

Letter # OOD-1598- CON, 1396

Dear FDA Commissioner

Currently we are facing a serious problem concerning genetically modified food. Foods, such as GMO Corn, are entering the human food supply by accident, this puts the general population at risk. Please impose a general moratorium on the commercial growth of GM foods until they have been extensively tested for human safety. In addition, labeling of GM foods should be mandatory to provide market choice for consumers; longitudinal tests of cross pollination of GM and Non GM. Foods should be conducted to determine the possible threat to domestic food crops that have been maintained for generations. <sup>Thanks</sup> Paul James
