

David L. Greene, Energy

— For his seminal interdisciplinary research in engineering, statistics, and the social sciences, directed toward informing public policy on transportation-related energy use and environmental impacts

Steve Lindberg, Environmental Sciences

— For his pioneering science in the measurement and understanding of biogeochemical cycles and his mentoring of new scientists through collaboration

Herb Mook, Solid State

— For outstanding scientific leadership and pioneering experiments in the application of neutron scattering to materials research