

Federal Reserve Chairman Greenspan Opposes Deficit-Financed Tax Cuts

“If you’re going to lower taxes, you shouldn’t be borrowing essentially the tax cut. And that over the long run is not a stable fiscal situation.”

- Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan
Testimony before House Budget Committee
September 8, 2004