RE: Cascade Wind Project: Responses to Requests for Additional Information

Dear Mr. Bless:

Members of our consulting team have informed us that due to increased workload and previous commitments, they will not be able to provide responses to some of ODE's Requests for Additional Information (RAIs) until after August 31, 2007.

We anticipate that we will be able to submit responses to some of the RAIs by the end of August. However, other responses may be delayed until the end of September and in one case, a response may not be available until mid-October. The overall demand on consultant's time has increased and in-turn, it has affected our schedule for providing responses to the RAIs by the end of August.

Please contact me if you have any questions or concerns regarding this email. We will keep you informed if there are additional changes to our project schedule.

Sincerely,
