MODIFICATIONS OF CONTRACTS - TOOLS AND FORMS

(Does Not Apply to Capital Construction Contracts)

- 1) Modification Tools and Use. Fiscal rule 3-1, §6.3, provides for the use of contract modification tools and forms set forth in this Policy. The language, provisions and modification forms in this Policy are approved for use with State contracts.

All contract modification forms, other than amendments, shall be included as exhibits to the contract they modify. State Agencies and institutions of higher education (IHEs) shall obtain prior written approval from the Office of the State Controller (OSC) to use these forms in a manner not described herein.

Except for the amendment, which may be used for any modification, the contract modification tools are not universally applicable and were created for specific contracts and scopes of services. Each modification tool shall be used only for its intended purposes, shall not be changed or combined with other contract modifications, and shall only be included in contracts that contain proper references to the specific modification tool. These forms satisfy OSC requirements, however, Agencies or IHEs must still comply with any applicable statutes and rules governing a contract, including State procurement rules and personal services review by Department of Personnel and Administration Division of Human Resources.

The following table outlines the modification tools and their designated uses. Please track use of these tools in CLIN using the assigned codes set forth below (use OC for original contracts).

CONTRACT OPTION TYPES

1) Option to Extend Term

- a. Purpose: To extend the original term and all conditions of a State Contract for a predetermined period of time, at the same rates and terms as the original contract.
- b. Time to Exercise: This option shall be exercised before the ending date of the Contract.
- c. Example: The State contracts for a year of computer maintenance service with two optional one-year extensions if the vendor performs satisfactorily. The State may exercise its option for continued service for another year before the end of the current contract term at the same prices.
- d. Required Language: The following provision shall be included in the original Contract:
"The State may require continued performance for a period of _____ for any services at the same rates and same terms specified in the Contract. If the State exercises the option, it shall provide written notice to Contractor at least _____ days prior to the end of the current contract term in a form substantially equivalent to Exhibit _____. If the State exercises this option to extend, the provision of the Option Letter shall become part of and incorporated into the original Contract. The total duration of this Contract, including the exercise of any options under this clause, shall not exceed _____." (Note: 5 years is maximum allowable)

2) Option to Increase or Decrease Quantities and Total Price

- a. Purpose: To increase or decrease the quantity of goods and/or level of services being provided, and concomitantly the total contract value, based upon the same unit rate or price (units may be hours, quantities, etc.) and terms as the original contract.
- b. Time to Exercise: This option shall be exercised before the Contract term expires.
- c. Examples
 - i. The State agrees to buy 500 tests of water for bacteria levels at a specified rate for each test with an option to increase the number of tests to 750. The State may exercise its option by processing an option notifying the vendor to perform the additional tests at the same rate.
 - ii. The State contracts for trash removal services. The total maximum cost is based upon a unit rate charged for each dumpster emptied by the vendor on a schedule that the State may change. The State subsequently decides to increase the schedule to better meet its needs. The State may exercise its option and increase the total maximum price in the contract based on the new schedule.
- d. Required Language: The following provision shall be included:
"The State may increase or decrease the quantity of goods/services described in section/schedule/exhibit based upon the rates established in the Contract. If the State exercises the option, it shall provide written notice to Contractor as least _____ days prior to the end of the current contract term in a form substantially equivalent to Exhibit _____. Delivery/performance of the goods/service shall continue at the same rates and terms. If the State exercises this option to increase, the provisions of the Option Letter shall become part of and be incorporated into the original Contract."

3) Options for Phased Performance.

- a. Purpose: To initiate a subsequent phase for a contract that contains phases in the Statement of Work or elsewhere in the original Contract.
- b. Time to Exercise:
This option shall be exercised before the Contract term expires or as specified in the Contract.
- c. Example: The State contracts for IT services to be completed in several phases. Each phase includes deliverables and consideration for those deliverables in the original contract. Each phase is unique, and the State has the option, but not the duty, to instruct the vendor to begin work on the next phase after successful completion of the prior phase.
- d. Mandatory Clause: The following clause shall be included
"The State may require the contractor to begin performance on the next phase of the contract as outlined in the Statement of Work in Exhibit _____ and at the same terms and same conditions Stated in the contract. If the State exercises its option, it shall provide written notice to the contractor at least _____ days prior to the end of the current contract phase in a form substantially equivalent to Exhibit _____. If the State exercises this option to initiate the next phase, the provisions of the Option Letter shall become part of and be incorporated into the original contract."

4) Approvals and Unilateral Nature.

Options require the same reviews, approvals, and signatures of the contracts they modify; provided however, that exercise of options to extend statewide Price Agreements by the State Purchasing Office not involving an encumbrance do not require the OSC's signature. Options are unilateral exercises of a right and initiated at the State's discretion.

GRANT FUNDING LETTERS

- 1) Purpose. The use of Grant Funding Letters is limited to unilaterally increasing or decreasing funding the State provides from federal or State grant contracts when the State either lacks or has little control over the scope of services being provided by the sub-grantee. For example:
 - a. The federal government provides funding to counties through a grant administered by the State, the terms of which require the counties to provide specified services. The State enters into a grant contract with the counties to distribute the funds. The federal government subsequently either adds to or reduces the amount of the original award. The State then issues Grant Funding Letters to the counties reflecting the change in the amount of the funding.
 - b. The State has distributed funds to provide services. One of the sub-grantees will not use all of its allocated funds and the State wishes to reallocate these funds to one or more other sub-grantees. The State issues a Grant Funding Letter decreasing the amount for one sub-grantee and issues additional grant funding letters increasing the amount for other sub-grantees.
- 2) Mandatory Clause. The following clause shall be included in all original Grant Contracts to issue grant funding letters:

The State may increase or decrease funds available under this Contract using a Grant Funding Letter substantially equivalent to Exhibit . The Grant Funding Letter is not valid until it has been approved by the State Controller or designee.
- 3) Approval. Grant Funding Letters require the same reviews, approvals, and signatures of the Contracts they modify.
- 4) Conditions of Use. Grant Funding Letters shall be issued during the term of the Contract and may not be used after expiration or to extend the term of the Contract.

CHANGE ORDERS-

DO NOT USE IN NEW CONTRACTS AFTER AUGUST 1, 2008

1) Purpose. Change Orders are bilateral, i.e., they require the approval of both Parties. They may be used for the following purposes if the Statement of Work in the original Contract or an amendment provides for them:

a. Specifications: To make changes to specifications.

b. Total Contract Value: To increase or decrease the total contract value based on the level of service provided or goods ordered using the established unit prices.

c. Term: To increase or decrease the contract term only when there are changes to the specifications or level of service that requires an adjustment in time of performance.

2) Examples.

a. The State contracts to purchase custom-designed equipment. Before it is built, the State discovers an additional use for the equipment with a slight design modification. The State creates a proposed Change Order for both Parties to sign that modifies the equipment specifications, and if necessary, adjusts the time of performance and price.

b. The State contracts to purchase code-writing services for a computer operating system. During the design phase the State discovers off-the-shelf software that will work in conjunction with the operating system and reduce the amount of code-writing services. The State creates a Change Order for both Parties to sign that incorporates such software as part of the operating system, reduces the amount code-writing services, decreases the term of performance, and reduces the price.

3) Mandatory Provision for Using Change Orders. The following provision shall be included in the original Contract when using Change Orders:

Bilateral changes within the scope of the Contract, as defined in List Contract Section or Exhibit, may be made using the Change Order process described herein in a form substantially equivalent to the Change Order form attached as Exhibit . Any modifications not provided for in this section shall be executed by formal amendment to the Contract and approved in accordance with State law. Such changes may be made for any of the following reasons. (NOTE: Only include the following subsections (a-c) as applicable to the needs of your specific Contract. These are tied to the options on the Change Order form - Don't forget to delete this Note.)

a. If changes to the specifications result in an adjustment to the price, delivery schedule, or time of performance.

b. If the changes to the Contract are set based on the prices to be paid for the goods and/or services established in the Contract or Exhibit .

c. The Change Order shall contain a mutual release of claims for adjustment of price, schedules, or time of performance if the agreed changes do not result in an adjustment in the price, delivery schedule, or time of performance.

4) Approvals. Change Orders require the same reviews, approvals, and signatures as the Contracts they modify.

5) Conditions of Use. Change Orders shall be issued during the term of the Contract and may not be used after expiration or be used in place of an Amendment if the latter is required.

TASK ORDERS

- 1) Purpose. Task Orders are bilateral, i.e., they require both Parties to agree. They are used to order supplies, materials, and/or services based on rates and terms that agreed to in a Master Contract. As specific tasks are identified the Parties agree on a Statement of Work and the maximum price by issuing a Task Order.
- 2) When Used. Task Orders may be used with Master Contracts containing the following encumbrance provisions:
 - a. Not to exceed amount included in Master Contract, which also encumbers entire amount. Task Order begins performance.
 - b. Not to exceed amount included in Master Contract; Task Order encumbers specific amount and begins performance.
 - c. Not to exceed amount not in Master Contract; but is included in Task Orders that encumbers a specific amount and begins performance.
- 3) Examples.
 - a. The State has a Master Contract with the U.S. Forest Service to improve park trails. Once a specific project is identified the Forest Service submits a proposal detailing the work and the total price for the work based upon the rates established in the Master Contract. If the State accepts the proposal, the Parties execute a Task Order, the form of which is similar an exhibit to the Master Contract.
 - b. The State has a Master Contract that sets the rates for helicopter usage. The State wants to perform an aerial survey and the Parties determine the total cost of the flight based upon such rates. The Parties execute a Task Order detailing the flight plans and the maximum amount payable.
 - c. The State has a Master Contract with RTD for transportation services for State employees. The Master Contract allows State agencies to acquire the services for their employees by executing a Task Order.
- 4) Mandatory Clauses for Master Contracts using Task Orders.
 - a. All Master Contracts shall contain the following clauses when using Task Orders:

Tasks shall be defined, negotiated, and ordered by agreement of the Parties based on the rates established in Appendix and are subject to the provision of this Contract; however, the State is not committing to issue any minimum number of Task Orders by entering into this contract. Changes to any provisions hereunder, including, but not limited to prices specified, require a written amendment signed by the State Controller or designee

Task Orders issued hereunder shall be processed as follows. First, the State shall specify the desired services and any requirements. Contractor shall propose a price using the rates established in Appendix . The proposal shall be in a form acceptable to the State and include all pertinent information such as a Statement of Work, proposed time of performance, estimated number of hours, material costs, etc. Once the Parties agree regarding the foregoing, they shall prepare and execute a Task Order in a form similar to that attached hereto as Exhibit .

Performance of the obligations set forth in the Task Order are subject to the provisions of this Contract. Contractor warrants that it will successfully complete its obligations under the Task Order within the stated time and price. The State is not obligated to perform its obligations under the Task Order until the State Controller or designee executes it"
 - b. Master Contracts shall contain the following clause in order to encumber all available funds or to establish an amount that shall not be exceeded:

The cumulative not to exceed amount for all Task Orders issued pursuant to this contract shall not exceed $. The State's financial obligation is limited to this amount, and Contractor shall not accept Task Orders resulting in a cumulative amount in excess thereof. Increases or decreases to the not to exceed amount require an amendment executed by the State Controller or designee.
- 5) Approvals. Task Orders require the same reviews, approvals, and signatures of the Contracts they modify.
- 6) Conditions of Use. Task orders shall be processed during the Master Contract term, may not be used after expiration of the Master Contract, and the tasks shall be completed before the Master Contract expires.

AMENDMENTS

- 1) Purpose. Amendments shall be used to modify, change, add to, or delete any provision in a State contract that is not specifically covered in the other modification tools listed in this Policy and may be used in lieu of any other contract modification tool except Assignments. Amendments are bilateral, i.e., they require the consent of all Parties.

- 1 Examples.
 - a. The State wants to add to the scope of work. An Amendment adding the work and increasing the total contract value is required.
 - b. A contract expires on April 15th but the Contractor has not finished the work due to weather and the State is willing to extend the completion date. An Amendment extending the completion is required before the contract term expires.

- 2 A Contract included the OSC's Option to Renew language. The State wants (a) to exercise the option, and (b) at the same time, expand the scope of work which also requires increased funding. Since an Amendment is required to accomplish (b), it makes sense to handle (a) in the same document, although the State could do (a) and (b) separately, as an Option Letter and an Amendment, respectively.

- 3 Mandatory Clauses for Amendments. Contracts do not require any specific language to allow for Amendments as the Parties can always mutually agree to a lawful modification. However, language shall not be included in a State contract that allows the Parties to amend a contract by verbal agreement, by letter, or any other means other than a written Amendment signed by both Parties.

- 2) Approvals. Amendments require the same reviews, approvals, and signatures as the Contracts they modify.

- 3) Conditions of Use. A contract Amendment may be processed at any time before, but not after, a contract terminates or expires. The information packet accompanying any amendment sent to the OSC for review shall include a copy of and a list of all amendments and other contract modifications related to the original contract.

STATE CONTROLLER POLICY

ASSIGNMENTS

- 1) Purpose. Assignments are a special type of amendment used to effectuate a change of parties with the new Contractor (assignee) replacing the original Contractor (assignor) in whole or part regarding future duties or obligations under the contract. The consent of all parties is required for an Assignment unless the original contract specifies otherwise.
 - 2) Effect. The parties to the contract change, but the contract provisions do not (changes in provisions require an amendment, which could also encompass an assignment if they are being done concurrently). Once the assignment is effective, further rights, duties, or obligations under the contract of the assignor and the assignee, are defined by the assignment. In general, the State continues to hold the assignor responsible for the assigned performance due under the Contract even if the assignee is primarily responsible thereafter. This is different than an Assignment under which the State no longer holds the original contractor responsible for any future performance and looks solely to the replacement contractor.
- 10 Examples.
- a. Assignor, an individual, is not able to perform lawn care duties due to a debilitating accident. Assignee is willing to assume the remaining duties. Unless the contract addressed this issue, the State is not obligated to consent to an Assignment, but probably would if the assignee is as competent as the assignor.
 - b. Assignor is a specialized engineering firm seeking to assign its performance of a task in which it is the leading expert to a general engineering firm. The State would not consent to this assignment absent specific assurances and evidence that assignee could properly perform the task and would continue to hold assignor secondarily liable until the task was properly performed.
 - c. Assignor sells all of its rights to future payments to assignee (often called a “factor”) but continues to perform the obligations under the contract. This is not typical for State Contracts, but is possible. This type of assignment would generally be specified in the contract and not require the State’s consent, rather only a notice of whom to pay.
- 3) Provisions Concerning Assignments. State Contract should generally contain a provision that prohibits assignment of Contractor performance absent written consent or all parties, including the State. The provisions contained in the assignment between assignors and assignees are extremely varied and should be attached as an exhibit to the OSC Consent to Assignment form between the assignors, assignees, and the State.
 - 4) Approvals. Assignments require the same reviews, approvals, and signatures as the contracts they modify, and in addition those of the assignee.
 - 5) Conditions of Use. Assignments may be processed at any time before, but not after, a contract terminates or expires.
