At each monthly meeting, the Board evaluates current rates and continually strives to offer a rate that is in concert with good business practices.

Don't Let Your Account go to the State

Here's an interesting fact you may not be aware of: If a checking or savings account remains inactive for five years, state law requires that the funds in it be transferred to the State. That's because after five years of inactivity, it is assumed that the person who holds the account is probably dead. (Note: interest payments do not constitute activity.)

Please Note that the state law has changed and the dormancy period for most categories of unclaimed property is NOW five years instead of seven.

Even if there is no activity to your account, there is a way to safeguard your money. Written or oral communication between the account holder and the institution protects the account. Should your funds get transferred, they are refundable from the state upon request.
