

Small Business Profile: MISSOURI

Small businesses are the heart of Missouri's economy. Research by the Office of Advocacy shows that small businesses create most of the nation's net new jobs, and they bring dynamic ideas, innovative services, and new products to the marketplace. They account for almost all of the nation's employer firms and generate half of non-farm private output. New business creation is key to a state's ability to increase its gross state product, state personal income, and total state employment.¹ This small business profile uses the most recent data available to demonstrate the valuable contributions that small businesses make to Missouri's economic health.

Number of Businesses. Missouri had an estimated total of 508,900 small businesses.² Employer firms totaled 138,600 in 2006, up 1.5 percent from the previous year. Of this total, an estimated 97.9 percent, or 135,700 were small. Self-employment (incorporated and unincorporated) totaled 301,700 in 2006, a decrease from 304,100 in 2005. Non-employer firms totaled 375,400 in 2005, an increase of 3.7 percent since 2004. (Sources: U.S. Dept. of Labor, Employment and Training Administration; U.S. Dept. of Commerce, Census Bureau; U.S. Dept. of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics.)

Women-owned Firms. In 2002, businesses owned by women numbered 120,400, represented 27.4 percent of the state's 439,500 businesses, and generated $18.6 billion in revenues. Employer firms owned by women totaled 19,200, an increase of 17.1 percent since 1997. Women numbered 108,200 or 35.9 percent of the state's self-employed persons in 2006, an increase of 4.3 percent from the previous year. (Sources: U.S. Dept. of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics; U.S. Dept. of Commerce, Census Bureau.)

Minority-owned Firms.³ In 2002, Asian-owned firms totaled 6,400, and 2,500 of them were employer firms; Black-owned firms numbered 16,800, and 2,000 were employer firms; Hispanic-owned firms totaled 3,700, and 700 were employer firms. American Indian and Alaska Native-owned firms

² This estimate is based on the percent that small businesses are of the state's total businesses (see Table 1, 2004 firm size data). This percentage is multiplied by the total number of employer businesses in 2006 (Dept. of Labor). The 2005 number of non-employer firms is added to this total (Census Bureau).

numbered 3,300, and 400 of them were employer firms; while Native Hawaiian and other Pacific Islander-owned businesses numbered 100, and data on employer firms are unavailable. (Source: U.S. Dept. of Commerce, Census Bureau.)

Business Turnover. An estimated 15,805 new employer firms were created in 2006, which is 8.3 percent less than the number created in 2005. Business bankruptcies totaled 284 in 2006, down from 438 the previous year, while business terminations decreased from 20,100 in 2005 to 18,100 in 2006. (Sources: U.S. Dept. of Labor, Employment and Training Administration; Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts; U.S. Dept. of Commerce, Census Bureau.)

Employment. Small firms employed 50.4 percent of the state's non-farm private labor force in 2004, which was below the national average of 50.9 percent.⁴ These 122,800 firms accounted for 97.9 percent of the state's employer businesses, and they employed 1.2 million people (Table 1). Small businesses added a total of 39,000 net new jobs between 2003 and 2004 (Table 2). (Source: U.S. Dept. of Commerce, Census Bureau, Statistics of U.S. Businesses.)

Small Business Income. Non-farm proprietors' income, which is a share of small business income, increased by 4.3 percent, from $13.9 billion in 2005 to $14.5 billion in 2006.⁵ (Source: U.S. Dept. of Commerce.)

Finance. Commercial banks and savings institutions continued to be important sources of small business financing. The number of lending institution branches in the state increased in 2006 (Table 3).
