit Description: The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA), in limited circumstances, may provide reimbursement of non-VA medical expenses for veterans for their service-connected conditions to include those who are recently granted service-connected awards.

General Qualifying Criteria:

- A medical emergency
- VA or other Federal facility not feasibly available
- Care or service was for a service-connected disability

Time Limit for Filing Claim of non-VA Medical Expenses:

Generally within 2 years of the date of service or notification of the allowance of a service-connected award (which may include care/services back to the effective date of award in cases of retroactive award – see example).

Retroactive Award Example:

A veteran is awarded service-connected status via a Veterans Benefits Administration award letter dated January 1, 2007. The veteran filed the initial claim for service-connection on May 1, 2006. The service-connected award is retroactive to May 1, 2006.

The veteran may file a claim for private medical expenses care of the service-connected condition from May 1, 2006 forward as long as this claim is filed by January 1, 2009.

Where to File Claims: Veterans may file a claim for private medical expenses with their local VA health care facility's Fee Basis office.
