

Email

From: Stanley A. Hutchinson CIV NG ORARNG
June 13 2008
To: John Lilly, DSL

Classification: UNCLASSIFIED
Caveats: NONE

John,

I think the plan adequately covers OMD interests in the DSL parcel and I hadn't planned on sending anything more formal. As a caveat, though, if we are successful in obtaining a new armory site along 19th Street, we would want to pursue a road easement to access the training lands we lease from BLM to the east...possibly along the fairgrounds southern boundary.?.

From: Hutchison, Stanley A. CIV NG ORARNG
[<mailto:stanley.a.hutchison@ng.army.mil>]
Sent: Friday, June 13, 2008 9:15 AM
To: LILLY John
Cc: Manson, Joanne CIV NG ORARNG; Rejzek, James J 1LT MIL NG ORARNG; Willeford, James P CIV NG ORARNG
Subject: RE: S Redmond Tract and Redmond Armory Site (UNCLASSIFIED)

Classification: UNCLASSIFIED
Caveats: NONE

John,

I met with General Rees last Thursday. He expressed that siting a new armory on the DSL property along 19th Street is preferred to all other options that have been made available. Instead of planning for a site large enough to accommodate future construction of a barracks building and a replacement facility for the maintenance activity currently located adjacent to the airport, he prefers a site for a stand alone armory. So, instead of delineating a 20-acre parcel, we can get by with something in the neighborhood of 10-acres. Hopefully, the members of the South Redmond Collaborative Planning Group will find this alternative more palatable.

Please let me know if you have any questions or require additional information.

Stan