

Paul Schott Stevens
President and CEO
Investment Company Institute

Paul Schott Stevens has been President and CEO of the Investment Company Institute (ICI), the national association of U.S. investment companies, since 2004. He also is a Director of the ICI Mutual Insurance Company. From 1993–97, he was General Counsel of ICI.

Previously, Stevens was a partner of Dechert LLP and a leader of that firm's financial services practice. He was chief counsel for mutual funds and international enterprise at Charles Schwab & Co. Between 1985 and 1989, he served at the White House and the Pentagon, as Special Assistant for National Security Affairs to President Reagan, Executive Secretary of the National Security Council, and in other senior positions. Upon leaving government service, he was awarded the Department of Defense Medal for Distinguished Public Service, DOD's highest civilian decoration.

Stevens currently is a member of the Finance Council of the Catholic Diocese of Arlington and a trustee of the Yale Library Associates. He attended Yale University (receiving a B.A., magna cum laude, as a Scholar of the House) and the University of Virginia School of Law. With his wife Joyce and their four sons, he lives in Alexandria, VA.
