What is a Discussion Board?

- Message exchange area
- Asynchronous tool
- “Pull” technology

Discussion Board Benefits

- Extends time for reasoned inquiry beyond class time
- Provides practice in critical reasoning
- Enables less talkative students to participate
- Allows students to answer each other's questions

Discussion Board Benefits (cont.)

- Enables use of secondary sources in discussions
- Stores a record or archive of conversations
- Allows participation of outside guests (or distant students) in discussions over a period of time

Blackboard Discussion Board Tour

- Forums – Discussion Board areas
- Thread – A series of messages
- Search – Blackboard has search functionality on the Discussion Boards.

Creating Discussion Board Questions

- A common element for learning in a typical classroom environment is the social and communicative interactions between student and teacher, and student and student. The ability to ask a question, to share an opinion with a fellow student, or to disagree with the point of view in a reading assignment are all fundamental learning activities.

Discussion Board Roles for Instructors

- Moderator
- Facilitator

Effective Discussion Board Questions

- Do not have “Yes” or “No” answers
- Do not have one correct answer – invite alternatives or expansion
- Suggest that there are degrees/gradations involved
- Use verbs that require complex thinking skills

Online Debates

- Online debates
 - Divide students into teams
 - Assign roles (moderator, note taker, rebuttal)
 - Require research to support argument
 - Encourage requests for explanations/defenses of views
- Result: a consensus position
