A number of organizations represent customers in matters before the Oregon Public Utility Commission. The list compiled by the PUC Public Information/Consumer Services Division is designed to help customers of PUC-regulated utilities participate in Commission decisions. More information about the organizations is available by contacting them directly.

There are several sources of help available for energy assistance. In some cases, major utilities offer financial aid through voluntary contribution programs. You may also qualify for help from the Low-income Energy Assistance Program (LIEAP). For LIEAP information, contact your local utility office.

Financial assistance for telephone services is also available for qualified low-income persons through the Oregon Telephone Assistance Program (OTAP) run by the Oregon Public Utility Commission. For information, contact OTAP at 1-800-848-4442.
