

OSHA REGION VII

FALLS IN CONSTRUCTION

This sheet provides information for employers, in the construction industry, on how and where to get information and assistance to comply with current OSHA standards related to fall hazards on the job site.

Responsibilities

As an employer you are responsible under the Occupational Safety and Health Act (the Act) to provide a workplace free from fall hazards that are causing or are likely to cause death or serious physical harm to your employees.

You must comply with standards, rules and regulations issued by OSHA under the Act. You must be familiar with the standards and make copies available to employees for review upon their request.

Consultation

Employers who want help in recognizing and correcting fall hazards (without citations or penalties) and in improving safety and health programs can get it from a free consultation service largely funded by OSHA and delivered by State governments.

For on-site consultation services contact the following office within your State:
