In accordance with the Common Crop Insurance Policy Basic Provisions, Section 3(e), the Risk Management Agency (RMA) today announced an additional price election for the 2000 crop year for non-oil (confectionery) sunflowers. There is no change in price election for oil type sunflowers. The additional price election for the crop year and associated prices are as follows:

The additional price election is available to all producers of non-oil (confectionery) sunflowers. When the additional price election is higher than the established price election, producers originally electing the established price may be impacted by changes to subsidy and administrative fees.
