

Regarding your article of February 28, 2008 in The Villager, will something finally be done about the airplane noise? I'm sure you have gotten thousands of complaints. Many of us have simply given up on that route. The pilots continue to come in low and loud with complete lack of consideration for safety or noise to our neighborhood. It isn't a matter of if, but when, one of them comes down on top of us. Up to now, what is their penalty, if any, other than knowing people have complained? They seem to be thumbing their noses at us, and continue to do whatever they want.

We are all pretty aware they should be following a flight path, and it is not on top of our roofs. At 3:07 PM today, I was pulling onto our cul-de-sac, and a large jet was flying so low it looked like it was going to clip the tops of trees of the houses across the street. That was not unusual. I could describe some of the planes, including colors. Do they care? We think not, or it would have stopped long ago. You often cannot tell if they are taking off or landing, they are so close to the rooftop.

A suggestion - since the Arapahoe County Commissioners are so free wheeling with giving building permits to expensive housing adjacent to the airport, and people are dumb enough to buy the houses, why not just fly over them? We have lived here since 1979 in what used to be a quiet neighborhood. We can't sit outside in the summer and have a conversation. Our pictures constantly hang crooked on the walls due to the vibration of the large engines. It's ridiculous.

Please try to do something constructive about the problem once and for. The Complaint Line is useless.

Sincerely,

Darlis Lamb
