SUBJECT: Petition requesting various actions concerning mattress flammability

BALLOT VOTE due MAY 31 2000

The Office of the General Counsel has determined that submissions from Whitney A Davis, director of the Children's Coalition for Fire-Safe Mattresses, requesting that the Commission take certain actions to address mattresses should be docketed as petitions. The petitioner requests that the Commission issue rules requiring (1) an open flame test similar to the full-scale test set forth in California Technical Bulletin 129, (2) an open flame test similar to the component test set forth in British Standard 5852, (3) a warning label for flammable mattresses; and (4) a permanent mattress identification tag.

In accordance with the Commission directive on procedures for petitions (0605), the Office of the General counsel has drafted a notice for publication in the Federal Register inviting comments on the petition for a period of 60 days. The draft notice is attached. EXHR recommends that the Commission issue the notice.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION. The Commission has received correspondence from Whitney A. Davis, director of the Children's Coalition for Fire-Safe Mattresses, requesting that the Commission take various actions concerning mattress flammability. The Commission is docketing as petitions his requests for rules requiring: (1) an open flame standard similar to the full-scale test set forth in California Technical Bulletin 129; (2) an open flame standard similar to the component test set forth in British Standard 5852; (3) a warning label for flammable mattresses; and (4) a permanent mattress identification tag attached to the innerspring of the mattress. The petitioner focuses primarily on the role polyurethane foam plays in mattress fires. He notes that the Commission's existing mattress flammability standard only addresses cigarette ignition; yet childplay with open-flame sources causes nearly two-thirds of mattress fires. He argues that with polyurethane foam mattresses, fires have become increasingly more deadly than with cotton batting mattresses due to increased smoke generation, heat production and flame spread. With regard to labels, he notes that polyurethane foam manufacturers provide warnings to mattress manufacturers, but these warnings are not passed on to the consumer. With regard to an identification tag, the petitioner argues that such a tag would help to identify mattresses involved in fires because often only the innerspring unit remains after a mattress fire. The Commission is docketing these petitions under provisions of the Flammable Fabrics Act, 15 U.S.C. 1191-1204.

Interested parties may obtain copies of the petitions by writing or calling the Office of the Secretary, Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, DC 20207; telephone (301) 504-0800. Copies of the petitions are also available for inspection from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, in the Commission's Public Reading Room, Room 419, 4330 East-West Highway, Bethesda, Maryland.
