THE ROLE OF A LAY READER

Overview

Primary Responsibility

The lay reader on board a ship has an important role. It is the privilege and duty of a lay reader to conduct divine services in the absence of a unit chaplain. The position can be of great benefit to the corporate life of the ship.

The lay reader who is faithful and devout and who sets a good moral example among shipmates will be effective and helpful.

If you feel unequal to your task, do not despair. You are in company with a vast host among the living and the dead — some of whom we call "saints" — who counter that God could find any worthwhile use for such a vessel of clay. And yet He is able to use us to carry on his words.

What Is Not Expected?

There are certain responsibilities that are not within your power to perform. You are not "ordained clergy" — at least in the Coast Guard. So you will not administer sacraments aboard Coast Guard cutters, except baptism "in extremis" or prayers for the dying, according to the accepted form of the appropriate faith group. Conducting the Service of Burial at Sea, in the absence of a chaplain, is the duty of the commanding officer, although you might be called on to assist. These limitations involve not only Coast Guard policy but also Canon or Church Law. Further, you do not have the authority or the permission to preach. You may lead discussions of the scriptures, but not preach. This role is the sole prerogative of ordained clergy who are commissioned Coast Guard chaplains as priests, ministers, or rabbis. In summary, a lay reader is precluded from doing anything that presupposes ordination.

Counselor?

Occasionally, shipmates will come to you with personal problems. You must be extremely cautious in such situations. If it is an internal ship administrative problem, the person should be tactfully advised to handle the problem through normal shipboard channels.

If possible, all counseling cases should be referred to the unit chaplain, or some other available chaplain, who is a specialist by virtue of professional training and experience. This does not mean that you should give the "brush-off" to anyone who wants to talk a problem over with you. But, you can best help by showing understanding in listening to them and their problems and then advising them where they can go to receive the help they need.

Definitions

Various Titles

Confusion often exists regarding the titles used for individuals who have an active supplemental role within the Command Religious Program. Lay reader, lay minister, and lay Eucharistic minister (LEM) are the usual names given the various individuals who facilitate religious services when an ordained chaplain is not available.

Note: For purposes of this handbook, "lay readers" in the general sense will refer to Protestant lay readers, Eastern Orthodox lay readers, Jewish lay readers, Muslim lay readers, and Catholic LEMs. When required, the specific designation will be used as appropriate.

Lay Reader

A person formally appointed by a commanding officer to facilitate prayer and/or devotional services of an identified group of people when and where an appropriate chaplain is unavailable for worship services.

Lay Minister

A volunteer who assists informally within a Command Religious Program supporting the chaplain or lay reader and does not exercise an official appointment. This person may be a musician, lector, or reader of scripture, usher, etc.

Lay Eucharistic Minister (LEM)

A lay Eucharistic minister (LEM) is a Roman Catholic who has been formally appointed by the Archdiocese for the Military Services to exercise a unique privilege extended to the military to have custody of the Eucharist during a deployment only. This individual functions with command concurrence and only when a Roman Catholic priest cannot be obtained.

Relationship to Command

Representative of the Command

The lay reader acts as a representative of the commanding officer, providing religious worship when the service of an ordained chaplain is not available. Like chaplains, their religious activities are performed subject to military jurisdiction of the commanding officer. In the United States Coast Guard, it is the commanding officer who has the responsibility of seeing that religious needs of personnel are cared for. The time and place of divine services must be approved by the commanding officer or executive officer because the commanding officer is also responsible for assuring that all the other complex military functions of the ship or station are carried out. The lay reader must, therefore, be clearly aware of his/her relationship to the command. In brief, these things should be remembered:

- No sailor can constitute himself or herself as a religious lay reader/LEM. Appointment by the commanding officer will be in accordance with Chapter 4 of Religious Ministries Within the Coast Guard, COMDTINST M1730.4 (series).
- The lay reader should never schedule or reschedule an activity without the approval of the executive officer.
- The use of spaces must be approved by the executive officer, both as to location and time.
- Lay readers carry out religious functions as a collateral duty. They have no authority to excuse themselves from their primary duty. However, since they are appointed by the commanding officer, it can be assumed that their division officer or department head will cooperate in making them available to conduct scheduled services.
- Lay readers should keep a record of the number of services conducted and the attendance, and be prepared to submit this record to the unit chaplain or to the commanding officer, if so required.
- The ultimate and absolute responsibility for what happens aboard a ship of the United States Coast Guard rests with the commanding officer. Lay readers must therefore guard against actions or statements that might bring discredit to the command. The services conducted must not be used as sounding boards to argue their own opinions or controversial themes.

Factors in a Successful Lay Program

Willingness to Succeed

Many lay readers are appointed to their task without asking for it or desiring it. Most do their best regardless of training or personal inclination. You probably would like to do it well, but are hesitant because of your lack of training and background. Or perhaps you have some training, but still have not gotten to first base with your program. The following factors should be considered before you give it up as a lost cause, or before you accept your present level of success as the best that can be done on your ship:

- Personal enthusiasm
- Ecumenicity
- Preparation
- Personal example
- Command support
- Involvement of others
- Chaplain support

Personal Enthusiasm

Enthusiasm is contagious. Some lay readers approach their job as if it were just that — a job. They then justify their lack of enthusiasm by lack of enthusiasm among the crew. You will never be able to inspire all the crew of a given command, but being an enthusiastic lay reader will help enormously.

Ecumenicity

Remember that you are to assist the command in providing a religious program for persons of all backgrounds. This is especially important for Protestants, in view of the wide range of denominational backgrounds. Try to meet as broad an area of worship needs as possible. Concentrate on major matters, not minor ones.

Preparation

You have an existing subject, a factual subject, a subject of interest to the crew, and one of vital importance. Surely such a subject demands your best. Think enough of your task as a leader of worship to spend some time preparing for it. Know what is going to happen in the service. Read over the scripture and devotional guide ahead of time. God gave his best for us. Can we do any less for Him?

Factors in a Successful Lay Program

Personal Example

Live what you advocate. Your religion has no more eloquent example than your everyday life. Be distinctive about what you believe, but not "holier than thou." Do your best to follow the teachings of your faith.

Command Support

Remember that the ultimate responsibility for the religious and moral life of a ship rests with the commanding officer, according to Coast Guard Regulations. You are an assistant in this area, so enlist command aid and support.

Involvement of Others

Don't think that the services have to be all yours. Get an assistant lay reader to help with some of the mechanics of publicity, etc. Get the MAA to take responsibility to supervise the duty of rigging for church. Involve others in worship — let them read scriptures, pray, lead singing, etc. DELEGATE — you will be twice blessed — in relief from some of the work and by helping others become involved.

Chaplain Support

From time to time, there will probably be "circuit riding" chaplains aboard your cutter. Let them know of your problems, your successes, your ideas, and your needs. Visit the chaplain's office whenever you are in port. There are usually chaplains in every port who would enthusiastically receive your request for help and discuss your program with you.

Who Can Be a Lay Reader?

Characteristics

There is no age, sex, rate, or rank standard for an individual to be considered for appointment as a formal command lay reader/LEM. He/she must be a conscientious adherent who practices his/her religious tradition. Good will alone as a volunteer is not the criterion. Because the position of lay reader is an official collateral duty, an individual should fill it on active duty.

Mature in conduct, ethical and moral in behavior, and consistent in religious practices in formalized religion are necessary for the individual to facilitate religious services. Definitions of what constitutes "religious practice" will differ from one religion to another. Therefore, it is best to seek the advice of a chaplain of the religion in question when appointing a lay reader.

A lay reader must maintain a sensible openness to all. He/she must be nonjudgmental in words or deeds toward the religious beliefs of others whose faith experience differs. Lay readers must understand that it is inappropriate for the command or its Command Religious Program (CRP) representatives to make judgments or express opinions regarding the "rightness" of the religious beliefs of others. The CRP is dedicated to ensuring the "rights" of individuals: rights to enjoy and practice the religious freedom our constitution guarantees.

Certainly leadership qualities and skills of communication are assets to be sought.

There can be several appointed lay readers in a command to meet particular faith group needs. DEMONSTRATED NEED is the criterion.

Official Collateral Duty

The lay reader's appointment in the Command Religious Program is an official collateral duty. It is expected that the command will make the lay reader available according to the unit's routine. It is expected as well that the individual who is chosen be in good standing with his/her faith group.

What Does a Lay Reader Do?

Chaplain's Role

Chaplains are commissioned to provide for and facilitate the free exercise of religion in the sea services. Lay readers cannot provide for, but can facilitate the exercise of religion, from a non-ordained status. Preaching, teaching, and administering sacraments are not a part of the lay reader's role.

Lay Reader's Role

If an appropriate chaplain is available, a command-appointed lay reader will normally be tasked to:

- Facilitate the obtaining of a chaplain's services.
- Recommend the necessary arrangements for the chaplain's arrival to the command chaplain, or where there is no command chaplain, to the executive officer.

If an appropriate chaplain is not available, the lay reader's primary function as a facilitator would be expanded to:

• Coordinate, plan, and lead religious services.

Secondary expectations of a lay reader can include:

- Conducting prayer services.
- Organizing and leading Bible studies.
- Making arrangements for transportation to and from chapels and churches when visiting other than homeport.
- Upon request, saying a morning or evening prayer at sea.

Note: Lay readers who are invited to offer evening prayers must understand that such prayers must be "inclusive," offering a few words of prayer to which all personnel within the command can add their "Amen." Lay readers who cannot in good conscience offer such prayers are free to decline the invitation.

When and Where Religious Services Are Held

Days of Worship

Not all members of religions gather for worship on Sunday. For some, other days are recognized either as Sabbath or as a special primary Day of Prayer. The emphasis on accommodation is especially important here.

It is appropriate to expect that a lay reader would fulfill his/her primary function by either obtaining the services of a chaplain or leading a service weekly when deployed.

Length of Appointment

The appointment of a lay reader presumes preparation for a specific deployment. Some situations will require an appointment for a larger period of time, but a specific length of time (generally an extended deployment) is advisable. This will mean a continual cycle of training on the part of chaplains. At the same time, it will allow opportunity for other persons of faith to serve in this role.

Along with a weekly religious service, the lay reader makes similar preparations for Holy Days, and, at times, holidays.

Space To Conduct a Service

There are many spaces on a ship that can be utilized for conducting a service. The executive officer is to provide and make one available. Sensitivity to other shipmates and their right to recreation and privacy cannot be overlooked. A reasonably quiet space distant from distracting noises is essential. Cleanliness and orderliness of the space is presumed. Weather conditions may permit the use of outdoor space (topside). Where special needs exist for individual faith groups, it is appropriate for the lay reader to ensure that these needs are understood before the spaces for religious services are chosen.

Church Pennant

The church pennant is rightfully flown only when an ordained clergyperson is conducting worship services. When a chaplain is aboard for services, the pennant should be flown during the time services are in progress. It is not flown during services conducted by a lay reader, unless the commanding officer so directs.

• The church pennant is placed over the ensign and removed directly following the worship service.

How To Prepare for Religious Services

Introduction

There are variances in the customs and practices of faith groups. A lay reader may be so attuned to the proper order of worship to be followed in his/her faith group that he/she is insensitive to the prayer and devotional needs of others.

Goals

CLEAR DIRECTION, BREVITY, AND SIMPLICITY IN FORMAT ARE ESSENTIALS IN GUIDING THE NON-ORDAINED LAY READER. It is of greater advantage to delineate the parts of a service that should create a sense of reverence than it is to expose the lay reader to numerous options and choices. The burden of preparation for such a service should be as light as possible for the volunteer.

The goal is to present the lay reader with a model for the conduct and order of service to be used in the absence of a chaplain.

Note: Lay readers should review the material provided in this handbook and use applicable formats and prayers in developing specific types of worship services.

Protestant Services

The Protestant lay reader usually conducts a service by using one of the following approaches:

- Thematic
- Liturgical

A seasonal lectionary or a book of selected readings is recommended. "The Book of Worship for U.S. Armed Forces" contains useful samples, which may assist in training a lay reader. The chaplain may suggest other formats to provide variety.

Roman Catholic Services

The Roman Catholic lay reader should use the booklet given to him/her by the Catholic Priest at lay reader training. Their service contains a Rite of Communion to be followed, when an approved LEM is present, with consecrated bread. A "St. Joseph's Sunday Missal" is all that is necessary to accompany the booklet.

Eastern Orthodox Services

An Eastern Orthodox lay reader should use the materials provided by their faith group chaplain. The appropriate and designated scriptures for seasons and Holy Days are contained in the desktop planning guide, or in the chaplain's office.

How To Prepare for Religious Services

Jewish Services

The Jewish Lay Reader will find the audiocassette for Friday evening and Saturday morning Shabbat a useable companion to the "Prayer Book for Jewish Personnel." A master copy of the tape has been sent to every Command Chaplain.

Length of Service

Lay-led devotional services should be geared toward a 30- to 45-minute timeframe.

Rigging for Services

With the approval of the executive officer, the lay reader will:

- Choose an area free from excessive noise and traffic.
- Assure sufficient time prior to the service for proper cleaning and rigging of the space.

Note: The duty section supervised by the duty master at arms is normally responsible for rigging for services.

- If needed, polish a cross/crucifix, candlesticks, Bible stand, etc., and clean/press altar linens.
- Provide a backdrop for the altar (draperies, posters, Flags) whenever possible to create an attractive background.
- Install and test a sound system for reading and music prior to the service.
- Make provision to control (limit) use of the 1MC during the services.
- If services are in a heavy traffic area (like mess decks), post signs or ask the duty master at arms to service the area. On occasion, individuals forget the word just passed: "Maintain silence about the decks during religious services." So, rig to assure entry from the back for latecomers.
- If services are topside, keep the Sun out of the eyes of the congregation, and pay attention to the direction of the wind (stack gas).
- Create a checklist to fit your own situation. You may have the process memorized, but a list will help whoever takes over in your absence. (Refer to sample checklist in Practical Guides section.)

How To Prepare for Religious Services

Visiting Chaplains

In the event a chaplain or civilian clergyman comes aboard for services, remember that he/she is the commanding officer's guest. Give ample announcement of the intended arrival and have arrangements completed for the visit prior to arrival. As preparation for the chaplain and as a checklist for yourself, consider the following items:

- Inform the executive officer.
- Arrange for time and space for the service.
- Advertise.
- Alert duty section for rigging for service.
- Prepare for music.
- Set up altar.
- Have hymnals, Bibles, Missals, or other appropriate items distributed.
- Request that the church pennant be flown during services.
- When directed, meet the visiting chaplain at the quarterdeck, and advise him/her of your capacity as lay reader and the arrangements completed.
- Stand ready to assist in any way possible.

Additional Lay Reader Considerations

Morning and Evening Prayers

Prayers over the public address system aboard ships at sea and deployed units are very meaningful. With command approval, it is good to have the Catholic, Protestant, Jewish, and other lay readers alternate in offering the prayers. All circuits should be cut in when practical.

A recommended time for morning prayers is just before pipe to breakfast. In the evening, just before taps has been found to be appropriate. Learn to speak clearly into the microphone. Do not hold the microphone too close. Prayer should be brief, preferably 30-45 seconds in length. WRITE OUT THE PRAYER and read it, inviting all members of the ship's company to join in the prayer. Keep the prayer general enough to be helpful and appreciated by all. A good prayer book may be helpful. Selected readings from the Book of Psalms may also be used.

The prayers can be introduced by arranging for the boatswain's mate of the watch to announce: "Stand by for the morning/evening prayer." After a short pause you announce, "Let us pray"

• For evening prayers, provide appropriate flashlights to aid while reading in the pilothouse during darken ship.

Church Parties

Transportation may be arranged for personnel to attend services at a nearby church/synagogue. Transportation arrangements should be made through the executive officer or officer of the day. The lay reader can provide a valuable service by arranging for visits by personnel to local churches overseas

Bible Study Groups

The lay reader or an approved volunteer may lead Bible studies. Permission must be granted from the executive officer before such a group is organized. It should be remembered that several faith traditions might be represented. The Bible study sessions must not be allowed to become occasions for arguing one's personal interpretation. Rather, there should be an endeavor to understand what the Scripture is saying. The appropriate chaplain assists in developing the Bible study groups and in selecting study material.

Section 2

GUIDE FOR ROMAN CATHOLIC LAY READERS/LEMS

Lay Eucharistic Minister (LEM)

History of LEM

It was because of very particular circumstances that nonordained Roman Catholics were first allowed to have custody of the Eucharist during a deployment for distribution to themselves and their shipmates. This rare privilege was first granted to the submarine force, and later extended throughout the military when and where a priest would not be available for the full Liturgy of the Eucharist (Mass).

Need for LEM

An LEM is not necessary when a priest is readily available, and is needed only during deployments.

There is a long and rich tradition concerning the use of a layperson to distribute the Sacrament of the Eucharist. Numerous books and writings are available for anyone interested in this history. For the purpose of training an individual within the Coast Guard to exercise the privilege of distributing Holy Communion to his/her shipmates, a few clarifications are in order.

The LEM serves in the Roman Catholic tradition within three areas:

- During Mass as an assistant to the priest.
- Taking Holy Communion to the sick (home, hospitals, etc.).
- By special appointment from the Bishop to be a custodian of the Sacrament when a priest is not available.

The concern of this section is to address the THIRD area as the most applicable to training needs in the sea service.

Command Considerations Regarding LEMs

A command should consider the following situations in concurring with the appointment of an LEM, who has to be formally appointed by the Archdiocese for the Military Services:

- A lay reader facilitates religious services in the absence of a Chaplain.
 An LEM provides a sacramental presence in the distribution of Holy Communion to Roman Catholics.
- An LEM may conduct a Rite of Holy Communion within a service planned and led by the appointed Catholic lay reader.

Lay Eucharistic Minister (LEM)

Command Considerations Regarding LEMs (Continued)

- The installation and ministry of an LEM does not provide the same Catholic faith experience as a priest presiding at the Liturgy of the Eucharist (Mass).
- When there is not an expressed need and total support of the command, and adequate time for the required training, an LEM should not be considered for a deployment.
- The preference for Roman Catholic worship is always to have a priest present for Liturgy of the Eucharist. An LEM is not required by military instructions.

LEM Responsibilities

Typically, an LEM may be tasked with the following:

- Contact a priest 1 week prior to a deployment for consecrated hosts (the Sacrament).
- Keep the Sacrament in a secure safe, which is available to you, only, or in the executive officer's safe.
- Consecrated hosts should be kept in a proper "pyx," not in a paper or "Tupperware ™ " container.
- Label vessel or container with: "This container holds the Roman Catholic Sacrament of the Eucharist. Only a Roman Catholic priest or the LEM may handle or open."
- Announce in the POD the time and place of the Roman Catholic Communion Service.
- Announce Church Call over 1MC 10 minutes prior to starting.
- Encourage Roman Catholics to attend.
- Be enthusiastic in leading the service.
- Prepare the service in accordance with printed booklet and missal.
- Keep crucifix and candles cleaned.
- Keep a clean altar/table cover.
- Use recorded music or a musician if possible at beginning of the service, during Holy Communion, and end of service.
- Consume whatever is remaining of the Sacrament en route to/or when in home port more than 10 days.
- Remember, you have been appointed by the Archdiocese for the Military Services to be custodian of the Sacrament, and to serve your Catholic shipmates by distributing Holy Communion.

Lay Eucharistic Minister (LEM)

Things NOT TO DO

Typically, an LEM should:

- NOT presume the XO or CO knows when or where service is being held.
- NOT assume designated space is clean and prepared for service.
- NOT "wing it" as far as preparation for readings and prayers.
- NOT leave missals, booklets, hymnals, and altar elements just anywhere. Use designated space/locker.
- NOT announce "Catholic Divine Services"; LEMs conduct "Catholic Communion Services."
- NOT pretend a Mass is being celebrated.
- NOT encourage non-Roman Catholics to receive Holy Communion; other faiths can attend for prayer.
- NOT hesitate to bring any problems to the XO or CO. The Command Religious Program is their responsibility.
- NOT look at yourself as just doing a collateral duty. Make the Universal Church present by your attitude and reverence.
- NOT counsel or act as a Catholic Chaplain.
- NOT lose sight of our Archbishop's appointment of you.
- NOT, under any circumstances, keep the Sacrament in your locker or keep the Sacrament aboard when in home port more than 10 days.
- NOT lead a service when in home port, or when a priest is available during a deployment.

How To Determine Which Service To Use and When

Background

Early Christians, long before the invention of printing when many did not know how to read, divided the year into seasons that reminded them of the life of Christ. This division became known as the Christian year. Most Christians celebrate some seasons of the Christian year; many Christians celebrate all of the seasons.

Christian Year

The following table depicts the seasons of the Christian year:

Season	Description
Advent	The four Sundays before Christmas; a time of preparation for the birth of Christ.
Christmas	Twelve days, beginning on 25 December, when the birth of Christ is celebrated.
Epiphany	Four to nine Sundays beginning with the celebration of the visit of Magi; the last Sunday of Epiphany is the Sunday immediately preceding Ash Wednesday.
Lent	Forty days of preparation and repentance before the celebration of Jesus' death and resurrection, ending the Saturday before Easter and based upon the biblically symbolic number of 40.
Ash Wednesday	The first day of Lent.
Palm Sunday	The remembrance of Jesus' entrance into Jerusalem; also known as Passion Sunday in some traditions that remember the final week of Jesus' life.
Holy Week	The seven days from Palm Sunday to Easter.
Maundy Thursday	(Latin, meaning mandate) The remembrance of Jesus' Last Supper and washing of his disciples' feet.
Good Friday	The remembrance of Jesus' Crucifixion.
Easter	The celebration of Jesus' Resurrection; the celebration of Easter lasts seven Sundays.
Pentecost	The 50 th day after Easter; the day the Church received the Holy Spirit.
Common time	The days after Pentecost when the teachings, healing, and other events of Christ's life are remembered; ends on the Sunday before the first Sunday of Advent, also known as Christ the King Sunday.

To be said in unison while standing:

We believe in one God, the Father, the Almighty, Maker of Heaven and Earth, of all that is seen and unseen.

We believe in one Lord, Jesus Christ, the only Son of God, eternally begotten of the Father, God from God, Light from Light, true God from true God, begotten, not made, one in Being with the Father. Through Him all things were made. For us and for our salvation He came down from Heaven: by the power of the Holy Spirit He was born of the Virgin Mary, and became man.

For our sake He was crucified under Pontius Pilate; He suffered, died, and was buried. On the third day, He rose again in fulfillment of the Scriptures; He ascended into Heaven and is seated at the right hand of the Father. He will come again in glory to judge the living and the dead, and his kingdom will have no end.

We believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the giver of life, who proceeds from the Father and the Son. With the Father and the Son, He is worshiped and glorified. He has spoken through the Prophets.

We believe in one holy catholic and apostolic Church.

We acknowledge one baptism for the forgiveness of sins.

We look for the resurrection of the dead, and the life of the world to come. Amen.

General Intercessions

• The LEM or another person offers appropriate petitions similar to the following:

Person	Saying or Response
LEM	My brothers (and sisters), our God has said to us that if we are in need of anything we have but to ask. Let us pray to God with all our hearts; presenting our needs and those of others. For our Holy Father, our President, and all church and state leaders, that they may be instrumental in promoting peace and justice.
All	Lord, hear our prayer.

Communion Rite

• After pausing to allow participants to offer personal petitions, the LEM invites the worshippers to prepare for the reception of Holy Communion by announcing:

Person	Saying or Response
LEM	Let us pray with confidence to the Father in the words that our Savior gave us.
All	Our Father, who art in Heaven, hallowed be thy name, thy kingdom come, thy will be done on Eartl as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread and forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us, and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.
LEM	Deliver us, Lord, from every evil, and grant us peace in our day. In your mercy keep us free from sin and protect us from all anxiety as we wait in joyful hope for the coming of our Savior, Jesus Christ.
All	For the kingdom, the power and the glory are Your now and forever.

Sign of Peace

All	Amen.
LEM	The peace of the Lord be with you always.
All	And also with you.
LEM	The peace of the Lord be with you always.

Person	Saying or Response

LEM	The LEM genuflects. Taking a host, he raises it slightly over the vessel and, facing the participants, says: This is the Lamb of God who takes away the sins of the world. Happy are those who are called to His Supper.
All	Lord, I am not worth to receive You, but only say the word and I shall be healed.
LEM	(The LEM gives him/herself Holy Communion, saying quietly: "May the Body of Christ bring me everlasting life." After reverently consuming the Body of Christ, the LEM distributes communion to the communicants.)

LEM	Following the Closing Prayer/Prayer After Holy Communion, the LEM invokes God's blessing and, making the Sign of the Cross, says: May the almighty and merciful God bless and protect us, the Father, Son, and the Holy Spirit.
All	Amen.
LEM	Let us go in the peace of Christ.

Additional Prayers

Morning Offering

Eternal Father, I give You thanks and praise for the blessings, which You have bestowed on my family, my loved ones, and me. I offer You my life, and in particular my thoughts, words, and deeds, together with any trials I may undergo this day. Continue to bless and guide me, Lord, that I may be an instrument of your peace and love. Amen.

Our Father

Our Father, who art in Heaven, hallowed be thy name; thy kingdom come; thy will be done on Earth as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread; and forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. (For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, now and forever.) Amen.

Hail Mary

Hail Mary, full of grace. The Lord is with thee. Blessed art thou amongst women, and blessed is the fruit of thy womb, Jesus. Holy Mary, Mother of God, pray for us sinners, now and at the hour of our death. Amen.

Prayer of Praise

Glory be the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit, as it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen.

Act of Contrition

My God, I am sorry for my sins with all my heart. In choosing to do wrong and failing to do good, I have sinned against You whom I should love above all things. I firmly intend, with your help, to do penance, to sin no more, and to avoid whatever leads me to sin. Amen.

Prayer for Peace

God, our Father, You sent your Son into the world as the Prince of Peace. As his followers, help us through the power of the Holy Spirit to work without ceasing for that justice which brings true and lasting peace. Amen.

Additional Prayers

Prayer to the Holy Spirit

Come, Holy Spirit, fill the hearts of your faithful and rekindle in them the fire of your love. Send forth your Spirit and they shall be created and You shall renew the face of the Earth. Oh, God, who has instructed the hearts of your faithful by the light of the Holy Spirit, grant that by the same Holy Spirit we may have a right judgment in all things and evermore rejoice in his consolations. Through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Prayer for Vocations

Jesus, High Priest and Redeemer forever, we beg You to call young men and women to your service as priests and religious leaders. May they be inspired by the lives of dedicated priests, brothers, and sisters. Lord, You told us that "the harvest indeed is great but the laborers are few. Pray, therefore, the Lord of the harvest to send laborers into his harvest." We pray particularly for those called to serve as priests, brothers, and sisters; those whom You have called, those You are calling now, and those You will call in the future. May they be open and responsive to the call of serving your people. We ask this through Christ, our Lord. Amen.

Apostles' Creed

I believe in God, the Father Almighty, Creator of Heaven and Earth. I believe in Jesus Christ, his only Son, our Lord. He was conceived by the power of the Holy Spirit and born of the Virgin Mary. He suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, died, and was buried. He descended to the dead. On the third day he rose again. He ascended into Heaven, and is seated at the right hand of the Father. He will come to judge the living and the dead. I believe in the Holy Spirit, the holy catholic church, the communion of saints, the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body, and life everlasting. Amen.

Act of Faith

O my God, I firmly believe that You are one God in three divine persons, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. I believe that your divine Son became man and died for our sins, and that He will come to judge the living and the dead. I believe these and all the truths, which the Holy Catholic Church teaches, because You, who can neither deceive nor be deceived, have revealed them. Amen

Additional Prayers

Act of Hope

O my God, relying on your infinite goodness and promises, I hope to obtain pardon for my sins, the help of your grace, and life everlasting, through the merits of Jesus Christ, my Lord and Redeemer. Amen.

Act of Love

O my God, I love You above all things, with my whole heart and soul, because You are all good and worthy of all my love. I love my neighbor as myself for the love of You. I forgive all that have injured me and ask pardon for all that I have injured. Amen.

Prayer of St. Francis

Lord; make me an instrument of your peace.

Where there is hatred, let me sow love.

Where there is injury, pardon.

Where there is doubt, faith.

Where there is despair, hope.

Where there is darkness, light.

Where there is sadness, joy.

O Divine Master,

Grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled as to console.

To be understood as to understand.

To be loved as to love.

For it is in giving that we receive.

It is in pardoning that we are pardoned.

It is in dying that we are born to eternal life.

Amen.

Meditations and The Rosary

The Stations of the Cross

The "Way of the Cross" is an ancient form of meditation, using sight and movement. Early Christians used to walk the "Via Delorosa" of Jesus in Jerusalem, following in the footsteps of the Lord. Francis of Assisi popularized the prayer in its present form. All that is required to "make the stations" is a prayerful pondering of the mystery of Jesus' suffering, moving from one scene to the next.

•	1st	Jesus is	condemned	to	death
---	-----	----------	-----------	----	-------

- 2nd Jesus carries his Cross
- 3rd Jesus falls the first time
- 4th Jesus meets his sorrowful Mother
- 5th Simon of Cyrene helps Jesus carry his cross
- 6th Veronica wipes the face of Jesus
- 7th Jesus falls the second time
- 8th The daughters of Jerusalem weep over Jesus
- 9th Jesus falls the third time
- 10th Jesus is stripped of his garments
- 11th Jesus is nailed to the cross
- 12th Jesus dies on the cross
- 13th Jesus is taken down from the cross
- 14th Jesus is buried in the tomb
- 15th The Resurrection

The Rosary

The rosary consists of 150 Hail Marys to correspond to the number of psalms. These 150 Hail Marys are divided into groups of ten (decades), each group being introduced by an Our Father and closed with a Glory be to the Father, thus giving fifteen decades for the whole rosary. Since the whole rosary of 150 beads is rather unwieldy, it is usually shortened into five decades, so that our common rosary is only one-third of the size.

Meditations and The Rosary

The Rosary (Continued)

To say the Rosary properly, one should not only say the Our Fathers and Hail Marys, but also reflect on one of the mysteries of the life of our Lord or the Blessed Virgin. There are fifteen such mysteries for the rosary, one for each decade. These fifteen mysteries are grouped into the five Joyful, the five Sorrowful, and the five Glorious Mysteries, and are intended to give us a brief account of our Lord's life.

Group	Mystery	When Said
Joyful	 The Annunciation The Visitation The Birth of Jesus Christ in Bethlehem The Presentation of our Blessed Lord in the temple The Finding of the child Jesus in the temple 	These are usually said on Sunday from Advent to Lent, also on Mondays and Thursdays.
Sorrowful	 The Agony in the Garden The Scourging of our Blessed Lord at the pillar The Crowning of our Blessed Savior with thorns Jesus carrying his cross The Crucifixion of our Lord Jesus Christ 	These are usually said on Sunday during Lent, also on Tuesdays and Fridays.
Glorious	 The Resurrection of our Lord from the dead The Ascension of Christ into Heaven The Descent of the Holy Spirit upon the apostles The Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary into Heaven The Coronation of the Blessed Virgin Mary in Heaven 	These are usually said on Sunday from Easter to Advent, and also on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Meditations and The Rosary

Hail Holy Queen

Hail Holy Queen, Mother of Mercy, our life, our sweetness and our hope! To thee do we cry poor banished children of Eve; to thee do we send up our sighs, mourning and weeping in this valley of tears! Turn, then, most gracious Advocate, your eyes of mercy toward us, and after this, our exile, show unto us the blessed fruit of thy womb, Jesus. O clement, O loving, O Sweet Virgin Mary!

- V. Pray for us, O Holy Mother of God.
- R. That we may be made worthy of the promises of Christ.

Let us pray. O God, whose only-begotten Son, by his life, death, and resurrection, has purchased for us the rewards of eternal life, grant, we beseech thee, that meditating on these mysteries in the most holy rosary of the Blessed Virgin Mary, we may imitate what they contain, and obtain what they promise, through the same Christ, our Lord. Amen.

The Memorare of St. Bernard

Remember, O most gracious Virgin Mary that never was it known that anyone who fled to your protection, implored your help, or sought your intercession, was left unaided. Inspired with this confidence we fly unto you, O Virgin of Virgins, Our Mother; to you we come, before you we stand, sinful and sorrowful. O Mother of the Word Incarnate, despise not our petitions, but in your mercy hear and answer them. Amen.

Regina Coeli

Queen of Heaven, rejoice, Alleluia. For He whom You did deserve to bear, Alleluia. Has risen as He said, Alleluia.

Rejoice and be glad, O Virgin Mary, Alleluia. Because our Lord is truly risen, Alleluia.

Let us pray: O God, who by the resurrection of your Son, our Lord Jesus Christ, has given joy to the world, grant, we beseech You, that through the intercession of the Virgin Mary, his Mother, we may attain the joys of eternal life, through the same Christ our Lord. Amen.

GUIDE FOR PROTESTANT LAY READERS

Protestant Order of Service

What Worship Is

Worship and prayer expression should be focused on WHY we gather and not only HOW we do it.

Worship is defined in the dictionary as the act of showing reverence, homage, or adoration to God. In the Christian tradition, it is all this and more.

Worship may be private or public, individual or corporate (group). It is the function of the lay reader to lead the congregation in corporate (group), public prayer. There is a spiritual bond that is two-fold. It strengthens the individual's spiritual life, and it also brings about group solidarity in which each believer both helps and is helped by the others in the congregation.

There is a two-fold tradition of religious service: liturgical and "free." In liturgical worship, the service is conducted with reverence, using an officially adopted form and prayers. In a "free" service, much more use is made of extemporaneous prayer and the service is usually less formal in its character though not less reverent.

A lay reader will, of course, be guided by his/her own faith background and experience; however, a lay reader must take into account the fact that he/she will have in the congregation individuals of varying religious traditions.

Parts of a Worship Service

A Protestant worship service may contain some or all of the following parts:

- Musical processional prelude
- Call to worship
- Hymn of praise
- Prayer of praise and invocation to God to draw near
- Hymn related to message topic or church year/season (refer to listing of the seasons on page 3-3)

Protestant Order of Service

Parts of a Worship Service (Continued)

- Responsive reading/Psalm
- Prayer of Penitence, Intercession and Thanks
- Old Testament Reading
- New Testament Reading
- Presentation of special music, poetry, drama, puppets
- Choral music
- Offering and prayer of thanksgiving/dedication
- Singing of doxology
- Reading of Gospel
- Hymn of invitation
- Meditation
- Prayer of benediction, dismissal
- Musical recessional, postlude

Note: Section 7, Liturgical Resources for Christian Lay Readers, contains sample Calls to Worship and sample prayers.

Music in Worship

As one can see, music is a big part of any service and should not be overlooked. The diversity of prayer includes written prayers, extemporaneous prayers, and prayers read in unison. Various faith groups handle Holy Scriptures distinctly. Some stand when any Scripture is read, some stand for the Gospels only, some stay seated. No one expects you to be a preacher, nor are you allowed to be. Readings and taped sermons can be used, when provided by a chaplain. Your own testimony (and those of others) may be contributed to relate what the Scripture passage means personally. As a lay reader, you cannot preach and thus be asked to do that for which you are not trained, educated or ordained.

Baptisms and Communion

Baptisms and Communion services are only to be conducted by those specifically authorized by their faith group.

Seasons of the Christian Year

Background

Early Christians, long before the invention of printing when many did not know how to read, divided the year into seasons that reminded them of the life of Christ. This division became known as the Christian year. Most Christians celebrate some seasons of the Christian year; many Christians celebrate all of the seasons.

Christian Year

The following table depicts the seasons of the Christian year:

Season	Description
Advent	The four Sundays before Christmas; a time of preparation for the birth of Christ.
Christmas	Twelve days, beginning on 25 December, when the birth of Christ is celebrated.
Epiphany	Four to nine Sundays beginning with the celebration of the visit of the Magi; the last Sunday of Epiphany is the Sunday immediately preceding Ash Wednesday.
Lent	Forty days of preparation and repentance before the celebration of Jesus' death and resurrection, ending the Saturday before Easter and based upon the Biblically symbolic number of 40.
Ash Wednesday	The first day of Lent.
Palm Sunday	The remembrance of Jesus' entrance into Jerusalem; also known as Passion Sunday in some traditions that remember the final week of Jesus' life.
Holy Week	The seven days from Palm Sunday to Easter.
Maundy Thursday	(Latin, meaning mandate) The remembrance of Jesus' Last Supper and washing of his disciples' feet.
Good Friday	The remembrance of Jesus' Crucifixion.
Easter	The celebration of Jesus' Resurrection; the celebration of Easter lasts seven Sundays.
Pentecost	The 50 th day after Easter; the day the Church received the Holy Spirit.
Common time	The days after Pentecost when the teachings, healing, and other events of Christ's life are remembered; ends on the Sunday before the first Sunday of Advent, also known as Christ the King Sunday.

Common Christian Terms

Apostolic Succession

Belief that church and/or doctrine began and continued from original disciples.

Baptism

An outward sign using water to represent an inward change. There are three different methods:

- Infant sprinkling
- Infant immersion
- Adult sprinkling/immersion

Be Saved

To have a spiritual relationship between Christ and a person, which effects salvation.

Believer's Baptism

Baptism by immersion of person old enough to distinguish sin and righteousness and Christ's life, burial, and resurrection.

Born Again

A person who has had a life-changing experience with Jesus, through faith and acceptance of Him as Savior.

Christening

To name and to dedicate ceremonially using water as a symbol.

Communion

The act of observing the Last Supper of Christ with his disciples. Some religious traditions use wine in a common cup. Some use grape juice only in small individual cups. Some religious traditions observe Holy Communion weekly, others monthly or less often.

Confession

Some candidates for membership in specific communal church bodies must make a public confession of faith in Christ prior to baptism and membership.

Common Christian Terms

Dedication	A service for infants without the act of baptism.
Ecumenical	A term signifying a combined worship service for more than one Christian denomination.
Evangelical	A term denoting churches that promote discipleship through active contact with nonbelievers.
Free Church	A distinction in the style of worship whereby ecclesiastical garb, use of church ritual, and ornamentation is minimized.
Fundamentalist	A term denoting those who hold certain "fundamental beliefs." No one church or denomination has the title. Fundamentalists' primary doctrine holds the Bible to be verbally inspired, inerrant, and infallible.
Independent	A term applied to churches that choose not to form an association with other church bodies.
Interfaith	Signifies a worship or prayer service including religions other than Christian. Leadership of such events reflects a harmony of representation.
Liturgical	Religious traditions that utilize a cycle of Scripture readings. There is usually a prescribed order to the worship service.
Lord's Supper	A term used in various religious traditions as synonymous with Holy Communion.
Pentecostal	Groups that practice speaking in tongues. Such individuals are often referred to as having been baptized by the Holy Spirit.

Section 4

GUIDE FOR EASTERN ORTHODOX LAY READERS

Overview

Use of This Section

The material in this section is not intended to be a substitute for the Divine Liturgy served by an Eastern Orthodox chaplain. Under no circumstances is a lay service to be preferred to the actual celebration of the Divine Liturgy when an Orthodox priest is available.

The following service is structured around actual liturgical services and contains prayers that are a part of Orthodox tradition. The service is a corporate action in which all that are present have a role. The participants stand throughout much of the service, but there are moments when they are called upon to kneel.

It is preferable to have a moment or two of silence after a prayer is finished to allow time for meditating on the subject matter.

Space Set-up and the Altar

The physical set-up of the compartment in which the lay reader-led service is being held will determine whether or not space will be available for an altar. If there is, a crucifix should be centered on the altar near the back, flanked by two lighted candles. The Bible should be placed, closed, in front of the crucifix and directly on the altar. If an icon is available, it too should be placed on the altar.

The physical set-up of the area will also dictate whether or not the group will be able to kneel and/or sit. When in doubt, those participating in the service should merely stand attentively and respectfully.

Sample Eastern Orthodox Service

This service should take place preferably in the morning hours before 1200 and is to be conducted on Sundays and Holy Days.

Person	Saying or Response
	Note : At this point, on Sundays, one of the following eight hymns are selected and recited by all present.
All	Tone	Hymn
All	1	When the stone has been sealed by the Jews! While the soldiers were guarding thy most pure Body; Thou didst rise on the third day, O Savior, granting life to the world. The powers of Heaven therefore cried to Thee, O Giver of life; Glory to thy Resurrection, O Christ! Glory to thy dispensation, O Thou who loves mankind.
	2	When Thou didst descend to death, O Life immortal, Thou didst slay hell with the splendor of thy Godhead! And when from the deaths Thou didst raise the dead, all the powers of heaven cried out O Giver of Life! Christ our God! Glory to Thee!
	3	Let the heavens rejoice! Let the Earth be glad! For the Lord has shown strength with his arm! He has trampled down death. He has become the first-born of the dead. He has delivered us from the deaths of hell, and has granted the world great mercy!
	4	When the women disciples of the Lord learned from the Angel the joyous message of thy Resurrection; they cast away the ancestral curse and elatedly told the apostles; Death is overthrown! Christ God is risen, granting the world great mercy.
	5	Let us, the faithful, praise and worship the Word, co-eternal with the Father and the Spirit, born for our salvation from the Virgin; for He will be lifted up on the Cross in the flesh, to endure death, and to raise the dead by his glorious Resurrection.
	6	The angelic powers were at thy tomb; the guards became as dead men. Mary stood by the grave, seeking thy most pure body. Thou didst capture hell, not being tempted by it. Thou didst come to the Virgin, granting life. O Lord, who didst rise from the dead; glory to Thee.
	7	By thy Cross — thou didst destroy death! To the thief, Thou didst open Paradise! For the myrrh bearers, Thou didst change weeping into joy! And Thou didst command thy disciples, O Christ God, to proclaim that Thou art risen, granting the world great mercy!
	8	Thou didst descend from on high, O merciful One! Thou didst accept the three-day burial to free us from our sufferings! O Lord, our Life and Resurrection glory to Thee!

Person	Saying or Response
	Note : On special Holy Days, the following appropriate hymn is recited by all, recited instead of selecting one of the previous hymns.
All	Palm Sunday (Tone 1)	By raising Lazarus from the dead before thy passion, Thou didst confirm the universal resurrection, O Christ God! Like the children with the palms of victory, we cry to thee! O Vanquisher of Death: Hosanna in the highest! Blessed is He that comes in the name of the
	Christmas (Tone 1)	Lord! Thy nativity, O Christ our God, has shown to the world the light of wisdom! For by it, those who worshipped the stars were taught by a star to adore Thee, the Son of Righteousness, and to know Thee, the Orient from on high! O Lord, Glory to Thee!
	Easter Pentecost Sunday (Tone 8)	Christ is risen from the dead, trampling down death and upon those in the tombs bestowing life. Blessed are Thou, O Christ our God, who hast revealed the fisherman as most wise by sending them the Holy Spirit; through them Thou didst draw the world into thy net. O lover of Man,
Reader	For holy art Thou, O our God, and unto Thee we ascribe glory; to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit, now and ever and unto ages of ages.

Orthodox Prayers for Different Occasions

Prayer at the Beginning of the Day

O Lord, grant me to greet the coming day in peace. Help me in all things to rely upon thy holy will. In every hour of the day, reveal thy will to me. Bless my dealings with all who surround me. Teach me to treat all that comes to me throughout the day with peace of soul, and with firm conviction that thy will governs all. In all my deeds and words, guide my thoughts and feelings, in foreseen events let me not forget that all are sent by Thee. Teach me to act firmly and wisely, without embittering and embarrassing others. Give me strength to bear the fatigue of the coming day with all that it shall bring. Direct my will; teach me to pray Thou thyself in me. Amen.

Prayer for the Acceptance of God's Will

O Lord, I know not what to ask of Thee. Thou alone knowest what are my true needs. Thou loves me more than I myself know how to love. Help me to see my real needs, which are concealed from me. I dare not ask either a cross or consolation. I can only wait on Thee. My heart is open to Thee. Visit and help me, for thy great mercy's sake. Stride me and heal me, cast me down, and raise me up. I worship in silence Thy holy will and thine inscrutable ways. I offer myself as a sacrifice to Thee. I put all my trust in Thee. I have no other desire than to fulfill thy will. Teach me how to pray. Pray Thou thyself in me. Amen.

Section 5

GUIDE FOR JEWISH LAY READERS

Overview

Assignment as Jewish Lay Reader

Assignment as a lay reader is collateral and not a primary duty. Normally, a Jewish chaplain will concur with the assignments of all Jewish lay readers.

A lay reader is not automatically excused from his/her appointed place of duty to conduct worship. Prior permission from the division officer or department head must be obtained. Duty time should be arranged accordingly. For example, Sunday morning duty might be exchanged for time on Friday night or Saturday to conduct Sabbath worship. Since the Jewish lay reader is the commanding officer's right-hand person for Jewish affairs, permission to attend to Jewish chapel needs should be readily forthcoming. It is a privilege to be a lay reader. HONOR the trust placed in you.

Typical Responsibilities

The lay reader is limited to what his/her denomination will permit a lay (nonordained) person to do.

Like a member of a civilian synagogue, a Jewish lay reader may:

- Conduct public worship.
- Deliver a sermon.
- Teach Jewish subjects (all depending on his/her knowledge).

The Jewish lay reader serves as a point of contact for the command for the ritual and cultural needs of Jewish personnel aboard in the free exercise of religion.

What Is Religion?

Religion is the way individuals and groups solve the differences between any aspect of life as it is and how they would like that aspect of life to be. These solutions consist of beliefs, ethics, and rituals. As the differences are resolved, a sense of improved living results. This improved living contributes to the individual's and the group's sense of worth and purpose. Depending on the religion's contents, many people other than the members of the religion may also benefit from the religion. For example, if the religion teaches that all life is precious and people who are in trouble should be helped – poor fed, oppressed freed, etc. – then it becomes easy to understand how a religion may benefit others. A formal philosophical definition of religion would be the resolutions to the clashes between infinite strivings and finite limitations, through a belief structure and a behavioral structure, for the purpose of attaining a state of SOTERIA. Achieving absolute, fulfilled, whole existence is to reach the permanent state of SHALOM. Reaching SHALOM (wholeness of being) usually remains the ultimate aim of religion. SHALOM and SOTERIA are nearly synonymous.

Life after the death of the body and the immortality of the soul are concepts some Jews accept and others reject. Many simply do not know what to think. In some Jewish sources, we find the suggestion that the highest level of existence is reserved for life after death in a setting of perfection: a Heaven. However, lots of Jews pay little attention to the places where souls or bodies might go after life on Earth ends. Even among those Jews who consider it important to achieve a happy life after death, one's chance of attaining such a life depends on the goodness of one's earthly conduct.

That all Jews do not believe the same on all subjects should be considered a positive state of affairs. The diversity represents our growth and maturity of the religion over 4,000 years. It also represents the importance of the individual's uniqueness within Judaism. Your faith and people will understand and support you. In return you provide strength to your people. There will always be a home for you in Judaism.

What Is Judaism?

Judaism is the total collection of ways Jews have pursued SHALOM or wholeness from the time ascribed to Abraham until the present day. Judaism is the varied beliefs, ethics, and rituals we have affirmed and pursued. Judaism contains a Jew's understanding of the universe, the world, and of his/her life within these realms. Judaism is how Jews resolve the differences between life as it is and life as he/she/they would like it to be, in order to come closer to attaining SHALOM, whole being.

What Is Judaism? (Continued)

Many forms of Judaism have existed in the past. The Hebrew religion of Abraham became the Israelite religion of Moses and the early kings. It evolved into Judaism by the sixth century BCE and the time of our return from the Babylonian exile. After the Temple was destroyed, in the year 70 C. E., Judaism underwent dramatic changes. We entered the age of the Talmud. Today we have many forms of Judaism existing at the same time, but we always have begun our quest for where we are going with a firm understanding of where we have been. This approach is an essential part of every form of Judaism. The technical term for the contents of the Jewish past is "Jewish Continuum." The popular term for the contents of the Jewish past is "Tradition." Without the emphasis on knowing and understanding our past – even the parts of it with which we disagree – Jews and Judaism would quickly disappear.

What Is Orthodoxy?

Orthodoxy is both simple and complex to understand. Basically, it is the belief that the written and oral Torahs were given by God through Moses to the Israelites (later Jews) at Mt. Sinai. Every Jew who has ever lived or shall ever live is bound to the written and oral Torahs and must follow these divine revelations. The written Torah is contained within the Five Books of Moses (Genesis through Deuteronomy). The oral Torah is contained within the Talmud. In Orthodoxy, the rabbis or rebbes (if one is Chasidic) inform their followers what it means to observe the law or ha'la'cha. Following the law is right. Not following it is wrong. Certain circumstances and conditions may change the conclusion. Rabbinic authorities determine such matters. In Orthodoxy, we will all someday have to account to a heavenly court for each of our actions.

Orthodoxy becomes complex when we try to describe all the different groups within it. While Orthodoxy appears rigid to many people, to its followers, it is a joyous and wonderful path to follow what God wants of us.

What Is Reform?

Reform began in the 19th century in Germany as an alternative to Orthodoxy. The founders of Reform believed that Judaism had evolved through the ages and that with the arrival of the Enlightenment and modern science and new ways of understanding the origin and development of the Bible, change was necessary. Reform treasures the sources of Jewish life: the Bible, Talmud, Midrash, prayer book, etc., and sees each source as another example of Jewish growth. While regarded as extremely holy, these sources become resources for Jewish life and development, not absolute binding laws.

What Is Reform? (Continued)

Reform does not advocate "everybody do whatever you feel like doing." Reform challenges every Jew to carefully examine the Jewish past and present and to know and understand it. Reform challenges every Jew to also carefully examine his/her life and circumstances. Then, we are charged with blending the results of both examinations into a whole Jewish experience.

Therefore, it is acceptable that a Reform Jew may or may not keep kosher. A Reform Jew may or may not believe in capital punishment. A Reform Jew may or may not believe in life after death. Reform Jews are able to agree to disagree.

What Is Conservative Judaism?

Conservative Judaism began toward the end of the 19th century. The Conservative leadership expressed great unhappiness with the rigidity of Orthodoxy and the freedoms of Reform. They sought a middle ground. Many Conservative rabbis have different views about the nature and content of this middle ground. To this point, no one proposal has been accepted. Emphasis on Jewish law remains great. A booklet explaining Conservative Judaism titled "Emet V'emunah" or "Truth and Faith" was developed around 1990. It is an excellent resource.

The Conservative movement tends to emphasize four areas of Jewish life as starters:

- Learning Hebrew
- Keeping a kosher home
- Keeping many of the Sabbath laws
- Supporting Israel

Their services are only slightly different from Orthodox services. Many other pieces of Conservative Jewish life resemble Reform: men and women sit together in the sanctuary; women may read from the Torah (individual congregations may disagree); driving on the Sabbath is acceptable; etc. The Rabbinical Assembly (Conservative rabbinate) and the faculty of their rabbinical school (Jewish Theological Seminary) decided (1983) to ordain women as rabbis.

What Is Reconstructionism?

A small, fourth branch of Judaism in America is called Reconstructionism.

Rabbi Mordecia M. Kaplan founded it. He started Jewish Community Centers. It sees Judaism as an evolving religious civilization. Therefore, one should do as much as possible within a Jewish environment, even athletic, social, and artistic pursuits. The importance of Israel is very great in Reconstructionism. There is some theological flexibility, perhaps not as much as in the other branches of Judaism. There is a strong tendency not to accept God as the power that answers prayer through direct, divine, miraculous interventions. For more information about Reconstructionist Judaism read "Questions Jews Ask" by Mordecia M. Kaplan. Much of Rabbi Kaplan's work has had a profound impact on Reform and Conservative Jews.

Who/What Is God?

Throughout the ages, enormous numbers of concepts about God have been developed. Even within Judaism, many different and at times conflicting beliefs about God are accepted. Some people accept more than one definition of God. Four general concepts of God found among Jews appear here. Rabbi Dr. Alvin Reines, professor of philosophy at Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion, describes the concepts as:

- The Miracle Working God: God is physically separate from the universe. God created the universe. God will interrupt the natural laws of the universe in order to perform miracles. This means God may intervene directly in our lives. At times God's will is known, but not God's appearance.
- The God of Sustenance: God is physically separate from the universe. God created the universe. God's being and power sustain the universe, including, obviously, life on Earth. God's being and power enable nature to run its course. We may affect nature in ways that are important to us, but they are of little or no importance in terms of the universe as a whole. In addition, we use natural laws to affect nature. God does not interrupt natural events or change the course of history. It is impossible to describe God's appearance.
- The Universe is God or a Part of God: God is not separate from the universe. Either God created the universe or began at the same moment as the universe. You may believe that God and the universe are two terms for exactly the same thing. You may believe the universe is a part of God or in God, but that God is greater than the universe. God may or may not perform miracles depending on your belief about the existence of a will of God that would be aware of us and choose to miraculously alter our world.

Who/What Is God?

• The fourth concept is found in some Jewish writings, but is not accepted by the major branches of Judaism. In this category, atheism and agnosticism are suggested.

What Is Prayer (Meditation)?

Prayer (meditation) consists of spontaneous or formalized words and actions which may be addressed to God and which may serve any of the following purposes:

- To bring about a miraculous intervention in your life or the lives of others.
- To feel more comfortable in the world or universe.
- To become a better receiver of natural and supernatural energies.
- To clarify a problem and understand solutions to that problem.
- To celebrate or commemorate an event.
- To engage in a prayer ritually which, once done, increases your sense of well-being.

Prayer may be practiced alone or with others. Going to services is meant to be helpful to you for one or more of the reasons mentioned above. Your attendance also reinforces our sense of Jewish community. A Jew may pray anywhere, but a Jew cannot build Jewish community anywhere. That has to be done with other Jews.

The language of prayer usually comes from the Bible and other major sources of Judaism. It may also come from the individual. During periods of group worship, use the material from the prayer book that works best for the people attending the service you are leading. It may be best to allow the wearing of a kipah or a tallith optional for both men and women. Use more or less Hebrew, depending on the needs of the worshippers.

Major Divisions of Jewish History

Biblical Period, 2000 BCE - 200 BCE

The history begins with Abraham. Perhaps the most important figure in this period is Moses. Moses, it is generally agreed, trained the Israelites in their concept of peoplehood. Moses is a lawgiver, a general, a political ruler, and a religious leader. During this period, we go from Canaan to Egypt and on a long trek back to Canaan which becomes Israel. The First Temple is built and destroyed. The Second Temple is built. We are exiled from Israel in 586 BCE by the Babylonians (Iraq today). The Persians (Iran today) release us to go back to Israel in 535 BCE. During the Biblical period we cease being nomads and semi-nomads. We establish a religion, a country, and a peoplehood. Prophets, judges, kings, and priests rule us. How much of what is placed in the Biblical period is history and how much is sacred mythology will vary according to the beliefs of the individual.

The Talmudic Period, 200 BCE - 500 CE

During this time, the Temple is destroyed (70 CE.) Rabbis begin to appear. The Jews are dispersed and many are exiled. Terrible persecution by Greek and Roman forces takes place. The Talmud, describing what post-Biblical Jewish life had become, is written. It becomes the most important work in Judaism. The Torah is understood according to Talmudic interpretations of it. Jews wind up living throughout the Middle East. They also begin to settle in Europe during this period.

G'onic Period, 500 CE – 1050 CE

G-on-im (Gaon means Excellency or Genius) have the greatest impact on the Jewish community. We continue to spread out through the Middle East, Europe, and Africa. Great Jewish academies flourish in the Middle East. Jewish scholarship increases at an amazing rate. Persecutions occur with greater frequency in Christian lands than in Islamic lands. Jews become split into two worlds: Ashkenazim (those Jews living under Catholic rulers mostly in Northern Europe) and Sephardim (those Jews living under Islamic rulers, mostly in Southern Europe). A golden age of Jewish life begins in Spain under Islam.

Major Divisions of Jewish History

Middle Ages, 1050 CE – 1800 CE

During this period, many great Jewish leaders emerge: Rashi, Maimonides, Joseph Karo, just to name a few. The Golden Age in Spain ends. The Church retakes Spain, Portugal, and other lands held for centuries by Islam. The Spanish Inquisition takes place. Eventually Jews are expelled from many countries including Spain (1492). Chasidism begins. Yiddish begins. Jews become established in the New World. However, the majority of the world's Jews live in Eastern Europe. Superstitions are widespread. The worst persecutions of this period occur from 1648 to 1656 in northern Poland. Hundreds of thousands of Jews are slaughtered, mostly by Cossacks led by Bogdan Chmielnicki. Synagogues as we know them today become well established.

Modern Period, 1800 CE – Present

The center of Jewish life shifts from Eastern Europe to Western Europe, America, and Israel. The Russians Czars make life horrible for Jews under their control. Jews leave in droves for America. Modern culture, science, and advanced philosophies strike Jews with incredibly sudden and enormous forces. The Holocaust and then founding of modern Israel follow this. The world of the Jew had been greatly changed by each of these events. The changes are still taking place. Where we will end up is not at all clear. When the next age of Jewish life will begin is unknown.

During this period, Reform, Conservative, and Reconstructionist Judaism emerge. They result from the impact of modern science and philosophy on Jews. Jews attain greater education, freedom, wealth, and influence in America than was ever experienced before. In this period, Jewish leaders begin to fear that what the Nazis could not do by force, we Jews may do out of choice to ourselves and Judaism: allow our people and faith to become so weak that we disappear.

The Major Texts of Jewish Life

Bible

What are the three divisions of the Bible?

- Torah (five Books of Moses) Genesis to Deuteronomy
- N'vee'eem (Prophets) Joshua to Malachi
- K'tu-veem (Writings) Psalms to Chronicles II

Talmud

What are the two major parts of the Talmud?

- Mishnah completed around 210 CE
- Gemara completed around 500 CE

The Talmud contains 63 books divided into 6 major categories that cover everything from prayers to holidays to ethics to theology to agriculture to punishments for crime. Marriage, divorce, purification rites, and more are also featured in this incredible record of Jewish life from 1500 years ago. Much of the Talmud is considered by the Orthodox to be part of what Moses received at Mt. Sinai with the 613 Mitzyot.

Midrash

Midrash was a vast literature of sermons and lectures written to explain the Bible's relevance to Jews in every time and place. Many different collections of Midrash exist. The technical term for Midrash is "Biblical exegesis." The oldest Midrashim were written 2,000 years ago.

Zohar

The Zohar is a collection of essays on the Torah. These essays are extremely difficult to understand. They are very important to many Chasidic groups of Jews. The Zohar is the best example of Jewish mystical literature. Moses de Leon of Spain wrote it between 1270 and 1300. We do know it had an enormous impact on Jews in the later Middle Ages.

Shulchan Aruch

The Shulchan Aruch is a lengthy handbook (many volumes) on Jewish life. Joseph Karo in Palestine wrote it in the 1550's. It still is a basic resource for many Jews today. Rabbis often disagree with the Shulchan Aruch today, but it is still honored and used as one of the most important sources of information about Jews and Judaism. Many codes or handbooks about Jewish life have been developed. Jewish law is still being produced. It is generally referred to as RESPONSA (responses to issues confronting Jews).

The Major Texts of Jewish Life

Siddur

The Siddur is our prayer book. The Siddur contains very important information about Jewish history, theology, rituals, Holy Days, family life, and ethics. Its contents have been developed over a period of several thousand years. It is worth careful study and understanding by each Jew. Our prayer book contains many services for a variety of occasions. However each service usually contains seven parts.

Note: The seven parts of a service are listed on page 5-26.

The Jewish Calendar

Why the Dates of Major Events Change

The Jewish calendar is based on lunar months and solar years. Each month is 29 or 30 days long. There are 353 days in a lunar year and 365 days in a solar year. The 12-day difference is important. Imagine if every year our holidays occurred 12 days earlier than the year before. Eventually Passover would be in winter and Chanukah in summer. We use the solar year calculation and an extra month to keep things straight. Every 2 to 3 years, we add a second month of Adar to our calendar. Doing this keeps our holidays in their proper season. We figure the frequency of the extra month so that we remain close to the length of the solar year. You could say every 2 to 3 Jewish calendar years equals the length of every 2 to 3 solar calendar years. In the Jewish leap year, the regular month of Adar (with Purim in it) becomes Adar II while the added month of Adar becomes Adar I.

Shabbat

Shabbat is a day for rest, study, prayer, and feasting. Welcoming the Sabbath is called "Kabbalat Shabbat." The Order of Service for "Welcoming the Sabbath" is presented in detail beginning on page 6-26.

Note: This section includes descriptions and historical information for 13 Holy Days and festivals. After each description, there is an "observance" paragraph with specifics for the lay reader on how to prepare for/celebrate each service.

Rosh Hashanah

Rosh Hashanah is the Jewish New Year and it occurs on the first day of Tishri. It begins the 10 Days of Awe. During these 10 days, each Jew is urged to go through a thorough soul cleansing. To many Jews, these days are used for confession. Confession is made about sins intentionally and unintentionally committed during the past year. Seeking reconciliation with God and those people who you wronged is an important part of the confession process. The 1st of Tishri is referred to as a "sacred occasion" in the following passage from Leviticus 23:23-25.

• 23 The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: 24 Speak to the Israelite people thus: In the seventh month, on the first day of the month, you shall observe complete rest, a sacred occasion commemorated with loud blasts. 25 You shall not work at your occupations; and you shall bring an offering by fire to the LORD.

Sometime between Biblical and post-Biblical days the calendar was rearranged. Tishri, the Biblical 7th month, became the first month. No one knows how or why this happened. In becoming the first month, the first day of Tishri then became the Jewish New Year's day.

Thus, Rosh Hashanah came into being. It rapidly became not only the New Year of the Jews but it was assumed Rosh Hashanah was the birthday of the world as well. According to ancient Jewish traditions then, the date of the Jewish year represents the age of the world. Another tradition claims that on Rosh Hashanah, God and the heavenly courts examine the life of each person; while on Yom Kippur, the decision is sealed as to who will live and who will die in the next year. From this belief comes the traditional Holy Day greeting "Shanah tovah," which is a shortened form of the saying that in English means: "May you be inscribed and sealed in the Book of Life for a good year." This birth of the world and reward/punishment traditions are not generally advocated in Reform.

Rosh Hashanah (Continued)

Rosh Hashanah is:

- A time of intense holiness.
- A time for self-scrutinizing, for sober rejoicing in the gift of life, and for the opportunity to renew life and our all-important relationships.
- A time for unadorned truthfulness and getting ourselves rejuvenated religiously.

Observance of Rosh Hashanah

Festival service is found in Jewish Welfare Board's (JWB) "High Holy Day Prayer Book." Orthodox and Conservative Jews observe 2 days of Rosh Hashanah; Reform Jews observe the first day.

Plan to have services on the evening of the first day, the morning of the first day, the evening of the second day, and the morning of the second day. If extreme necessity precludes the holding of full services, cut the services short, but on no account may you postpone the observance.

Try to arrange for at least one festive meal, with candles and Kiddish, to celebrate the day. Apples dipped in honey are a Rosh Hashanah symbol for a sweet year.

The New Year greeting is: L'Shanah Tovah Tii-ka-tayvoo (May you be recorded for a good year).

TORAH Reading:

• 1st day: Genesis 21:1-34

• 2nd day: Genesis 22:1-24

Yom Kippur

Yom Kippur is called the Day of Judgment and the Sabbath of Sabbaths as well as the Day (Yom) of Atonement (Kippur). It is the holiest day of the Jewish year. The intensity of confession, reconciliation, renewal, and resolutions comes to its high point on Yom Kippur. A 24-hour fast is carried out to help the cleansing process. We are to turn our attention from all normal worldly activities and concentrate on the spiritual importance of this day.

Yom Kippur takes place on the 10th of Tishri. The Sabbath between Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur is called Shabbat Shuva, the Sabbath of Repentance or Return.

Yom Kippur is established in Leviticus 23:26-32.

• ²⁶The LORD spoke to Moses, saying: ²⁷Mark, the tenth day of this seventh month is the Day of Atonement. It shall be a sacred occasion for you: you shall practice self-denial, and you shall bring an offering by fire to the LORD. ²⁸You will do no work throughout that day. For it is a Day of Atonement, on which expiation is made on your behalf before the LORD your God. ²⁹Indeed, any person who does not practice self-denial throughout that day shall be cut off from his kin; ³⁰and whoever does any work throughout that day, I will cause that person to perish from among his people. ³¹Do no work whatever; it is a law for all time, throughout the ages in all your settlements. ³²It shall be a Sabbath of complete rest for you, and you shall practice self-denial; on the ninth day of the month at evening, from evening to evening, you shall observe this Sabbath.

Observance of Yom Kippur

Evening service is at sundown, with services throughout the day. Kol Nidre is chanted in the evening service. A memorial service (Yizkor) can be held either in the morning or afternoon.

At sundown, after the Shofar (Ram's Horn) is blown, arrange for a Break-The-Fast meal. Keep it simple and light.

• TORAH Reading:

• Morning: Leviticus 16:1-34

• Afternoon: Leviticus 18:1-30 or Leviticus 19:1-37

• Evening: Jonah 1:1 - 4:11

Sukkot

We read of Sukkot also in Leviticus 23. The following quote contains verses 39-41.

• ³⁹Mark, on the fifteenth day of the seventh month, when you have gathered in the yield of your land, you shall observe the festival of the LORD (to last) seven days; a complete rest on the first day, and a complete rest on the eighth day. ⁴⁰On the first day you shall take the product of hadar trees, branches of palm trees, boughs of leafy trees, and willows of the brook, and you shall rejoice before the LORD your God seven days. ⁴¹You shall observe it as a festival of the LORD for seven days in the year; you shall observe it in the seventh month as a law for all time, throughout the ages.

Sukkot begins on the 15th of Tishri and is celebrated 7 days by some Jews and 8 days by others. It is the model for our national Thanksgiving holiday. Sukkot probably came into being as an autumn harvest festival. The festivities of Sukkot were so great that ways had to be found to tone down the celebrations a bit and bring more of a sense of reverence to this time. Still, Sukkot remains one of the most joyous periods in the Jewish calendar year. In addition to its theme of thanksgiving — for both the harvest and the slower work pace of the winter months — Sukkot is also immersed in recreating Jewish history.

Sukkot is called the feast of booths and the feast of tabernacles. In ancient days, before settling in Israel, the Israelites lived in temporary shelters. The shelters consisted of tents or booths. These temporary shelters non-Jews often called tabernacles. The word Tabernacle, as you know, also refers to the portable Holy Ark that the Torah says was placed inside the Tent of Meeting during those same decades of wandering in the wilderness. It is considered very important by most Jews to enter a Sukkah or booth during this festival period. Many Jews try to eat at least one meal in a booth. Other Jews spend an entire day and night in a booth. Many Jewish communities hold contests each year to determine who has created the most interesting or beautiful booth or Sukkah.

Observance of Sukkot

Festival services are found in regular JWB prayer books page 138 or page 440. Benedictions cover Lulay and Etrog and building of a Sukkah.

- TORAH Reading:
 - Leviticus 23:1-44 (especially verses 39-44). Also, the Book of Ecclesiastes.

Note: Eighth Day of Assembly is the eighth day of Sukkot. Yiskor services are held on Shemini Atzeret.

Simchat Torah

During the course of the year, in most synagogues, each week the worshippers read at least a small part of the Torah scroll. The readings are done in a certain order so that each part of the Five Books of Moses, or Torah scroll, is studied in the course of each year. This annual cycle of Torah readings is concluded and begun anew on Simchat Torah.

Observance of Simchat Torah

The festival is celebrated with many special prayers and rituals including marching around the sanctuary clutching the Holy Torah scrolls and singing psalms of joy and praise. The Torah scroll after all, is the holiest religious object in the Jewish world. It contains the roots of Jewish life on which every further expression of Jewishness is based. The Torah scroll symbolizes, more than any other object, the struggles Jews have gone through to survive, and the "miraculousness" which that survival represents. For approximately 25 centuries, Jews have passed the Torah from generation to generation.

Note: In the Reform community, Shemini Atzeret and Simchat Torah are combined and observed on the eighth day of Sukkot.

Chanukah

From the Oxford Annotated Apocrypha, I Maccabees 4:36-51

³⁶But Judas and his brothers said: "Now that our enemies have been crushed, let us go to Jerusalem to cleanse the temple and rededicate it." ³⁷So the whole army was assembled and went up to Mount Zion. ³⁸There they found the temple laid waste, the altar profaned, the gates burnt down, and the courts overgrown like a thicket or wooded hillside, and the priests' rooms in ruin. ³⁹They tore their garments, wailed loudly, put ashes on their heads, ⁴⁰ and fell on their faces to the ground. They sounded the ceremonial trumpets, and cried aloud to Heaven. ⁴¹Then Judas detailed troops to engage the garrison of the citadel while he cleansed the temple. ⁴²He selected priests without blemish, devoted to the law, ⁴³ and they purified the temple, removing to an unclean place the stones which defiled it. 44 They discussed what to do with the altar of burnt-offering, which was profaned, ⁴⁵ and rightly decided to demolish it, for fear it might become a standing reproach to them because it had been defiled by the Gentiles. They therefore pulled down the altar, ⁴⁶ and stored away the stones in a fitting place on the temple hill, until a prophet should arise who could be consulted about them. ⁴⁷They took un-hewn stones, as the law commands, and built a new altar on the model of the previous one.

Chanukah (Continued)

• ⁴⁸They rebuilt the temple and restored its interior, and consecrated the temple courts. ⁴⁹They renewed the sacred vessels and the lampstand, and brought the altar of incense and the table into the temple. ⁵⁰They burnt incense on the altar and lit the lamps on the lamp-stand to shine within the temple. ⁵¹When they had put the Bread of the Presence on the table and hung the curtains; all their work was completed.

From the Oxford Annotated Apochypha, II Maccabees 10:1-6

• Maccabaeus with his men, led by the Lord, recovered the temple and city of Jerusalem. ²He demolished the altars erected by the heathen in the public square, and their sacred precincts as well. ³When they had purified the sanctuary, they constructed another altar; then, striking fire from flints, they offered a sacrifice for the first time for two whole years, and restored the incense, the lights, and the Bread of the Presence. ⁴This done, they prostrated themselves and prayed the Lord not to let them fall any more into such disasters, but, should they ever happen to sin, to discipline them himself with clemency and not hand them over to blasphemous and barbarous Gentiles. ⁵The sanctuary was purified on the twenty-fifth of Kislev, the same day of the same month as that on which foreigners had profaned it. ⁶The joyful celebration lasted for eight days; it was like the Feast of Tabernacles, for they recalled how, only a short time before, they had kept that feast while they were living like wild animals in the mountains and caves.

The Maccabees were not perfect, according to history. However, their battle represents much more to Jews than a military victory fought as a guerrilla war. The tactics helped bring about success, but the cause is much more critical. Fighting for Jewish survival in a Jewish land summarizes the plot line of this chronicle. Losing the national independence of Israel was a grievous loss. But it did not bring on armed rebellion. However, trying to prohibit Jews from worshiping their God in their way was more than the people could tolerate. They would not cease to be Jews and they would fight to the death to remain Jews.

In the Talmud, we encounter a very beautiful Chanukah story, the historicity of which is not at all agreed to by the denominations of Judaism. Reform Jews generally reject it as history and accept it as folklore. The Talmudic story reveals that when the Temple was retaken by the Maccabeean forces only one cruze of oil remained undefiled and suitable for burning in the sanctuary. The cruze contained enough oil for one day. Preparing the Temple for re-dedication would take more than 1 day. Through a miracle of God, we read, the oil burned for 8 days, long enough to complete the clean-up mission for the purpose of re-dedication. Not incidentally Chanukah means "dedication."

From the Talmud, Book of Shabbat, page 2lb.

• What is the reason of Chanukah? For our Rabbis taught: On the 25th of Kislev the days of Hanukkah, which are 8, on which a lamentation for the dead and fasting are forbidden. For when the Greeks entered the Temple, they defiled all the oils therein, and the Hasmonean dynasty prevailed against and defeated them, they made search and found only one cruze of oil which lay with the seal of the High Priest, but which contained sufficient oil for 1 day's lighting only: yet a miracle was wrought therein and they lit the lamp therewith for 8 days. The following year these days were appointed a festival with the recital of Hallel and thanksgiving.

In addition to its theme of fighting for religious freedom and the story of the miracle of the cruze of oil, Chanukah also provides the Jewish community with a festival of light and warm feelings in the midst of the darkness and cold of approaching winter. Lots of decorations and special foods are particularly relevant to this festival's celebration.

Cha-nu-ki-yot or Chanukah menorahs (nine-candle candelabra) are used throughout the festival of lights. Each night, an additional candle is lit until a burning candle represents each of the 8 days. The ninth candle position is for the "servant" candle, the one used to light the others. It is called the "shamas." We place the candles from right to left and light them from left to right.

Observance of Chanukah

Every evening for 8 nights, candles are lit to commemorate the achievement of the Maccabees. On the Chanukah menorah, one candle (plus the shamas) is lit the first night, two on the second, three on the third, and so on. Gifts are customarily exchanged. When the candles are lit, the blessings (JWB prayer book, page 342) are chanted. Clear the permission to gather for a nightly candle lighting ceremony. Potato pancakes (latkes) are the traditional food, as are jelly doughnuts, and dreidel games are in order if no gambling is involved.

Tu B'Shevat

Fifteen in Hebrew is written תא. Putting together these two letters makes the sound "tu." Shevat is the name of the month in which this holiday occurs. "Tu B'Shevat" is the "15th of Shevat" and it is celebrated as Jewish Arbor Day – also known as the New Year of the Trees. It is customary to plant trees and eat a variety of fruits on this day.

Observance of Tu B'Shevat

Although there is no synagogue observance, the lay reader might encourage individuals or the entire group to "plant a tree" in Israel. Trees can be purchased from the Jewish National Fund, 42 East 69th Street, New York, New York 10021. A tree planted in honor of a unit is a fine contribution to military morale. (When writing to the JNF, be sure to mention that you are a member of the United States Armed Forces.) The links between people and nature are stressed in most Jewish festivals.

Purim

Purim is a holiday whose origin is derived from the Book of Esther. Purim means, "cast lots" as when Haman cast lots to select the day on which the Jews would perish. The actual story in Esther is fictitious. However, the plot depicting a thwarted plan to murder the Jews is a good one. Too often the murders took place. Stopping such plans is the point of the story. Jews must act in our own defense. When threatened, we must respond. Purim teaches us that greed, hatred, and conniving of all sorts exist in the world. We must stop such evils from destroying people, including, but not limited to, Jews. On Purim, the behavior in our sanctuary is bizarre. We make an enormous amount of noise whenever Haman's name is mentioned. We dress in costumes, run around, and often even drink wine frequently during the service. We study the megillah of Esther and hamantashen and get very silly. Purim occurs on the 14th day of Adar. It is customary to perform the mitzvah of sha-lach ma-not, the giving money or other special gifts to the poor during Purim.

Observance of Purim

At the Sabbath Eve service preceding Purim, read Deuteronomy 25:17-19, about the Amalekite attack. Haman was thought to be a descendant of Amalek. Preferably on Purim, or on the Sabbath Eve closer to Purim, read the Scroll of Esther (the megillah). (See JWB prayer book, pages 336 and 338.)

Pesach

No one knows for certain the original meaning and use of Pesach. But for thousands of years, it has been linked with the sacrifice of the first fruit of spring. As you know, many animals give birth in the spring. In ancient times, a sacrifice of thanksgiving and praise was made with some of the first born of these animals.

Pesach has been used to celebrate many themes:

- Redemption of the Israelites from Egyptian bondage.
- The arrival of spring and nature's rebirth.
- Early spring harvest.
- The festival of eating matzoh.
- Ultimate redemption.
- Pilgrimage to Temple in Jerusalem (ended in 70 CE when the Temple was destroyed).
- A regathering of the family to celebrate the Pesach Seder. Seder is the festival home service and it is contained in the "Haggadah Shel Pesach."
 - Exodus 12:3-8 Speak to the whole community of Israel and say, "On the tenth day of this month each man must take an animal from the flock, one for each family: one animal for each household. If the household is too small to eat the animal, a man must join with his neighbor, the nearest to his house, as the number of persons requires. You must take into account what each can eat in deciding the number for the animal. It must be an animal without blemish, a male one-year-old; it may be either a lamb or a goat. You must keep it till the fourteenth day of the month when the whole assembly of the community of Israel shall slaughter it between the two evenings. Some of the blood must be taken and put on the doorposts and the lintel of the houses where it is eaten, roasted over the fire; it must be eaten with unleavened bread and bitter herbs."

Pesach (Continued)

Leviticus 23:5-14 (see also Numbers 28:15-25) The fourteenth day of the first month, between the two evenings, is the Passover of the Lord; and the fifteenth day of the same month is the feast of unleavened Bread for the Lord. For seven days you shall eat bread without leaven. On the first day you are to hold a sacred assembly; you must do no usual work. For seven days you shall offer a burnt offering to the Lord. The seventh day is to be a day of sacred assembly; you must do no work. The Lord spoke to Moses; he said: "Speak to the sons of Israel and say to them: 'When you enter the land that I give you, and gather in the harvest there, you must bring the first sheaf of your harvest to the priest, and he is to present it to the Lord with the gesture of offering, so that you may be acceptable. The priests shall make this offering on the day after the Sabbath and on the same day as you make this offering you are to offer the Lord the whole offering of an unblemished lamb one-year-old. The oblation for that day shall be two-tenths of wheaten flour mixed with oil, a burnt offering whose fragrance will appease the Lord. The libation is to be one quarter of the hin of wine. You are to eat no bread, roasted corn, or baked bread, before this day, before making the offering to your God. This is a perpetual law for all your descendants, wherever you live."

Observance of Pesach

Get the best dining space possible. Use table linen, candlesticks, and china. Work closely with your supervisory chaplain and supply personnel on this project.

If you wish to hold Passover morning services, use the special services in the JWB prayer book, page 184 or page 452. Include Passover readings in the Sabbath Eve services of Passover week. Yizkor services are held on the last day of Passover.

You should have enough matzah for the week. Every effort should be made to observe Pesach as much as possible. Generally speaking, this means avoiding bread and bread products for Passover week.

Observance of Pesach (Continued)

TORAH Readings:

• 1st Day: Exodus 12:21-51

• 2nd Day: Leviticus 23:1-44 (especially verses 4-8)

• Sabbath: Exodus 33:12-34:26

• 7th Day: Exodus 15:1-21

• 8th Day: Deuteronomy 16:1-8. Also the Song of Songs

Select from these to cover the themes of the festival.

Plan in detail. (See pages 9-11 of the JWB Haggadah.) You need not cover every page of the Haggadah. Much of the rabbinic discourse in the first part of the service can be omitted, as well as some parts after the meal. Be sure, however, to include the more familiar ceremonies. Start planning well in advance, perhaps as much as 3 months ahead. If you are deploying for 6 or 7 months, during which Pesach will fall, be sure to plan ahead for this and other religious observances before the deployment begins. Your supply officer can be very helpful as well as active duty Jewish chaplains in your region. Any chaplain can help you locate them.

Yom Ha Sho-ah

"Holocaust Memorial Day" or the "Day of Utter Destruction" is Yom Ha Sho-ah. Yom Ha Sho-ah occurs on the 27th of Nisan. This date was chosen because it falls between the start of the Warsaw Ghetto Uprising and the Israeli War of Independence.

Observance of Yom Ha Sho-ah

Special memorial services are held. We also use this time to confront the Holocaust and its horror and review the lessons to be learned from the Holocaust.

Yom Ha-atz-maut

The day of celebrating Israel's independence is called Yom Ha-atz-ma-ut. It occurs on the 5th day of Iyar. The holiday celebrates the existence of Israel, its freedom, its strength, its benefits to the world, our ties to Israel, and our hopes for Israel's secure and healthy future.

Observance of Yom Ha-atz-maut

Special services and programs take place in synagogues and J.C.C.s.

Sha'vu'ot – Festival of Weeks

Sha'vu'ot occurs on the 6th day of Sivan. Sha'vu'ot gets its name "weeks" from this quote in the Torah, Leviticus 23:15-18.

• 15 And from the day on which you bring the sheaf of wave offering—the day after the Sabbath—you shall count off seven weeks. They must be complete; 16 you must count until the day after the seventh week—fifty days; then you shall bring an offering of new grain to the Lord. 17 You shall bring from your settlements two loaves of bread as a wave offering; each shall be made of two-tenths of a measure of choice flour, baked after leavening, as first fruits to the Lord. 18 With the bread you shall present, as burnt offerings to the Lord, seven yearling lambs without blemish, one bull of the herd, and two rams, with their meal offerings and libations, an offering by fire of pleasing odor to the Lord.

Along with Sukkot and Pesach, Sha'vu'ot has been considered one of the three major festivals of the Jewish year. Though Sha'vu'ot is technically a major festival and Chanukah a minor one, Chanukah is clearly given greater prominence by many Jews today. In order to firm up the importance of Sha'vu'ot, Confirmation has been connected with this festival. Through the ages many other meanings were given for celebrating Sha'vu'ot including:

- The day of the giving of the Torah (decide for yourselves)
- The festival of first fruits
- The late spring harvest festival

Observance of Sha'vu'ot

Festival services are in the JWB prayer book, page 184 or page 440, or they may be included as part of the Sabbath Eve service closest to Sha'vu'ot. It is appropriate to read the Ten Commandments (Exodus 20:1-14) and the Book of Ruth. Yizkor services are held on Sha'vu'ot.

Traditional foods are blintzes and dairy products.

TORAH Readings:

• 1st Day: Exodus 19:1-20:23

• 2nd Day: Deuteronomy 16:9-11. Also, the Book of Ruth.

Tisha B'Av

Tisha B'Av means the 9th of Av, which is when this Memorial Day occurs. Many Jews commemorate it as a day of mourning. Supposedly many horrible events took place on this day including the destruction of the Temple of Jerusalem.

Observance of Tisha B'Av

Men may fast according to their preferences and their military requirements. Provide for a meal after sundown for those who have fasted. A pamphlet of "Elegies for the Ninth of Av" is available from the Jewish Welfare Board.

• TORAH Readings:

• Morning: Deuteronomy 4:25-40

• Afternoon: Exodus 32:11-14

• Evening: Exodus 34:1-10. Also, the Book of Lamentations.

S'lichot

S'lichot is the late night service that takes place in Elul just before the High Holy Days. S'lichot means "pardon."

Observance of S'lichot

The service contains many of the themes and prayers used on the Holy Days. To really experience the Holy Days, we must take time to prepare for them intellectually, emotionally, and spiritually. S'lichot helps us do that. It is gaining in importance.

Seven Basic Parts of a Service

Each Jewish service usually contains seven parts:

- Opening prayers and songs
- Sh'ma and its blessings (beginning with Barchu)
- T'filah (Amidah, Sh'moneh Esrei)
- Torah service
- Aleinu
- Kaddish
- Closing prayers and songs

Special additions may be inserted depending on the occasion being celebrated. The Torah is not read at every service. It is read at least on the Sabbaths, the Holy Days, and major festivals.

Observance of the Sabbath and the Festival (Yom Tov)

If the first night of a Yom Tov (Passover, Shavuot, Sukkot or Shemini Atzeret) falls on Friday night, begin the worship service with candle lightning, then skip to Psalm 92 and read it. Use the Festival Amidah vice Sabbath Amidah, reading the phrases for the appropriate Festival and Sabbath. Do likewise with the Kiddish. The rest of the Sabbath Eve service remains the same. Add any additional words or phrases for the appropriate Festival as indicated on any page. Note that Chanukkah, Purim, Shabbat Teshuvah (the Sabbath before Yom Kippur) are not Festivals in this context.

When the Sabbath Eve occurs during the Festivals (Shabbat d'Chol Hamoed) of Pesach or Sukkot, first light candles with blessings of the Sabbath only. While traditional practice is to proceed directly to Psalm 92, you may worship like a regular Sabbath Eve and do the full Kabballat Shabbat. Either way, use the regular Sabbath Amidah, including the paragraph marked "on Rosh Chodesh and Chol Hamoed add . . ." and read the appropriate words. Do the same with the Kiddish (regular Friday night).

The Question of a Minyan

In the order of services that follow, an asterisk (*) indicates this prayer, according to traditional observance, is a "public prayer," requiring the presence of a minyan (quorum) of 10 Jewish men over the ages of 13, or this prayer is not read. A liberal interpretation would include women over 13 or disregard the requirement altogether and read all of the prayer service regardless of numbers.

Order for the Sabbath Evening Service

General. The Hebrew word for prayer book is siddur. It means the prescribed order of prayer. The following outline is for use with the "Prayer Book for Jewish Personnel in the Armed Forces of the United States," the 1958 or 1984 editions (marked "edition year/page number"). The Hebrew page number is given; English is on the opposite page. Responsive readings are indicated by italics; however, the prayer or reading might also be read in unison. Sing or chant where appropriate.

Rigging for Jewish Worship

Chain of Command

Always use the chain of command. Communicate programs or requests through the assigned chaplain or command chaplain. When no chaplain is aboard, make contacts through the executive officer.

As the command Jewish lay reader, it is your responsibility to arrange, well in advance of the needed time, all command resources such as:

- Space availability
- P.A. system
- Ritual items
- Food items
- Publicity, etc.

Publicity

Publish times for worship in the POD. As Sabbaths, festivals, Holy Days, and special events occur, add a one- to four-sentence description.

- One-half hour before the worship or special event begins, and at the time it begins, request that a 1MC announcement be made.
- Because of shipboard evolutions, the lay reader must make certain, via the chain of command, the location and time of the service and must not change them without going back to the chain of command.

Time for Sabbath Worship

Late Friday afternoon (1700, 1730) or early Friday evening (1900, 1930, or 2000) might be the best time to bring together the Jewish community aboard. The Sabbath day extends from sundown Friday through sundown Saturday.

Regardless of the time selected, gear the service and one Shabbat to last not more than a total of 90 minutes.

Rigging for Jewish Worship

Setup

As the Jewish lay reader, you should prepare for the service as follows:

- Place the Jewish Chaplain's Kit on a covered table at the front or in the middle of a circle of chairs to make it the focal point of the worship.
- Set the candleholders with the candles and the Kiddush Cup to the side or on top of the altar provided by the bottom half of the kit.
- If no chaplain's kit is available, place candles with holders and Kiddush Cup (or plain glass with kosher wine or grape juice) on a table

Prayer Book

For Sabbath and Festivals, use the 1958 or the 1984 editions of the Jewish Welfare Board's (JWB) "Prayer Book for Jewish Personnel in the Armed Forces of the United States." For Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur, use the Jewish Welfare Board's (JWB) "High Holy Day Prayer Book." The 1958 and the 1969 "High Holy Day Prayer Books" have a Reform section if the majority chooses to use it. If prayer books are not available, you can use the Jewish sections of the "Book of Worship for United States Forces" (Nos. 624, as appropriate).

Music

For music, you or a member of the group can chant the service or parts thereof, or sing in unison the appropriate passages. A cassette tape of sung prayer for Sabbath Eve and Morning "Jewish Friday Eve Service", "Jewish Sabbath (sic) Morning Service" is available from the chaplain's resource board. Additional hymns and responses can be found in the "Book of Worship for United States Forces" (Nos. 5, 46, 52, 53, 57-69, 609, and 610).

GUIDE FOR MUSLIM LAY READERS

Overview

Introduction

Because the matter of ordination, as institutionally defined, is not an issue in Sunni or Orthodox Islam, the lay reader is free to act in the same capacity as their civilian or military counterpart(s), the extent to be determined by an Imam on an individual basis and in accordance with the depth of each individual's theological knowledge and "on hands" practical experience. As with their interfaith counterparts, the Muslim lay reader serves as a point of contact for the command for the free exercise of religion of Muslim personnel in the uniform service.

Collateral Duty

Assignment as a lay reader is a collateral duty. A lay reader is not automatically excused from his/her appointed place of duty to conduct worship. Prior permission from the division officer or department head must be obtained. Duty time should be arranged accordingly. Since the Muslim lay reader is the commanding officer's liaison for matters pertaining to Islam, permission to attend to related chapel needs should be easily obtained. It must always be remembered that this assignment is not simply a privilege but an honor.

Reminder

The Muslim lay reader is reminded that in order for the Friday Ju'mah Prayer to be considered valid, certain formats and structures must be included in the khutbah (sermon). A valuable aid in this effort can be found in the text entitled "Prescribed Prayers Made Simple" by Tajuddin B. Shu'aid (ISBN: 09610618-0-4).

Muslim Worship

Chain of Command

Always use the chain of command. Always communicate programs or make requests through the chaplain assigned or through the command chaplain. If none is aboard, make all contacts through the executive officer.

Because you are appointed by the command, you may call upon command resources (space availability, public address system, ritual items, food stuffs, publicity, etc.). It is the lay reader's responsibility to send the request forward well ahead of when needed.

Publicity

The Muslim lay reader shall:

- Secure permission from the chaplain or executive officer as to the place and time(s) of worship/prayer and shall not change them without approval from the same source.
- Publish the times for worship in the POD as religious observances or special events occur. Include one to four sentences for background.
- Request announcement over the 1MC, one-half hour before worship or special activity commences and another announcement at the designated time. This request includes the five daily prayers.

Time for Ju'mah Worship

The Muslim lay reader should recommend Friday Ju'mah service be conducted anywhere between the hours of 1200-1400. While the service can run anywhere from 30 minutes to an hour, failure to observe it within the timeframe identified would invalidate the prayer completely.

Festivals and Holy Days for Muslims

ld al Adha

Id (Eid) al Adha (lit., "the feast of the sacrifice"). Also known as the Id al Kabir ("the great feast"), this is the most important feast in the Islamic calendar. It falls on the 10th Dhu l Hijjah which is also the culmination of the pilgrimage of Mecca.

Id al Fitr

Id al Fitr (lit., "the feast of the breaking fast"). After the Id al Adha, the Id al Fitr is the second most important observance in Islam. Initiated by the Id salat (prayer), the festive period lasts for 3 days and follows the 29- to 30-day fasting period observed during the month of Ramadan.

Introduction to the Khutbah

Background

The Salatul Ju'mah khutbah (Friday prayer service/sermon) is composed of two consecutive segments of speeches, interrupted with a small pause in between.

Each segment of the khutbah is to start with praise to Allah (Subhanahu wa ta'ala) and with the greetings to the Prophet (salla allahu alaihi wa sallam). All of these introductions are to be recited in Arabic, which is the language of the Qur'an. Any khutbah that starts abruptly without these introductions is not considered as a khutbah, having failed to meet these necessary requirements. Many 'Ulama' (scholars) would say that the khutbah is not accepted and/or the reward is missed or lost.

There is no one specific format for the introduction to the two segments of the khutbah, as long as the lay reader includes the praise of Allah and the greetings to the Prophet. Below are a few samples for the introduction of the two segments of the khutbah.

Sample Introduction to First Khutbah

Ahmaduhu Subhanahu wa Ta`ala, wa Ashkuruhu, wa Huwa Ahlul-Hamdi wath-thana.

I praise Him (Allah), the Exalted One and the High, and I thank Him. It is He who deserves the praise and gratitude.

Allahuma Salli was Sallim `Ala `Abdika wa Rasuulika Muhammdin wa `Ala Alihi wa Sahbihi wa Sallim.

O Allah! Let your blessing and your peace be on your servant and your messenger, Muhammad, and on his family and his companions.

Sample Introduction to Second Khutbah

Al Hamdu Lillahi Rabbil `Alameen, Wassalutu Wassalamu `Ala khairil Mursaleen; Muhammadin Al-Nabiyil Ummiyee, wa `ala Alihi wa sahbihi Ajma'een.

Praise be to Allah, the Lord of the universe; may the greeting and the peace (of Allah) be upon the best messenger, Muhammad, the unlettered Prophet; and upon his family and upon all of his companions.

Introduction to the Khutbah

Du A' (Short Prayers)

Rabbana atina fid-dunya hasanatan wa fil akhirati hasanatan waqina azaban-nar.

Our Lord! Grant us good in this world and good in the hereafter, and save us from the torment of the fire. [Qur'an, 2:201]

Rabbana atina min ladunka rahmatanwa hayyi lana min amrina rashada.

Our Lord! Give us mercy from your presence, and shape for us right conduct in our plight. [Qur'an, 18:10]

Rabbana hab lana min azwajina wa dhurriyyantina qurrata A'yunin waj`alna lil-muttaqina imama.

Our Lord! Grant us in our mates and offspring the joy of our eyes and make us patterns for those who guard against evil. [Qur'an, 25:74]

Opening Prayers

Example 1

In the excitement of this holy season, O Lord, we wave our palm branches and lay down our garments in the road, bidding You to enter and be present in our midst. Help us to open our hearts for your coming, and not to close them in fickleness when You make demands of us. Let this community of faith be yours, and let all who live in this day experience new wholeness of heart and soul and body. For You have given us hope, and have taught us to pray, saying, Our Father, {The Lord's Prayer}.

Example 2

The world praises You, O God. The Sun, the stars, and the Moon praise You. The mountains and the seas praise You. The meadows and rivers praise You. The grass and the trees and the sky praise You. The birds and the fish and the animals praise You. Now let us, who above all created beings were made to worship and adore You, praise You through Jesus Christ our Lord, who taught us to pray together, saying, Our Father, {The Lord's Prayer}.

Example 3

Lord God of hosts, who spoke to us in ancient times through the law and the prophets, and who visited us in Jesus Christ, come now and make your presence know in our midst through song and prayer and sermon. Remind us of our salvation, grant us mercy for all our sin, and renew your spirit within us, that we may rightly praise You and afterwards serve You.

O God who has made the Heavens and the Earth, who has surrounded us with beauty and goodness, help us to see what You have made and to fall down before You in wonder. Let our hearts open before You like the flowers of the field, and praise You for the Sun and the morning. For You are the giver of every perfect gift, and have given us your Son Jesus Christ, who taught us to pray, saying, Our Father, {The Lord's Prayer}.

Example 4

God of the seasons, of springing grass and falling leaves, God of the world, of sprawling ocean and towering mountains, God of our lives, of birth and death and all the moments between, We praise You this morning for the gift of awareness — awareness of place and people and flowers and music — awareness of our bodies, our feelings, our failures, our futures. Tune our voices to exalt You and our spirits to commune with yours, that we may rightly worship You and worthily magnify your name, through Jesus Christ our Lord, who has taught us to pray, saying, Our Father, {The Lord's Prayer}.

Opening Prayers

Example 5

We lift our hearts to You, O God, after the rest of the night. We thank You for the beauty of the day and the opportunity to come to this place of worship. We pray for all who are here with special needs today. May they experience your presence and feel their burdens lightened. Help us to worship You in spirit and in truth, through Him who instructed us to pray, saying, Our Father, {The Lord's Prayer}.

Example 6

We greet You in the morning, O God, as those enfolded in your arms through the night. We praise You for your tender mercies and your loving kindness, and for your faithfulness at time when we have been unfaithful. Now we gather to worship You and to glorify You in the name of your Son Jesus, who taught us to pray together, saying, Our Father, {The Lord's Prayer}.

Example 7

Your mighty power is always with us, O God, and yet we live as if we were alone. Let this be the hour in which we remember your presence. Change us from a crowd of separate and lonely individuals who experience their own way into a united people who are seeking your way. And let your love and forgiveness overcome all our doubts and anxieties and sin, through your Son Jesus Christ, who taught us to pray together, saying, Our Father, {The Lord's Prayer}.

Example 8

O God of sunrise and sunset, let this be an hour of sunrise in our hearts, when all things are made bright and new. Drive away the shadows of discouragement and loneliness. Raise us up from beds of weariness and despair. Outfit us with joy and excitement for a new day, when we shall walk in the way of Christ Jesus our Lord, who taught us to pray, saying, Our Father, {The Lord's Prayer}.

Example 9

God of the winter cold and God of the summer heat, God of spring rains and God of dry fields. We worship You. Yours is the Earth in all its fullness, and yours are our lives with all their complications. Tune our hearts to sing your songs. Lift our eyes to see your visions. And give us voice to praise You. Through Jesus Christ, who taught us to say, Our Father, {The Lord's Prayer}.

Affirmations of Faith

Example 1

I believe in the power of Christ whose presence is felt in every season of the year but especially now, when life wells up everywhere and folks feel a quickening in their souls, it is spring and summer is on the way. I believe Christ is somehow responsible for both spring and friendship, and that the excitement I feel today is related to the fact that He was dead but is alive forevermore, not only in our memories but in the truest kind of actuality. I worship Him by coming here, and say, "Hallelujah! Christ is alive, and in this very place!"

We believe in God, who created the world, called the nation of Israel, sent prophets among his people, and gave his only Son to die for our sins.

We believe that He sent his Spirit upon the church at Pentecost, causing those who were present to enter a new style of personal relationships and a new way of living in the world.

We believe in the importance of remembering these things, that we too may live in daily awareness of whose we are and to what ends we move.

We believe that when we recall the works of God in other times we are helped to serve Him in our own time.

We believe that when we remember Christ He lives among us today, healing our brokenness, calling us to discipleship, and leading us to victory in the world.

We believe that remembering the past is the best guarantee of a meaningful present and a joyful future. Therefore we dare to say today "We remember," and to commit ourselves once more to the God who gives us, the only life that is really worth remembering. Amen.

Example 2

I believe in the God of Autumn, who spreads the mantle of his glory across the hills like a cloak of many colors.

I believe in the God of Winter, who whispers in the wind and makes me thankful for the warmth of hearthside.

I believe in the God of Spring, who dazzles the eye with blankets of blossoms and speaks to my heart through gentle rains.

I believe in the God of Summer, who meets me in the morning mists and waits for me in the cool of the evening.

I believe in the God of all seasons, who is a God for all seasons, and who calls me forth to be a man or woman for all seasons, ready to sacrifice for truth and to love the world as He loves it. He has revealed himself in Jesus Christ, and continues to reveal himself in nature, in history, and in the inner life. His name is to be praised forever and ever. Amen.

Affirmations of Faith

Example 3

I believe in the spirit of Christmas, for it is the spirit of our Lord Jesus Christ, whose birth it celebrates.

I believe in the lights of Christmas, for they remind me of Him who is the light of the world.

I believe in the greenery of Christmas, for it symbolizes the eternal life of those in Christ.

I believe in giving gifts at Christmas, for it is in keeping with the greatest gift the world has ever known.

I believe in being childlike at Christmas, for Jesus said we must become as children to enter the kingdom of Heaven.

I believe in the angels' song about peace on Earth among persons of good will, for when my will is good, as it is at Christmas, I feel a peace and joy in my heart that is unlike anything else in all the world. It has to be the peace and joy of God! Amen.

Example 4

I believe in the meaning of Christmas, and the importance of celebrating it in the church.

I believe in the God at the center of Christmas, whose hope for the world was dreamed by seers and told by prophets.

I believe in the messengers of God, who speak to human beings in quiet moments and in dreams.

I believe in the pondering spirit of Mary, who knew God was involved in the birth of her child, and in the generosity of Joseph, who could accept the involvement of God with his wife.

I believe in the beauty of the manger, transformed by the coming of Jesus, and in the eligibility of every simple place to be ennobled by his presence.

I believe in shepherds, that they often hear songs of grace and glory not heard by those who lead busier, noisier lives.

I believe in gold, frankincense, and myrrh, and less expensive gifts as well, especially when they are gifts of the heart, and not merely tokens of duty or obligation. But above all I believe in Jesus, without whom there would be no Christmas, and in using this season to discover again my relationship to Him, so that for me it will not be just an ordinary Christmas, but a time of great joy that will change my life. I too would be born in the manger.

I believe that Christmas is more than a time for parties and ornaments; it is a time for remembering Christ and the incarnation of God's love in human flesh.

I believe there are gifts more important then the ones under the Christmas tree, such as the things we teach our children, the way we share ourselves with friends, and the industry with which we set about reshaping the world in our time.

I believe that the finest carols are often sung by poorest voices, from hearts made warm by the wonder of the season.

I believe in the angel's message that we should not be afraid — that the Child of Bethlehem is able to overcome all anxieties and insecurities.

I believe in prayer and quietness as a way of appropriating Christmas — that if I wait in silence I will experience the presence of the one born in the manger, for He lives today as surely as He lived then.

I believe in going away from Christmas as the wise men went — "another way." I want to be different when these days are past — more centered, more thoughtful, more caring. And I believe God will help me. Amen.

Example 5

We believe that the man who rode into Jerusalem on a donkey is the Lord of all history and of every city that ever was.

We believe that He came to save us from our sin, and to restore us to the Father.

We believe that He was cruelly treated, that He was put to death on a cross, and that He was buried in a borrowed tomb.

We believe that God raised Him from the dead, and that He became the first fruits of those who were asleep.

We believe that He is present in our midst today, comforting our sorrow, showing us the way to tomorrow, and challenging us to life in the kingdom.

And, we believe that the day will come when the entire world will be his and He will reign in glory as the Restorer of all that was separated from God, receiving our love and praise forever and ever. Amen.

Example 6

I believe in the Christ who rode in triumph, but I also believe in the Christ who died on Calvary.

I believe in the God who speaks in fire and storm, in the God of the still, small voice.

I believe that being a Christian involves more than coming to church and being "nice"; I believe it means being faithful in school or business, and worshiping Christ in my private moments.

I believe that the real triumphs of Christ are often small and unnoticed, occurring in the lives and decisions of people whose names will never be in the newspapers.

I believe that the best thing I can do for Him today is not to say, "I believe," but to act out my belief in love and justice for others. For His is no hypocritical kingdom, but a kingdom of truth and reality that shall be forever and ever. Amen.

Example 7

I believe in God, whose care for rightness and goodness preserves the world from utter destruction, and who has promised us a new world beyond this one that will make all our struggles worthwhile.

I believe in Jesus Christ, who died to make the new world a reality and who in the triumph of his resurrection calls on us to spread the gospel of that new world.

I believe in the Holy Spirit of Christ, his presence among us now, who empowers us to live with dedication and sacrifice and love in the old world, helping it to become new.

I believe in The Church as the fellowship of Christ's followers, worshiping and learning, teaching and growing, until we have all taken upon us the image of the Master and become his representatives in the world.

I believe in coming together as we have today, to sing praises, to humble ourselves in prayer and meditation, to listen to the Word, and to clasp one another in the warmth of fellowship as a foretaste of the new world that is coming through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Example 8

I believe in the beauty of spring that is known in windy skies, blossoming fruit trees, waving jonquils, and sweet-smelling grass.

I believe in the warmth of a friendship that is communicated in gentle eyes, a loving smile, a fond touch of the hand, and an arm laid on the shoulder.

I believe in the God of Autumn, who spreads the mantle of his glory across the hills like a cloak of many colors.

I believe in the God of Winter, who whispers in the wind and makes me thankful for the warmth of hearthside.

I believe in the God of Spring, who dazzles the eye with blankets of blossoms and speaks to my heart through gentle rains.

I believe in the God of Summer, who meets me in the morning mists and waits for me in the cool of the evening.

I believe in the God of all seasons, who is a God for all seasons, and who calls me forth to be a man or woman for all seasons, ready to sacrifice for truth and to love the world as He loves it. He has revealed himself in Jesus Christ, and continues to reveal himself in nature, in history, and in the inner life. His name is to be praised forever and ever. Amen.

Example 9

I believe in the God, who made and owns the world, and in the Son He sent to redeem the world, and in the Holy Spirit who is his presence in the world today.

I believe that everything I have is really his, given into my keeping for the good of the world.

I believe that I am expected to live spiritually in the world, dealing justly with all persons and contributing to the care of the poor and needy.

I believe that my own life and the lives of those I love will be blessed by my faithfulness in stewardship and my devotion to spiritual matters, for God rewards those who seek Him with a greater sense of his presence. Amen.

Example 10

I believe in God, who put music in the universe, so that the birds and the wind, the animals and insects, and the very stars in their courses are the makers of melody.

I believe in Christ, whose message of love and grace enables me to sing from the depths of my being praising God for my salvation and for the redemption of all whom put their trust in Him.

I believe in the Holy Spirit, who touches the strings of my life, the way a master musician touches the strings of a harp, causing me to produce beautiful resonance in the lives of others.

I believe in worship, not because it is reasonable or sensible but because I can't help it: my heart sings in response to my faith! Amen.

Prayers of Confession

Example 1

O God, who has shown us only love and forgiveness, we confess to You that we have not lived in love this week. We have experienced envy, hate, and resentment. We have not turned the other cheek or walked the second mile. We have cared for our own interests and forgotten the interests of others. We are not worthy of your love, but we ask your forgiveness. Let the spirit of Christ be renewed in us, that we may be safe from our heedless ways. Amen.

Example 2

Person	Saying
Reader	If we are truly repentant, God hears our prayers and forgives our sins.
All	He will take away our heart of stone and give us hearts of flesh.
Reader	For He is a good God.
All	And his mercy is from everlasting to everlasting. Amen.

Example 3

We confess, O God, that we have been less than childlike in our minds and hearts. We have labored for that which does not satisfy, and given ourselves to things that do not build up the family of God. Our hearts have been anxious for rank and personal welfare, and not for the coming of your kingdom. Forgive us, we pray, and redeem us from all our sin. In the name of the everlasting Savior, Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Example 4

Person	Saying
Reader	Christ has borne our sins and carried our sorrows.
All	He has loved us when we were unworthy of love.
Reader	Surely God has forgiven us for Christ's sake, and made us to be children of the promise.
All	He has heard our prayer and will receive us in love and rejoicing. Amen.

Prayers of Confession

Example 5

I have done a lot of running this week, O Lord, but much of it was not for You. I have run in a lot of circles because I failed to organize my days in prayer. I have run down a lot of dead-end streets because I was not following the Spirit's leadership. I have run in loneliness because I was not running for love of others. I have run with a sense of heaviness because I was running under my own power. Forgive me, O Lord, and help me to find the right track for my life again. Let running become fun again, and let me praise You as I run. Through Jesus Christ, who is the greatest runner of all. Amen.

Example 6

Person	Saying
Reader	God always hear the prayer of a sincere heart.
All	I am sincere, Lord, help my insincerity.
Reader	Surely God has forgiven our sins, and is moving among us even now to restore in us the true spirit of sincerity. Amen.

Example 7

Compared with your will, O God, our ways are crooked and not straight; our desires are selfish and not generous; our devotion is shallow and not deep. We have used your name without seriousness, and we have lived without gratitude for all your gifts. Forgive us, we ask, and turn our hearts to true repentance. Let the spirit of Christ convert and dwell in us, that we may honor You with our entire beings. For your name's sake. Amen.

Example 8

Person	Saying
Reader	God is a God of holiness and justice.
All	God is also a God of mercy and forgiveness.
Reader	He has promised to forgive our sin if we devoutly call upon his name.
All	He will hear our prayer and take away our guilt, in the name of Christ our Lord. Amen.

Prayers of Confession

Example 9

We have not loved the world, O Lord, as we should. We have not forgiven our enemies seventy times seven. We have not gladly turned the other cheek when ALL have offended us. We have not gone the second mile with most ALL, and with some not even the first. We have not befriended the stranger or spoken kindly of the foolish. Yet You have loved us with a steady and unchangeable love. You have been generous to us far beyond our worth, and merciful when we deserved no mercy. Forgive us, Lord, for seeing the faults of others and not seeing our own. Receive us again as your followers, and teach us anew how to love and be loved. For yours is indeed the kingdom that will be forever. Amen.

Example 10

I admit to You, O God, that I am often distressed by the daily news: by the failure of nations to agree, by the insistent problems of hunger and war and economy; by crime and negligence and immorality. I wish my sense of the presence of Christ were stronger and I had more confidence in his eternal victory over the world. Then I would not be shaken by the winds of adversity, but would stand like a tree planted by the living waters. Forgive my weakness, O God, and deepen my faith in your word. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Example 11

Person	Saying
Reader	This is a true word, and worthy of all acceptances.
All	He has borne our shortcomings, and by his stripes we are healed.
Reader	He has carried captivity captive, and won our salvation forever.
All	The Lord's name be praised forever and ever. Amen.

Example 1

Lord, You had a purpose when You led each of us out on the face of this vast ocean, in this mighty ship. Did You want us to learn to appreciate others? Did You want us to learn to value what we had to leave behind on shore? Did You want to draw us out here so that we might at last be alone, with our thoughts and memories, and with You? Whatever your purpose, make it clear to us, Lord, and give our loneliness meaning. Amen.

Example 2

Heavenly Father, now it is time again to ask for your blessing. At this moment we are again separated from our loved ones. Help us, O Lord to bear our bitter loneliness because of their absence. Help us to fight temptation. Guide us in the right way in order that will be successful in achieving our goals. Make us the instrument of your peace. And thank You Lord for everything. Amen.

Example 3

Thank You, for taking the helm for us as You always do. You direct us with your Infinite Being full of grace, wisdom, knowledge, and understanding, and You lead those in authority over us this night. For the loved ones of every household represented, tonight we pray; both near and far, home and abroad. For peace on Earth and good will toward our neighbors, and for a restful sleep — we thank You. Amen.

Example 4

Lord, throughout our days and nights of sailing, we pray that You help us all to gain a stronger sense of understanding toward our fellow crewmembers, and to keep in our hearts the realization that we are all experiencing the same feelings of confinement, the same feelings of restriction from activities we have grown accustomed to while at home. And most painful of all, feelings of loneliness, feelings of being separated from those whom we hold close in our hearts. So, Lord help us to remain conscious of this, so that we can all get along so much better. After all, can we honestly expect world peace, when we are not at peace with each other? Thank You God! Amen.

Example 5

Lord, on a deployment like this and at this time of year, we come to You with many prayers. For friends, for loved ones, for the sick and lonely, we pray for those who have no one else to pray for them. But Lord, if only one prayer is granted this evening, let it be that our mighty ship be always the deterrent to world hostility it was meant to be, and ever the defender of world peace we all know it could be! Amen.

Example 6

Dear Lord, help us to overcome our fears of today, and to look to You from Whom comes our strength. Teach us to love our enemies, and trust in You, for You have told us that You will always be there when we need a friend. Lord, we carry a heavy burden upon our shoulders and as long as we have You to lead and guide us our burdens will be light. Lord, protect us from the evil that prevails from day to day. Watch over our loved ones and protect them while they rest at night. Keep them safe as You have kept us and when it seems they can't bear it any longer give them the strength to go that extra mile of the way. Lord, watch over the crew of this ship and keep us safe as we sail the oceans of the world. In thy name we pray. Amen.

Example 7

Dear Lord, Our Father, Almighty One, Our hope and joy, our Eternal Son. From those of us, so far from home whose hearts at times seem so alone, grant us your peace and abiding life from your heavenly home above. Bless us with strength and will to carry on when the pressures are rough, and the days are long. We of this ship pray not for a lighter load, but help to carry it, on whatever our road. We pray to You for what we may lack: We pray to You Lord for a stronger back. Take care of our loved ones while our duty calls: Take care of our ship, Lord, take care of us all. Amen.

Example 8

Father in Heaven, when You created us in your image, You made us your sons. Make us know always that nothing can ever lessen the love You have for us — nothing we have been, nothing we are, nothing we may become. Help us to see your great love all our days, until this life ends and we return to You, who at the very beginning called us into being. Amen.

Example 9

Dear Lord, living in close proximity as we do, You know our tempers flash sometimes and we hurt other people with thoughtless words or actions. Give us the courage to go back later and try to heal the injury that we caused. Lord, You are the Great Healer. In healing our injuries help us recall that your healing and forgiveness have no limits. Then help us to ask forgiveness and forgive freely as many times a day as we need to. Amen.

Example 10

Lord, help me and my shipmates to perform to our potential throughout this cruise. Grant us the good humor to perform even the most mundane tasks cheerfully. Let us help one another through the rough times. Allow us to safely complete our journey better individuals than the one who began it. Amen.

Example 11

Let us pray. Let us pray for strength to try and love all humanity. Love comes from thinking of every man or woman as your brother or sister, because we are the children of God. Love means no severe judging, no resentments, no malicious gossip, and no destructive criticism. It means patience, understanding, compassion, and helpfulness. Dear God, we pray that we may realize that You love all of us, since You are the Father of us all. May we in turn have love for all your children. Amen.

Example 12

I say these words to give me strength. I mean them with utmost intent; nothing to hide nor to conceal. I've opened by heart; my soul can feel. I wait for You; your day is near: your kingdom on Earth, I show no fear. Stay with me in the time of despair; comfort me within this prayer. So, Lord, I ask the Heavens above to grant my life a true honest love. Amen.

Example 13

O Lord God Almighty, bless this ship: In it may there be health, chastity, victory over sin, humility, strength while we are away from our loved ones, goodness of heart, gentleness, full observance of your law, and gratitude to God. Lord graciously send your Holy Angel from Heaven to watch over, to cherish, to protect, to abide with, and to defend all who dwell upon this ship, both now and forever. And please, Lord, watch over our loved ones while we are away. In his Holy Name we pray. Amen.

Example 14

Heavenly Father, our time is all but over. The cost has been paid by your strength in moments of stress, tension and fatigue, when You kept us safe and out of trouble. We ask You as your humble flock to continue guiding us all the way home; but most especially to look out for my fellow "blue shirts" who keep the birds up, keep the food cooking, keep the ship running, and my radioman colleagues, who maintain "COMMS" always, so home will always be there. Amen.

Example 15

Dear Father, You forget the words and actions of my past, because in the race of life You want me first, not last. You lead me back when I stray, and everyday You draw me near You. Lord, when trials come my way, give me strength to walk your way, and bring this sailor home some day. Thank You Father for health, home, and your peace from above. But most of all for your Spirit from above. And now Holy Father guard "the home front" while we're here. Watch and protect those we hold so dear. In Jesus' Name, I pray. Amen.

End of Patrol Prayers

Example 1

Yes, Lord, the time is approaching for our return; days drag on as if to say we've covered a long trail; but the nights bring our thoughts back to You with concern and happy encounters with loved ones we left at sail. Ensure we remember only the good times of our growing; placing in our hearts that which You want us to recall; allowing us to build our lives, like the river — ever flowing. We thank You, O Lord, for the friendships we have established during this cruise. Companions help us to be at ease, ourselves, comfortable. O Lord, we know who they are. They are people who come to our rescue — not to save us — for we often bring pain upon ourselves — but those whose laughter, loyalty, and respect allows us to relax and to gather our forces and come alive again. Help us to recognize that your goodness and blessing is neither an abstraction nor an illusion, but evidenced by the gift of others You have given us. Cause us to realize that among our friends we experience your presence — your grace during difficult times. Some say that hell is other people. True, but so is Heaven. Lest we forget, O Lord, we thank You this night for our friends. Amen.

Example 2

O Lord, in moments of reflection we often find that if we were to paint a picture of our inner selves — that spiritual center known only to ourselves — we would find not clarity, but a confusion of form and color. For each of us is in our own way incomplete, half men, spiritual dwarfs, never having reached maturity. And yet, our dreams this night confirm what visions, even greatness, lie within us. We often write ourselves off as hasbeens, collections of discarded and broken promises, 2.8 on the intimacy scale. And yet, O God, your living Word confirms that we are worth dying for. Why, O Lord, do You think more of us than we do of ourselves? O God, bring us in line with your truth. Help us to die in You so that we might live in You. It's that important. For this night, grant us peace. Amen.

Example 3

O Lord, we come to You this evening for no other reason than to simply acknowledge that You are God, the King of the universe, the Lord of Life. All that is, O God, rests in You. You are the Alpha and Omega, the one before whom we bow our heads in reverence and devotion. O Lord, You know well that it hasn't been easy to find You. Our faith has often slipped between the cracks. Reality has pressed us to the wall. And yet we conclude, O God, that even though it is often hard to believe it is even harder not to believe. We need You as a son needs a father, a student a teacher, a friend a companion, and a wanting man a savior. O Lord, we thank You for being with us, especially in the dangers that surround us. Help us to continue to approach You with confidence and prayer. Be with us and bless us, O Lord, as we begin a new day. Give us peace this night. Amen.

End of Patrol Prayers

Example 4

O God, in a world that loves but little and distrusts in megatons, we need more evidence of your sustaining presence, your promise of peace. Cynical men continue to point out the many wooly-clad wolves that roam about. Help what we do to be more than gesture, O Lord. Affirm us as we stand our ground and thus sacrifice our safety so that others can be provided a forum for their separate needs. Allow our courage in the face of constant threat to bring hope to this troubled land. Peace remains a slippery and elusive affair, O Lord. We can't quite make it on our own. Amen.

Example 5

O Lord, from the evening shadows we call your name. Into your hands we commit ourselves and seek your mercy and peace. Help us to recognize your grace that enables us to complete and make sense of what we started at morning light. Heal us from sin-made wounds. Assure us of your pardon and comfort us with your Word. Bring us through the night rested and refreshed. Amen.

Example 6

O Lord, each of us has fears that betray and worries that capture and shake out our joy. We find ourselves in limbo because we are neither here nor there. We are in a time of transition, of getting ready. Change and chance surround us. Help us, O Lord, to return to your presence. Cause us to find the point and purpose of each day. All we ask is that You keep us on our feet so that we might walk with You. Bless us this night and grant us rest. Amen.

Example 7

Holy Father, the men of this ship work hard. They work long hours, often in hot, dangerous, or difficult circumstances. They work whether tired or rested. For the life of our ship and the performance of our mission requires — no, demands — that we all put our shoulders to the wheel. But let us remember, Lord, why this ship exists, and what we are really about. For the labor we give is a labor for the defense of our land. We work for our families, for our friends, for our freedoms, and for a better world. We work that our nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal, shall not perish from the Earth. And we know, Lord, that in large measure, the measure of a man is his work. Give us strength, we pray Thee, to do our work as laborers who need not be ashamed. Amen.

End of Patrol Prayers

Example 8

Lord of the Sea, we know how to supply ourselves materially, but only You can supply our deepest needs. We know how to run an engineering plant, but only your fire within us can give us power of life. We know how to repair broken equipment, but only You can repair the brokenness within us. We can do preservation work, but only You can preserve us beyond death. We know a lot about healing bodies, but only You can heal our hearts and minds. We can arm ourselves with weapons, but only You can defend us against evil. We can keep records of our official service, but only You can record us in the Book of Life. We know how to take a ship across the ocean, but only You can chart our course to that final shore. Quiet our souls this night that we may listen and hear You say, "Peace, be still." In your name we pray, Amen.

Decommissioning Invocation	O Lord, Our Heavenly Father, we invoke your divine blessing as we gather to decommission the She has rendered many years of distinguished service on behalf of freedom loving people and has upheld the highest traditions of the United States Coast Guard. We pay respect and tribute to the officers and men who sailed her on the high seas in times of war and peace. We express our gratitude for the preservation of this ship from the dangers of the sea, and the violence of the enemy and for bringing her safely to this hour. May we, like her, live our lives with a similar devotion that when our tour on Earth is over, we may hear your "Well Done." In your Holy Name we pray. Amen.
Change of Command Invocations	O God our Father, as we face a change of command, give us faith to believe that You make all things work together for good to them that love You. Strengthen our conviction that your hand is upon us, to lead us and to use us in working out your purposes in the world. Even though we may not see the distant scene, let us be willing to take one step at a time and trust in You for the rest. Give us a boldness of faith that has conviction as well as sentiment, and take from us all fear except the fear of failing to do your will. Today we pray especially for open minds, a willingness to receive new light and to respond to new challenges. Let not the past be so dear to us that we attempt to enshrine it and thus limit the future. Keep our eyes and ears ever open to your truth and your word — so that we always may be ready to respond to You, however and whenever and wherever You happen to speak to us. In your Holy Name we pray. Amen.
	Eternal God, in whom we live and move and have our being, we ask your blessings today as we participate in this most impressive Coast Guard Tradition the change of command ceremony. Today we honor the outstanding leadership has given through these past years as
	We offer special thanks for the personnel in this command who have given of their talents and dedication in service. For the spouses and families who have given encouragement and exercised more than their share of patience, we offer special thanks.
	Grant, O God, that each of us might realize our own self-worth and the need for our talents exercised to the best of our abilities in this command, in our Coast Guard, in our beloved country, and in this your world.
	We pray that may have good memories of the years he/she has commanded Bless him/her in his/her new duty. Amen.

Change of Command Invocations (Continued)

Dear Lord God, as we gather to commemorate this changing of command, we are thankful for the promises of assistance we receive from You in your Word. We are reminded of the words of Isaiah —

"Don't you know, haven't you heard?

- ... the Lord is the everlasting God,
- ... the creator of the ends of the Earth!
- ... the Lord cannot grow weary or tired,
- ... the Lord gives strength to the weary,
- ... and power to the weak

Youths grow tired and weary, young men stumble and fall.

Yet those who hope in the Lord will

- . . . renew their strength
- ... soar like eagles
- ... run and not grow weary
- ... walk and not grow faint"

Father, we are thankful for the hope that these verses give us. We pray that You would give strength to these two men as they each assume new responsibilities and duties. For the individuals within this command, Father, we pray that these promises would be a reality in their lives as they accept the responsibility to be prepared for action anytime and anywhere. May your wisdom guide these two men in the many areas of challenge they will face. Amen.

Change of Command Benediction

Eternal Father, we pray that your blessing might rest upon this ship, her commanding officer, and this crew. May they face with courage the dangers of the sea and the menace of hostile forces. Bring them safely through all threats. Strengthen and sustain their families who endure the stress, the separation, and the sacrifices required to transform these many individuals into one efficient crew. Grant to each of us your grace. Grant to all of us your peace. Amen.

Prayer for Memorial Day

Eternal Father, who alone rules the destinies of nations and who has deemed that men should live in freedom and not fear, awaken in us a new appreciation of our land that we may apply ourselves to the great work of keeping alive a sense of freedom. Grant us your spirit as we honor those who have fought a good fight and finished the course. On this day we call to remembrance those who served in far off places and have laid down their arms to march into that land of eternal peace. We remember the sufferings, the fears, and the horrors of what they endured. It is a time for us to realize that much of our best blood has been spilled — all over the world — so that we might live free and unchained! May they, and those who suffer wounds for peace, as well as their families who valiantly and silently also serve, receive rest from their struggles and a "well done" from You, Captain of their souls.

Permit us never to forget our comrades-in-arms from whose fallen hands we have taken up the sacred cause of freedom. Today, we consecrate unto You the debt of our national gratitude, which is their rightful due. Keep sacred their sacrifice in our hearts. Keep holy our course in your sight. Enkindle within us a flame of selfless unwavering devotion to duty that we may never be found wanting in those qualities of spirit and mind which alone are able to preserve hearth and home, the peace of our nation, and the tranquility of the world. We earnestly implore your providential care as we face the grim and great task, which lies ahead. May the day soon come when we can lay down arms and more earnestly give our attention to do justice, to live in kindness, and to walk humbly in your sight. Amen.

Ship Launching Invocation

Almighty God, we acknowledge your master design in all creation and your authority to direct our every act. How small our accomplishments seem when compared to the majesty and wonder of your works! Yet we stand with pride before this symbol of what human hands and minds can do, and celebrate the commitment of the men who will breathe life into this structure.

We give You thanks for the skills and dedication that will keep this ship afloat and efficient through many miles of trackless oceans. May those who lead this ship be granted wisdom in the ways of ships and men, and a tireless commitment to fair treatment of those in their charge.

May those who serve aboard this ship be given patience and a firm sense of their own value as persons. But Lord, let not our enthusiasm distract us from a prayer for whatever this ship cannot provide: peace on Earth and good will toward all people. We pray that the people of this planet might receive the divine gift of your peace, and know justice, security, and hope.

In our larger purpose, keep constantly before us our true mission as an instrument of peace and not of war. Expunge from our hearts and minds all hatred that causes divisions among thy people. When decisions must be made that require moral courage, help us to choose that which is right and forsake that which is wrong, that honor might appear more desirable than personal gain, that loyalty might be revered above life. When the time comes for us to stand up and be counted, we pray that we might be numbered among those who are found faithful. Be with us, Our Father, on all occasions that we may proudly bear the flag of the United States and the good will of her people to lands beyond the seas. Amen.

Memorial Service

Two centuries ago, Benjamin Franklin challenged a fledgling nation with these words: "Let us ever remember that our interests are in concord and not in conflict, and that our true greatness rests in our victories of peace rather than those of war."

It is in the spirit of that challenge, that we offer this prayer: "Almighty God, we stand here today to pay tribute to people, living and dead, who have gone down to the sea in ships. Accept our thanksgiving for their sacrifices and the sacrifices of their families that have purchased for us a free land. Cause us never to take for granted their devotion to liberty.

Grant, we pray, joy and fulfillment to those still living; and for those who are at rest, grant thy peace, until men everywhere shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks . . . and learn of war no more." Amen.

A Prayer to the Mother of God

O my most Holy Lady, the Mother of God, by thy holy and all-powerful prayers remove from me, thy humble and burdened servant, despair, forgetfulness, lack of understanding, and negligence, and take away all unclean and blameworthy thoughts from my heart and from my darkened mind quench the flame of my passions, for I am poor and lost; deliver me from many cruel recollections and undertakings and set me free from all evil actions; for Thou are blessed of all generations, and thy most honorable name is glorified unto ages and ages. Amen.

Marine Corps Birthday

O Lord, throughout the years the United States Marines have served with pride and dedication. The mission of the Marine Corps is not an easy one. Those of us who are marines are grateful to serve our country in its bravest Corps. We are grateful for past examples of readiness, courage, persistence, and dedication. O God, help us as we seek to be always faithful, serving as You would have us serve, in this age and the ages to come. Amen.

Commissioni	ng
Invocation
Example 1

Dear Father in Heaven, many ships and many men have gone to sea. Some have sailed for conquest, others to explore new worlds.

The officers and crew of _____stand as You have created them, with blood from Europe, Asia, and Africa. Their colors are different, their accents are different, even their prayers are different. But one quality is common – they are free! Believing that all are created equal and that all share the same freedoms, our Coast Guard seeks no reward other than the peace and freedom that You have promised.

Lord, we now commission a new vessel of liberty. Medal it with honor, forge it in faith so that the entire world can say, "There is hope, there is freedom. Here comes the _____." Amen.

Commissioning Invocation Example 2

Almighty and eternal God, who art the fountain of all wisdom and power, we invoke thy blessing upon this ship. We praise Thee for this memorable and climactic moment of human achievement. We rejoice that under the dispensation of thy providence, in this particular moment of history, Thou have made it possible for the ingenuity, skill, and labor of free people to bring this ship into being. May there come now, to those who have been laborers in its planning and construction, the inner satisfaction of having done their tasks worthily and well.

As we christen the _____ we commend her to thy guidance and care. Grant that her services may be used in the preservation of peace, and for war only when the defense of freedom shall so dictate.

To this petition we add also our supplications for the President of the United State and all others in authority. We ask thy blessing, too, upon all that serve in the Armed Forces of our nation, particularly those who are making sacrifices in the troubled areas of the world. Be pleased to protect and uphold them with thy love and care.

Finally, O God, unite us all in an eternal purpose, to preserve and bear aloft the torch of freedom and peace among nations. To thy honor and glory we offer this prayer. Amen.

A Prayer for the Coast Guard

To breathe upon the waters and give life, to safeguard the law, to rescue floundering souls from their pride or peril, these are the traits of the God of history. In their own way, dear Lord, the men and women of the Coast Guard have striven to imitate your bearing and manner since those first cutters set sail in 1790. Their boldness and courage have encircled this land with a new prayer of hope, a cry of salvation rising from your imperiled, abandoned and lost, a phrase cherished by all the people of this land of promise. It resounds from coast to coast with the simple declaration, "Thank God, here comes the Coast Guard!"

On this anniversary, we invoke your blessings upon the oldest service of our nation. Bless our ships and our crews, bless those who command and those who serve and since, in your timelessness, You were a presence in 1790 as You are to this day. Bless this new world laden with old sins. Bless our country and especially bless our Coast Guard. And we promise You, dear Lord, that since You will not abandon these turbulent waters, then neither shall we. Amen.

Retirement Prayer

Eternal Father, we ask for a very special blessing. A blessing upon who has given many years of service not only for his country but also for the God-ordained dream of peace in our world. Such service has meant sacrifices, chief of which have been the long separations from home and family. We rejoice with him on his retirement day. Bless the future years. May they be a time of enjoyment and peace, filled with the presence of loved ones and friends. In your name we pray. Amen.

A Litany in Memory of Dr. Martin Luther King

Person	Saying
Reader	O Lord, have mercy upon us.
All	O God, have mercy upon us.
Reader	From hypocrisy used to save face and create the illusion of commitment to racial justice and equality.
All	Save us, Lord.
Reader	From the death of our souls and the deadening of our hearts to the cries of the poor and the disenfranchised.
All	Save us, Lord.
Reader	From misplaced priorities, for seeking personal security advantage without accepting or understanding the consequences of our actions in the lives of others
All	Help us, Lord.
Reader	For a curious spirit that seeks out and secures an environment in which we respect the rights, differences, and potential of other human beings.
All	Help us, Lord.
Reader	We acknowledge that words hurt, insensitivity to the realities of racial injustice crushes the human spirit and that our unwillingness to accept true commitment to change embitters us all.

A Prayer for Relatives and Friends

O God, our heavenly Father, who loves mankind, and art most merciful and compassionate, have mercy on thy servant's ______ for whom I humbly pray to Thee, commending them to thy gracious care and protection. Be Thou, O God, their guide and guardian in all their undertakings; lead them in paths of thy truth, and draw them nearer to Thee, that they may lead a godly and righteous life, in thy love and fear, doing thy will in all things. Defend them against the assaults of the enemy, and grant them wisdom and strength to resist all temptations and corruption's of this life; and direct them in the way of salvation, through thy Son our Savior Jesus Christ, and the prayers of the Mother of God and thy blessed Saints. Amen.

A Prayer for our Enemies

Thou who prayed for them who crucified Thee, O Lord, Lover of the souls of men, and who did command thy servants to pray for their enemies, forgive those who hate us and turn our lives from all harm and evil to brotherly love and good works. As thy first martyr Stephen prayed to Thee for his murderers, O Lord, so we fall before Thee and pray; forgive all who hate and maltreat us and let not one of them perish because of us, but let all be saved by thy grace. For this we humbly bring our prayer, that with one accord and one heart we may glorify Thee whom alone loves mankind. Amen.

A General Thanksgiving

Almighty God, Father of all mercies, we, Thine unworthy servants, do give Thee most humble and hearty thanks for all thy goodness and loving-kindness to us, and to all men. We bless Thee for our creation, preservation, and all the blessings of this life; but above all, for Thine inestimable love in the redemption of the world by our Lord Jesus Christ; for the means of grace, and for the hope of glory. And, we beseech Thee, give us the due sense of all thy mercies, that our hearts may be unfeignly thankful; and that we show forth thy praise, not only with our lips, but in our lives, by giving up ourselves to thy service, and by walking before Thee in holiness and righteousness all our days; through Jesus Christ our Lord, to whom, with Thee and the Holy Ghost, be all honor and glory, world without end. Amen.

A Prayer of St. Chrysostom

Almighty God, who hast given us grace at this time with one accord to make our common supplications unto Thee; and dost promise that when two or three are gathered together in thy name, Thou wilt grant their requests; fulfill now, O Lord, the desires and petitions of thy servants, as may be most expedient for them, granting us in this world knowledge of thy truth, and in the world to come life everlasting. Amen.

Example 1

O God, tonight we are aware of the bountifulness of thy world. We pause to thank Thee for the fullness of thy love, which we so often have experienced through — people to love and friends to cherish — tasks to work and to accomplish — beautiful skies and seas to sail — and most of all — through thy ever-present grace. Amen.

Example 2

The Lord is my pacesetter; I shall not rush; He makes me stop and rest for quiet intervals; He provides me with images of stillness, which restore my serenity; He leads me in ways of efficiency through calmness of mind, and his guidance is peace; Even though I have a great many things to accomplish each day, I will not fret, for his presence is here; his timelessness, his all-importance will keep me in balance; He prepares refreshment and renewal in the midst of my activity by anointing my head with his oil of tranquility; My cup of joyous energy overflows; Surely harmony and effectiveness shall be the fruit of my hours; For I shall walk in the peace of my Lord, and dwell in his house forever. May the peace of God be yours as you give of your best in service to those in your care. Amen.

Example 3

Eternal God, You have made each of us something special. Help us to work and develop our unique personalities. You intended for each of us to be an original, not a carbon copy of someone else. Thank You for making me different. Grant that I will always put my individuality to its best use for your work. Amen.

Example 4

Eternal God, we live in a day of instant replays. Only minutes after an exciting play has taken place in a game or event, it can be seen again. But I am aware that life cannot be replayed like that. I know that a bad day can never be taken back and a good day can never be erased. Help each of us to see that we cannot live on yesterdays. May we understand that each day must be lived with fresh vitality. May we see each day as a new gift from You to use for your glory. Amen.

Example 5

O Lord, as we come to the end of this day, we invite You into our lives. We have been busy. The pace is hectic and in many cases dangerous. We are under a lot of pressure. We have responsibilities to both those over us, and those who work for us. It seems there is no time for us to be quiet with all the activity that surrounds us. Oh Lord, in this moment, may all this stress drain away. Help us to relax, to recuperate, and in this night's rest to be renewed in body, mind, and spirit. Give us your peace. Amen.

Example 6

O Lord, tonight we ask your blessing upon our children at home. We remember the joy and freedom of childhood. Help us to be childlike as we experience life and enjoy it. Teach us now to have fun in the midst of the seriousness of our tasks. Be with our families this night we pray. Amen.

Example 7

Our Father, your fondest feelings must be reserved for the least pretentious and most genuine of us. Sailors must be your favorites. Some of us haven't found the virtues of humility, soft spoken or gentleness. Some of us tend to lead with our jaw and seem more ready to fight than switch. After long days at sea, You can tell your sailors by their red eyes and grubbiness, but their wills match their strong backs, and their respect and concern for each other is a wondrous thing. They are the salt of the deck—and their saltiness is honest and open. We are grateful for them as You love them especially, bless each one on ______, we ask this in your name. Amen.

Example 8

O God, it has been a busy and demanding day for many of us. Others will just be starting their watches and working hours. Help us to stop and catch our breath — to give You thanks for these moments in our lives. May we feel a sense of accomplishment for a difficult and dangerous job, done well. Give us, tonight, a very special sense of personal pride in our jobs, our ship, and ourselves. May that pride be obvious to all with which we come in contact. Bless each man on this ship tonight. Amen.

Example 9

Our Father, we are busy with so many things to be done in this great ship. Sometimes we have the impression that we are not important and our jobs don't mean very much. Some of us tend to be so wrapped up in our own little worlds, our shops, a piece of equipment, an airplane, or our division, and we fail to notice or even care about other shipmates. A ship, so large, can be very impersonal. We may fail to appreciate others who live and work throughout the ship. Help us to realize that we are important in your eyes and that we are important to one another. Our lives really depend on each other. We are brothers. Amen.

Example 10

Oh God, sometimes this ship seems so big, so many people, and sometimes we feel lost. Help us to feel a sense of belonging — especially those who are new aboard. We remember what it was like when we first reported. Remind us of our brotherhood and our common bond as shipmates. Be close to each of us — help us to reach out and be a friend. Amen.

Example 11

Oh God, You must know in your infinite wisdom that sailors are the most unique creatures of all your creation. Sailors come in all shapes, colors, sizes, and both sexes; we are serious, happy, frustrated, professional and sacrificing. You have called us from a humdrum world and challenged us to go the extra mile and be a part of a great team. Help us to always do our best, teach us to always do the right thing — it will gratify some and astonish the rest. Amen.

Example 12

Oh Lord, tonight we are reminded of our humanity again — that we are not God. We require sustenance, rest, and other essentials to keep our bodies going. As we are replenished at sea so that our mission might be accomplished and our bodies fed, we ask You to replenish our spirits with hope, love, and a sense of purpose. We ask in the name of our Lord. Amen.

Example 13

O God, in your presence we think of those from whom we are separated by distance, misunderstanding, circumstances, and death. You know the ache we feel for those who matter. Strengthen us to hold out and win. Grant us faith to entrust those we love to your care. Thank You Lord. Amen.

Example 14

Lord, many of us are like gale-beaten ships, arriving at last at a calm and sheltered cove. Our lines are frayed from incessant tension. Our sails are battered by sudden gusts of unexpected hardships. Our spars are broken where we were unable to withstand the force of temptations. Our decks are soaked, having been awash with the tears of worry and doubt. Refit us as we draw close to You in this quiet moment. Restore us with renewed courage that we each may set sail again, as stout ships able to head high into the wind and hold our course. We thank You that we can set our hearts like sextants upon You and navigate even perilous, uncharted seas with confidence because You are our North Star: absolute, constant, and dependable. Amen.

Example 15

Lord, thank you for not answering all my prayers. Most of my life I've prayed for special favors. I've pestered You for many selfish things. I've asked You to solve problems of my own creation. I have prayed that You would make life easy for me. I have prayed for sure ways to success and short cuts to material things when I should have been working to attain spiritual goals that really satisfy. I have asked for good health instead of exercising my body and being more careful about my diet and health habits. I have asked You to help me understand my fellow men when I should have been listening and trying to help them with their problems. I realize now that if You had answered all my prayers, I would be weak, dependent, and perhaps lazy. By forcing me to work out some of my own problems. You have helped me to become strong. Now my days are full of opportunities to live unselfishly. That's the most important thing for which I could have prayed. So thank You, Lord, for not giving me every wish and refusing to answer my prayers in my way; thus, You are helping me to become the person You wanted me to be. Amen.

Example 16

Dear God, help me be a good sport in this game of life. I don't ask for any easy place in the lineup. Put me anywhere You need me. I only ask that I can give You 100% of everything I have. If all the hard drives seem to come my way, I thank You for the compliment. Help me remember that You never send a player more trouble than he can handle. And help me, Lord, to accept the bad breaks as part of the game. May I always play on the square, no matter what the others do. Help me study the Book so I'll know the rules. Finally, God, if the natural turn of events goes against me and I'm benched for sickness or old age, help me to accept that as part of the game, too. Keep me from whimpering that I was framed or that I got a raw deal. And when I finish the final inning, I ask for no laurels. All I want is to believe in my heart that I played as well as I could and that I didn't let You down. Amen.

Example 17

Our Father in Heaven, may we learn from You, the Only All-Powerful Being, how to use the power that each one of us possesses in different degrees. You have been merciful and understanding to us; yet we have often closed our hearts to others. You have forgiven us so many times, yet we are slow to forgive those who have wronged us. Teach us that only the truly powerful can be kind and merciful and forgiving, because only the truly powerful need not show off their might. Amen.

Example 18

Lord, a wise man once said: "Watch your thoughts, they become words; watch your words, they become actions; watch your actions, they become habits; watch your habits, they become character; watch your character, and for it becomes your destiny." Help me watch more closely. Amen.

Example 19

Almighty God, We know that You plot the course of our character with skill and patience. We ask for strength that comes from above, that we might faithfully respond to the Pilot of our souls. Amen.

Example 20

Our Father, God and Creator, we turn again to You for refuge from the hustle and hurry of the world without, and from the fury and fears within. Help us, O God, to find that peace and rest which can be found only in You; that we may meet the future with grateful hearts, the difficulties with willingness. And keep us, Father, from petty irritations. We pray for those among us who have been struck by illness or misfortune . . . or who are suffering any trial . . . for those who have been taken from our midst . . . and especially for those loved ones and family who anxiously await our return. May You keep both them and us in the palm of your protecting hand . . . this night . . . and evermore. Amen.

Example 21

Dear God. I opened my pay envelope today. You guessed it, I got what I was told I'd get. (I'm always hoping Christmas will come early.) The thought strikes me that most of us get what we deserve. Others get a lot less. Some of us owe the bank. Most days are like paydays. It takes a lot of faith in ourselves, each other, and in You. You won't always see that faith because it doesn't flash like a neon sign, but it's deep inside, inside each one of us. Amen.

Example 22

Dear God. This afternoon during GQ, in the midst of heavy seas and rain, I saw off the stern a perfectly shaped rainbow. I was reminded of Noah and his Ark and how the rainbow became for him a sign of your blessing and a promise of your presence. Times have changed considerably since Noah got underway. He never had to pass as many engineering examinations as we do. But we've got the people and the know how to get the job done. And today in the rainbow we saw the promise of your blessing and presence. Amen.

Example 23

Dear God. Tonight we think of the folk's back home. Frequently we avoid thinking about them, primarily because thinking about them pulls on the heartstrings. But seldom are they out of our thoughts. We re-read old letters, look at pictures with such regularity that we see fine details, and of course we count the days. Bless our loved ones and keep them in your protection. Amen.

Example 24

Heavenly Father, she said she did not want a Christmas present. "Sure you don't," I laughed, "and when Christmas morning comes and you don't get anything, I'll be in a world of trouble." "No you won't," she insisted, "we can't afford a present right now. You can get me one when we have more money." She was right! We didn't have much money. The car payment, the rent, groceries, the children's clothes all seemed to require that more money go out than we had coming in. So, I decided that she was right. I would wait and buy her present as soon as we could afford it. On Christmas morning we watched the children open their presents and as they rushed outside with their brand new toys, there was one gift left. It was for me. She had managed to get it out of the grocery money. There was nothing there for her! She never said a word, but I do not think the day was a very happy one for her. I know it wasn't for me. Father, help us to love one another. Not that we have to give things to each other, but that we do find ways to make each other feel special. It hurts to be forgotten or taken for granted. There are a lot of important people in our worlds. Our wives, our children, our parents and friends . . . the people we work with. If it is in our power to make them feel good then let us do it. Let us give that gift, speak that word, and offer that touch that says "I value you." Amen.

Example 25

Heavenly Father, in many ways our lives are like those thunderstorms we moved in and out of this morning. Sometimes things run smoothly and sometimes winds and sea batter us. We did not see the Sun or know when the lightning would stop streaking down at us. It's the same for all of us tonight, for none of our lives run exactly parallel courses, but sooner or later we all experience the same things. So Father, if this is a happy night, we offer thanks. If it is a difficult time, we pray for reassurance. We are all your children, unique and individual, and we pray that together we will be faithful to one another, true to the trust placed in us, and comforted by the grace that You hold out to us. For even though we live among the storms, we know that because of You, we will see the Sun again. Amen.

Example 26

Heavenly Father, a little boy once asked his father who had just returned from sea, "Dad, why is it I always had to put on a sweater whenever mom felt cold?" His dad answered, "Son, I know you don't understand this, but it's because she loves you!" The little boy might have asked another question similar to the first. "Dad, why did mom always get mad at you every time I did something wrong?" And the answer is similar too. "Because she missed me son." Father, a lot has been going on back home while we've been gone. Help us to say very tender, very loving words of thanks to those important people who love us and miss us. Bless us Father and those we love. Amen.

Example 27

Heavenly Father, these evening prayers come from all of us. Chaplains say the words, but the prayers belong to the ship, to everyone, and come from our hearts more than from our mouths. In some ways none of us really knows how another feels, because each of us must struggle with his own fears, cope with his own problems, hurt from his own pains, search for his own goals, forgive and be forgiven his own failures. In such matters Father, when we seek understanding and hope for encouragement, it is to You that we turn. In moments such as these, we reach beyond ourselves and our troubles to You . . . asking not so much for things, but for a second or two of your presence. Just your slightest touch, and the day will be blessed, the raw spots will be healed and there will be peace in the hours ahead. And so we pray to You Heavenly Father, Almighty, Everlasting God — all of us — giving thanks for this moment, your touch and our healing. Amen.

Example 28

O Lord our God, we confess that in dealings with our shipmates we often are like a clam, 98% mouth covered with a hard shell. A friend has a problem and rather than listen, we sound off. A job doesn't go quite right and rather than learn, we spout off. Lord, You made us with two ears for every mouth. Help us to take this hint from your creation. Make us slow to speak and ready to listen, that we may better understand and pull together to get the job done and this great ship safely home. Amen.

Example 29

Dear God. Someday it's a pleasure to be alive. Blue skies above and blue seas around. No pressing engagements. No last minute deadlines. Some time to play a little basketball or cards or just kick back and relax. For many of us that was the kind of day we enjoyed. Thanks Lord. Amen.

Prayers for the Dying

Introduction

There is always one possibility that a member may be seriously injured or become critically ill at a time when no Catholic priest, Protestant minister, or Jewish rabbi is available. At the request of the commanding officer and after determining from the doctor or corpsman that the man is critically ill, the lay reader can ask the sailor, if conscious, if he would care to say a prayer. Suitable prayers follow.

General

O Master and Almighty Lord, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, You have told us You desire all men to be saved and to come to the knowledge of the truth, and that You desire not the death of a sinner but that he turn again and live. We therefore implore You to absolve your servant from all sins from his youth until now. You alone can loose the bonds and restore the contrite. You alone are hope of the despairing and can remit the sins of everyone who trusts in You.

Receive now in peace the soul of your servant and give it rest in that place where all your saints dwell; through the grace of your Only-Begotten Son, our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, with whom You are blest, and your allholy and good and life-creating Spirit now and forever and unto ages of ages. Amen.

Catholic

The lay reader will recite an Act of Sorrow or Contrition with the dying person, or have him repeat it phrase-by-phrase after him.

Act of Contrition: O my God, I am heartily sorry for having offended You, and I detest all my sins because I dread the loss of Heaven and the pains of hell, but most of all because they offend You, my God, who are all good and deserving of all my love. I firmly resolve, with the help of your grace to confess my sins, do penance, and to amend my life. Amen.

Protestant

If a Protestant is seriously injured, critically ill, you may use the following prayer:

Lord Jesus, I do heartily confess unto Thee all my sins. And I truly repent of all the evil in my life, and I promise so to serve Thee with whole heart. I give my life to Thee and pray that Thou will forgive all my sins and purify my soul from all evil. Grant me thy salvation because I believe in Thee and thy holy promise that "God so loved the world that He gave his Only-Begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life, Lord Jesus, I believe. Amen.

Prayers for the Dying

Jewish

Father of Mercies, my life and death are in thy hands. Thou are one, eternal and all-powerful. Heal me and I shall be healed. But, if in thy wisdom and because of my many sins, Thou has differently decreed concerning me, I will humbly submit to thy will, praying that my pain and my suffering at this time will be acceptable in thy sight as the atonement for all my error. Into thy hands I commit my spirit. Thou are with me, I shall not fear. Have him say or say for him, "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God. The Lord is one. Praised be his name whose glorious kingdom is forever and ever. The Lord; He is God. Amen."

Orthodox

O Master and Almighty Lord, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, You have told us You desire all men to be saved and to come to the knowledge of the truth, and that You desire not the death of a sinner but that he turn again and live. We therefore implore You to absolve your servant from all sins from his youth until now. You alone can loose the bonds and restore the contrite. You alone are Hope of the despairing and can remit the sins of everyone who trusts in You.

Receive now in peace the soul of your servant and give it rest in that place where all your saints dwell; through the grace of your Only-begotten Son, our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, with whom You are blest, and your all-holy and good and life-creating Spirit, now and forever and unto ages of ages. Amen.

PRACTICAL GUIDES AND CHECKLISTS

How To Do Outreach

Introduction to Outreach

The influence of your lay reader ministry is extended as newcomers are effectively assimilated into your faith community. Focus on reaching out to and assimilating:

- Personnel who do not have a religious preference.
- Personnel whose preference is your faith group and who are either newly reported aboard or who are not an active participant in the program.

Outreach is not proselytizing. Effective outreach requires respecting the right of people to choose not to be involved in any religious program and the right of people to choose a faith group other than your own.

Use good advertising and personal invitations to reach out to new people. About 80% of all people who become involved in a religious program do so because of the personal invitation of a friend. Remember that people are quick to spot frauds. Genuine friendship requires love for the other person, letting the other person set the agenda, and inviting the other person to worship or another religious program only after that person has indicated an interest.

Characteristics of Good Advertisement

Some characteristics of a good advertisement are:

- Written in language the people you are trying to reach will understand.
- Highlights relationships and people rather than programs and institutions.
- Catches the attention of the desired audience.
- Composed of 60% space, titles, and pictures and 40% text.
- Is specific, focusing on one topic or issue.
- Has a standardized format.
- Regularly repeated.
- Placed where the people you are trying to reach will see it.
- Encourages the reader to take specific action.

How To Do Outreach

Writing Effective Advertisement

Steps in writing an effective advertisement:

- Who are you trying to reach?
- What does the person/group think/feel right now?
- What do you want the person/group to think/feel after reading the advertisement?

Effective Assimilation of Newcomers

Even with the most effective program for assimilating newcomers into your group, only 10-20% of first time visitors will become regular participants. Helping first time attendees become part of the faith community does not happen automatically. Visitors are looking for the friendliness and warmth of the people, the perceived benefit of the worship service/program, and the enthusiasm of the lay reader. Principles for the effective assimilation of newcomers include:

- Have someone other than the lay reader make a visitor follow-up contact within 24 hours of the person's first visit to one of your programs. The purpose of this contact is to encourage the visitor to return a second time. Do not expect or encourage the visitor to make a long-term commitment. The follow-up should be brief and non-manipulative. Thank the person for attending the first time and invite them to come a second time.
- If your faith community has more than 25 active participants, form small groups of 4-15 people. These groups may be prayer groups, Bible studies, discussion groups, etc. Try to start a new small group every few months. Once a group has been in existence for 3-12 months (maybe less if the ship is deployed) it becomes almost impossible for newcomers to join the group.
- Find a meaningful role for every participant in your faith group. For example, one person/team might rig for worship; another person/team might be responsible for advertising; another person/team might assist the lay reader in preparing the evening prayer; another person/team might plan community service projects.

How To Prepare a Devotional Message

Suggestions

Below are planning suggestions for lay readers to follow when preparing a devotional message:

- Maintain a close personal relationship with God.
- Maintain a genuine concern for your shipmates.
- Maintain a systematic program of Bible study.
- Keep the spiritual state and needs of your crew in mind in light of contemporary culture.
- Pray that the Holy Spirit will enable you to prepare and share devotionals that are Biblical/supportive.
- Select a text.
- Read the text in several versions (at least 3).
- Do an analysis of the text
 - Factual data.
 - Where does it fit in the total context of Scripture?
 - What is the O.T. & N.T. relationship?
 - What is the theme or central idea of the text?
- Do an exegesis of the text
 - This literally means to "lead out" or "read out" and refers to all those procedures necessary to identify the true meaning of a passage of Scripture.
 - What do you think the text is saying?
 - Read commentaries and find out what others think the text is saying?
- List possible applications of the text.
- Ask, "What is the text asking me and my hearers to do?"
- Prepare an outline of your devotion.
- Add illustrations to your outline.
- Add applications to your illustrations.
- Review your devotional message out loud one section at a time.
- Decide how you will end your message. (Conclusion)
- Decide how to begin your message. (Introduction)

How To Arrange for Divine Services During Port Visits

LOGREQ

Use the LOGREQ (logistic request message), which the ship sends prior to port visits, to request a Navy chaplain or civilian clergy to conduct divine worship services aboard the ship. Include information on the faith group(s) for which worship is desired and the preferred time and date for the service(s).

Alternatively, use the LOGREQ to request information on the place and time of divine worship services conducted in English ashore. The LOGREQ should specify for which faith group(s) this information is desired.

The operations officer will generally prepare the LOGREQ at least 48 hours prior to the port visit.

Lay Reader Worship Service Checklist

Sample Checklist

This checklist provides basic guidelines for lay readers in organizing worship services:

Worship Service Checklist
Item	Action	Yes	No
Time	Check with executive officer or operations officer to determine a good time for the worship service, ensuring that the service will not conflict with the command's schedule. Meal hours and major evolutions are inappropriate times for conducting lay reader worship services.
Place	Select a place to conduct the service. Factors to consider in selection of a space include the probable noise level, size of the space, privacy, cleanliness, and comfort. Good options are the crew's lounge, the mess decks, the wardroom, or officer's lounge, or a conference room.
Approval	Request that the executive officer approve the proposed time and place of the worship service.
POW/D Submission	Submit a POD/W note to the ship's office 2 days before the service.
