

Aging in the Workplace:
Maximizing a Valuable Human Resource

October 24 - 25, 2007

The Ranch, Loveland, CO

The multigenerational workplace is here!

How can you...

- benefit from a national workforce where over 1/3 of employees are age 55 and older?
- maximize older employees as a valuable resource for your business or organization?
- attract or retain experienced workers, while integrating their needs into company policies and multigenerational work environments?

Attend and...

- get an update on current research and trends about the impact of older workers;
- learn strategies to maximize older workers as a valuable resource;
- understand workplace environments that meet the needs of older employees and optimizes their performance.

You should attend if you are a...

human resource professional, employer, manager, volunteer agency director, educator, employment trainer, public policy maker, a decision maker in a non-profit or government organization.

Complete conference information is available at www.larimer.org/ext.

Mark your calendar and plan to attend this professional development conference!

HRCI Certification is pending.

Diamond Sponsors:

Employment Services of Weld County

Larimer County Workforce Center

Gold Sponsor: Steps to a Healthier Weld County

Rocky Mountain Conference on Aging Presented by:

