

Protecting Your Privacy

In today's environment where numerous entities collect and store personal information, consumers are increasingly wary about their privacy. You want – and have the right – to be secure in the knowledge that your personal information is secure. The FCC has several regulatory programs in place to protect your privacy. Read our new factsheet to find out more about FCC's role in this important issue.

<http://www.fcc.gov/cgb/consumerfacts/protectingprivacy.pdf>