Experts Agree:

When it comes to plan mistakes, fix 'em now rather than later

On June 13, 2006, a panel of IRS officials and benefits practitioners got together on a Tax Talk Today program and discussed the advantages of fixing mistakes in retirement plans now rather than later. For just like a car requires regular maintenance, a retirement plan requires regular check-ups. The panel's consensus: The value of preventive maintenance far exceeds the increasing costs of waiting to correct plan mistakes.

The panel included:

- Michael Julianelle, Director, IRS Employee Plans Examinations
- Seth H. Tievsky, Partner, Ernst & Young LLP
- Joyce Kahn, Manager, IRS Employee Plans Voluntary Compliance
- Michael P. Coyne, President, Waldheger Coyne LPA

The panel discussed in detail the three levels of IRS Retirement Plan Correction Programs and addressed common mistakes, including exclusion of an employee in a 401(k) plan and applicable correction approaches and principles. The panel also discussed the new "Correcting Plan Errors" section of the Retirement Plans Community web page.

Panel members, from l to r: Mr. Julianelle, Mr. Tievsky, Ms. Kahn, Mr. Coyne, and Tax Talk Today Moderator, Les Witmer.

Mr. Julianelle stated, "We (the IRS) think information sharing with the benefits community is a very important aspect of how we do our job and how we set up our systems. It helps them avoid mistakes and also helps them maybe not go down the abusive paths of some of the schemes and other transactions that are out there... Joyce and I and our teams work very closely on common issues. We try and get consistent as we can. We both have nationwide programs, so we're constantly looking for common solutions to the types of problems that we see throughout the audit process or throughout just pension maintenance, which we hope is a day-to-day thing for our benefits community."

Tax Talk Today is a monthly, free live webcast program sponsored by the IRS with each program archived for up to 12 months. Go to www.TaxTalkToday.tv to view the recorded June 13th program, obtain a complete transcript of the program plus a list of program materials and resources.

Critical FewPoints...by Michael Julianelle (Director, EP Examinations)

Hello everyone. Before I begin to discuss my thoughts for this issue, I want to remind you that I welcome suggestions for topics you would like me to discuss in these pages. It is very important to me that I cover the information you would like to see. Please e-mail your suggestions to RetirementPlanComments@irs.gov. I will do my best to cover your ideas or concerns in future articles.

In previous newsletters, I discussed with you the impact of abusive tax transactions and how they jeopardize and taint the private retirement system in America and promote tax evasion in the Retirement Plans Community. I think it's a good time for me to update you on where we are right now with these schemes.

Throughout the different functions within the IRS – EP, Small Business/Self-Employed (SB/SE), Large and Mid-Sized Business (LMSB) and more – there is a united stance on proactively deterring promoter schemes and abusive transactions. To encourage voluntary compliance, on October 27, 2005 the IRS issued Announcement 2005-80, the Global Settlement Initiative (known as GSI), which encompassed 21 different abusive transactions.

GSI offered significant reductions on the penalties for these cases in the hope that many affected taxpayers would volunteer to come in and inform us of their involvement.

Processing the applications submitted under the GSI in Announcement 2005-80 is a top priority. And, we are also focusing our attentions on those who had the opportunity to come forward, but did not.

If you'll recall, my last article mentioned the establishment of the Employee Plans Compliance Unit (EPCU). This group sent letters to taxpayers with identified abusive schemes eligible for the GSI. For the ones that did not take advantage of the GSI, we will be setting up examination appointments. We will be identifying other abusive situations and setting up examinations on those as well. The LMSB and the SB/SE Divisions are working with us in EP to identify and put a stop to these abusive schemes.

Plain and simple, the IRS is serious about addressing abusive cases that chose not to come in for GSI. Please visit the Retirement Plans Community web page to find additional information on this topic and what you should do if you know about one of these abusive schemes. Click on "Examinations/Enforcement" then select "EP Abusive Tax Transactions."

What's Next???

In the next issue, one topic I plan to cover is my policy on the "Place of Audit," the preferred location we would like to hold our examination. If you have thoughts about this topic you wish to convey so I can address them in the article, please e-mail them to RetirementPlanComments@irs.gov and type "Place of Audit Comments" in the subject line.

Thank you for reading and enjoy the remainder of your summer season. •

The Corner of Forms & Pubs

Welcome back to an expanded edition of the Corner of Forms & Pubs – the EP version of Hollywood & Vine. There have been some big goings-on going on recently in the Corner. The information here at the Corner is brief and topics needing further details will get their own full-length articles.

Revised Form 8717 Now Available.

The Retirement Plans Community is reminded that many user fees will increase on July 1, 2006. To accommodate these updated fees, the IRS announced the revision of Form 8717, User Fee for Employee Plan Determination, Opinion, and Advisory Letter Request.

The new fee schedule takes effect in two phases:

- Phase one, effective February 1, 2006, impacted the fees for EP letter rulings.
- Phase two, effective July 1, 2006, revises the fees for opinion and advisory letters and determination applications involving Forms 5300, 5307 and 5310.

We are also focusing our attentions on those who had the opportunity to come forward, but did not.

For the ones that did not take advantage of the GSI, we will be setting up examination appointments.

EP compliance fees and compliance correction fees under the Employee Plans Compliance Resolution System (EPCRS) are not included in this procedure and remain at their current levels.

For more information about user fees and a complete schedule, see Employee Plans User Fees Updated or Revenue Procedures 2006-1 and 2006-8.

Filing an extension for an EP return? Well, listen up pard'ner.

When it comes to inquiries about the signature requirements for the Form 5558, Application for Extension of Time To File Certain Employee Plan Returns, our phones have been ringing off the hook.

To help clarify:

1. A signature is not required if the extension is for Form 5500, Annual Return/Report of Employee Benefit Plan or Form 5500-EZ, Annual Return of One-Participant (Owners and Their Spouses) Retirement Plan (Box 1a on Form 5558).
2. A signature is required if the extension is for the filing of Form 5330, Return of Excise Taxes Related to Employee Benefit Plans (Box 1b on Form 5558).

The person who signs this form may be one of the following:

- Employer;
- Plan sponsor;
- Plan administrator;
- Disqualified person required to file Form 5330;
- Attorney qualified to practice before the IRS;
- CPA qualified to practice before the IRS;
- Person enrolled to practice before the IRS; or
- Person holding a power of attorney.

Although not yet ready for public consumption, the Form 5558 will be revised by Fall 2006 to better reflect this practice.

No strings attached

Beginning in 2005, the Instructions for Form 5500-EZ indicate that "Filers of Form 5500-EZ will not be required to file any schedules or attachments." Some customers are misinterpreting this item.

In a nutshell, Form 5500-EZ filers no longer have to file Schedule B or P with their Form 5500-EZ or submit any other attachments (e.g., actuarial reports) that they may have formerly been attaching to explain answers on their Form 5500-EZ.

If, however, a Form 5500-EZ is filed late, a copy of Form 5558, Application for Extension of Time To File Certain Employee Plan Returns, or a reasonable cause statement for late filing must be attached in order to request the waiving of any late filing penalties. Note: One-participant plans are automatically granted an extension of time to file Form 5500-EZ until the extended due date of the federal income tax return of the employer (and are not required to file Form 5558) if certain conditions detailed in the Form 5500-EZ Instructions are met.

Important: This change does not eliminate the requirement to both perform an annual valuation and maintain the funding standard account for all plans subject to the minimum funding requirements of IRC section 412. If Schedule B is required, as is the case with a defined benefit plan (or a money purchase plan with a minimum funding waiver), the filer must still collect and retain completed and signed copies that must be produced if requested.

A completed and signed Schedule P should also be retained by the filer. •

One more time...

As introduced in Rev. Proc. 2005-66, the new Form 8905, Certification of Intent To Adopt a Pre-approved Plan, has been released and is now available. This form is filed by an adopter of an individually-designed plan or pre-approved plan (not otherwise entitled to the six-year remedial amendment cycle) requesting to convert their five-year remedial amendment cycle under Part III of Rev. Proc. 2005-66 to the six-year remedial amendment cycle under Part IV.

All of the forms discussed here and in The Corner of Forms & Pubs are available on the Retirement Plans Community web page by clicking on "EP Forms & Publications" under the "Retirement Plans Community Topics" section. Paper copies can be requested by calling (800) TAX-FORM (829-3676). •

HERO Act

President Bush has signed into law the Heroes Earned Retirement Opportunities Act, H.R. 1499. The HERO Act lets members of the armed forces include their combat zone compensation (otherwise excludable from gross income) in their calculation of earned income for purposes of determining tax deductions for contributions to retirement savings plans. The Act is retroactive to tax years beginning after December 31, 2003. •

Form 5500 Filing Tips – Do You Really Have a Multiemployer Plan?

The Employee Plans Multiemployer Compliance Planning Group consists of specialists in multiemployer law that promotes quality examinations and enhances customer education, with the goal of achieving the highest level of pension law compliance with the multiemployer community. During their recent analysis of Form 5500, Annual Return/Report of Employee Benefit Plan, data, the group found error trends on these returns. The group found that there are three common errors being made when completing Form 5500 as they relate to multiemployer issues and all three errors involve completion of Part 1: Annual Report Identification Information.

Common Error #1: Sponsors say they have a Multiemployer Plan when they really don't

This mistake is due to a misunderstanding of the term “multiemployer.” Some employers who have more than one employer in their plan sponsorship, such as Controlled Groups or Affiliated Service Groups, think the term “multiemployer” applies to them. Let's look at the definition of what a Multiemployer Plan is in the instructions for Form 5500:

“Box A(1). Multiemployer Plan. Check this box if the Form 5500 is filed for a multiemployer plan. A plan is a multiemployer plan if: (a) more than one employer is required to contribute, (b) the plan is maintained pursuant to one or more collective bargaining agreements between one or more employee organizations and more than one employer, and (c) an election under Code section 414(f)(5) and ERISA section 3(37)(E) has not been made. Participating employers do not file individually for these plans. See 29 CFR 2510.3-37.”

For the criterion labeled (a) above, remember that all members of either a controlled group of corporations under Code section 414(b), partnerships or proprietors under common control under 414(c) or an affiliated service group are treated as a “single employer” for purposes of reporting on Form 5500. If this is the case, then the related employers adopting the plan are actually a “single employer” and the multiemployer box should not be checked. To be a Multiemployer Plan, the plan must be adopted by more than one “employer.”

The criterion labeled (b) above is the one that most of those plan sponsors who are making this error do not meet. The compliance planning group finds many Form 5500 returns indicating plans sponsored by doctors, lawyers, car dealerships, etc. that may have more than one employer, but are not subject to a collectively bargained agreement. These plan sponsors are incorrectly identifying their plans as a Multiemployer Plan.

Common Error #2: Sponsors who do have Multiemployer Plans, but don't check the box

This situation is the exact opposite of Error #1 and is most likely due to oversight or to a lack of expertise in filling out Form 5500. Quite simply, if your plan meets the criteria in the definition above, then you should be checking the box indicating a Multiemployer Plan exists. In most cases, this box is checked by plans sponsored by a union such as for plumbers, carpenters, electrical workers, painters, etc. that have more than one employer making contributions.

Common Error #3: Plans that are for the benefit of employees who are subject to a Collective Bargaining Agreement yet the sponsors don't indicate such

Again, this error is most likely due to oversight or a lack of expertise in filling out Form 5500. Let's look at the instructions for Form 5500 regarding which plans need to check box C to indicate that the employees covered by a plan are subject to a collective bargained agreement:

“Box C. Check box C when the contributions to the plan and/or the benefits paid by the plan are subject to the collective bargaining process (even if the plan is not established and administered by a joint board of trustees and even if only some of the employees covered by the plan are covered by a collectively bargained unit that negotiates contributions and/or benefits). The contributions and/or benefits do not have to be identical for all employees under the plan.”

Here again, in most cases, this box is checked by plans whose participant contributions and/or benefits are normally subject to a collective bargaining agreement, such as those sponsored by unions representing plumbers, carpenters, electrical workers, painters, etc.

If you still are unsure about completing these items correctly, visit www.irs.gov/ep. Go to the “Examinations/Enforcement” section for more information on Compliance Trends and Tips and also the Form 5500 Corner. •

DOL Corner

The Department of Labor's Employee Benefits Security Administration (DOL/EBSA) announced new guidance, relief and tools to assist plan sponsors and practitioners in complying with ERISA. You can subscribe to DOL/EBSA's web site as well as the Compliance Assistance page for notice of updates posted on the web site.

Updated Voluntary Fiduciary Correction Program

On April 19, 2006, DOL/EBSA published in the Federal Register an expanded and simplified Voluntary Fiduciary Correction Program (VFCP) to help employers and their professional advisors voluntarily correct violations of the law for employee benefit plans.

The update to the VFCP reflects public comments and includes:

- Expansion and simplification of eligible transactions;
- Streamlined documentation and clarified eligibility requirements;
- A model application form;
- Clarification of what constitutes "under investigation" allowing more entities to qualify for the program, and
- Relief from civil penalties for transactions involving health and welfare plans.

The class exemption was amended to add the sale of illiquid assets and certain settlor expense violations.

Under the program, employers may voluntarily correct specific violations of ERISA. Applicants must fully correct any violations, restore to the plan any losses or profits with interest, and distribute any supplemental benefits owed to the eligible participants and beneficiaries. A "no action" letter is given to plan officials who properly correct violations.

Both the updated program and the amended class exemption were effective on May 19.

For further information, see the updated program and the amended class exemption. Additional information will be posted on a dedicated web page for the VFCP.

Guidance on Distributions of Mutual Fund Late Trading and Market-Timing Settlement Proceeds

On April 20, 2006, DOL/EBSA released guidance on the allocation and distribution to employee benefit plans and their participants of the proceeds of certain settlements between the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) and various mutual fund companies. As a result of SEC enforcement matters, funds are available for distribution to investors, including retirement plans that were affected by alleged late trading and market timing activities.

The guidance, issued as Field Assistance Bulletin (FAB) 2006-01, indicates that the proceeds will not be considered plan assets under ERISA until distributed from the settlement fund and received by the appropriate plan fiduciaries. In addition, the FAB describes various processes that may be used by fiduciaries for the allocation and distribution of the proceeds to plans and participants.

For further information, see the FAB.

Expanded Exemption for Interest-Free Loans to Employee Benefit Plans

On April 7, 2006, DOL/EBSA published in the Federal Register a final amendment to the class exemption on interest-free loans.

Prohibited Transaction Exemption (PTE) 80-26 is a class exemption that permits certain interest-free loans to plans from a party in interest (e.g., from the employer that sponsors the plan) in instances where the plan faces a temporary cash shortage. This exemption was previously used following Y2K-induced computer problems and when the markets closed after the September 11, 2001 terrorist attacks. The interest-free loans facilitated by the exemption allow plans facing liquidity problems the ability to continue to pay benefits and for other purposes necessary for the ordinary operation of the plan.

The amendment removes the three-day limitation that previously applied to certain loans described in the exemption. Based on its experience, DOL/EBSA decided that removing the three-day limitation would facilitate these interest-free, unsecured loans that are beneficial to plans, without diminishing any of the safeguards to protect plans.

For more information, see the final amendment to the class exemption.

Final Rules on Abandoned 401(k) Plans

On April 21, 2006, DOL/EBSA published in the Federal Register final rules and a class exemption that allow financial institutions to take responsibility for abandoned 401(k) plans and distribute the plans' assets to covered workers and their families. DOL/EBSA estimates that 1,650 401(k) plans, covering 33,000 workers, are abandoned by their sponsors every year.

DOL/EBSA currently deals with abandoned plans on a case-by-case basis, often with the involvement of the courts.

The final rules provide standards for determining when a plan is abandoned and establishes a process for winding up the affairs of the plan and distributing benefits to workers. The final rules were effective May 22, 2006.

For more information, DOL/EBSA has a fact sheet as well as the final regulation and class exemption. DOL/EBSA also has posted the model notices in an easily downloadable format on a dedicated abandoned plan web page and will post additional information on that page in the future.

PBGC Insights

PBGC Changes Standard Termination Audit Sampling Methodology

Section 4003(a) of ERISA requires the PBGC to audit a statistically significant number of plans that end as standard terminations. Each audit must include a statistically significant number of participants and beneficiaries. To meet this requirement, the PBGC divides terminated plans into different strata according to plan size and selects plans from each stratum. The number of audits can vary from year to year, depending on the number of completed standard terminations.

The PBGC recently changed its method for selecting terminated plans to audit. Previously, plans were divided into two strata and all plans with a participant count of 500 or more participants were audited. Plans with a participant count of less than 500 were randomly selected for audit. Starting with plans that submitted post-distribution certifications in the first quarter of 2006, the PBGC will audit all plans with more than 300 participants. Plans with a participant count of 300 or less will continue to be randomly selected for audit. Plans may also be selected for audit when there is an indication of a problem: for example, when a complaint is received from a plan participant or practitioner.

The PBGC will continue to select plans to audit on a quarterly basis—in April, July, October, and January of each year—from plan terminations completed in the preceding calendar quarter.

Mandatory Premium E-Filing Approved

The PBGC's final rule on mandatory premium e-filing will take effect on July 1, 2006. The final rule (published in the Federal Register on June 1, 2006) requires that:

- Large plans (those with 500 or more participants for the prior year) e-file starting July 1, 2006, for plan years beginning on or after January 1, 2006.
- All plans e-file for plan years beginning on or after January 1, 2007.

The PBGC offers three electronic filing options via its e-filing application called My Plan Administration Account (My PAA):

- Filing Option 1: Use My PAA data entry and editing screens to create and submit premium filings.
- Filing Option 2: Use My PAA to "import" one or more premium filings created with updated private-sector software that meets the PBGC's requirements. The imported data is transferred into My PAA's data entry and editing screens for completion and submission to the PBGC.
- Filing Option 3: Use My PAA to "upload" one or more premium filings created with private-sector software that has been updated to meet the PBGC's requirements.

The PBGC urges premium filers to sign up and e-file well before being required to do so. For detailed information, or to set up a My PAA account, go to the PBGC web site, select the Practitioners page, and then click on the link "Online Premium Filing (My PAA)." The My PAA page describes how to begin the process, demonstrates filing methods and answers frequently asked questions. If you have additional questions about My PAA, send an e-mail to premiums@pbgc.gov or call the PBGC's toll-free practitioner number at (800) 736-2444 and select the "premium" option. TTY/TDD users may call the Federal Relay Service toll-free at (800) 877-8339 and ask to be connected to the PBGC's toll-free number.

PBGC Must Receive Copies of All Multiemployer Plan Annual Funding Notices

Federal law now requires all multiemployer defined benefit pension plans to provide an annual notice to participants, beneficiaries and other interested parties, including the PBGC, about the plans' funding status. On January 11, 2006, the Department of Labor published in the Federal Register its final regulation implementing the notice requirement of section 101(f) of ERISA, as amended. See the DOL/EBSA web site for a description of the rules for this notice and a copy of the model notice.

A copy of this Annual Funding Notice for a Multiemployer Defined Benefit Pension Plan must also be submitted to the PBGC. Copies for the PBGC should be sent to: PBGC, 1200 K Street NW, Suite 930, Washington, DC 20005-4026 ATTN: Multiemployer Data Coordinator. PBGC Issues Final Rule on Employer Liability When Closing a Facility

On June 16, 2006, PBGC published a final rule modifying 29 CFR parts 4062 (Liability for Termination of Single-employer Plans) and 4063 (Withdrawal Liability; Plans under Multiple Controlled Groups). The rule, which may be found on the Final Rules page of PBGC's web site, specifies how to calculate the liability that arises when an employer ceases operations at a facility and, as a result, more than 20 percent of the employees covered by its defined benefit pension plan separate from employment. The effective date of the rule is July 17, 2006. The new rule codifies the method the PBGC has used on a case-by-case basis to assess the liability, and therefore will have little or no effect on calculation of the liability amount.

In general, the liability that may arise from a facility closure is a portion of the unfunded benefit liabilities under the employer's plan, calculated by multiplying the total unfunded benefit liabilities by a fraction whose numerator is the number of plan participants separated as a result of the cessation and whose denominator is the total number of current employees (as determined immediately before the cessation) who are plan participants. This amount is placed into escrow for the benefit of the plan. If the plan terminates within five years, the payment is treated as a plan asset. If the plan does not terminate within that time, the payment is returned to the employer. In lieu of the liability payment, the contributing sponsor may be required to furnish a bond to the PBGC to be held for the benefit of the plan. •

Quick Hits

Welcome back to Quick Hits. Recently, EP issued the long-anticipated EPCRS update and a revision of the user fee form. EP has also experienced the departure of some well-known employees.

- The New EPCRS: As Easy as ABC: There was palpable excitement in the Retirement Plans Community in early May as the new EPCRS revenue procedure was unveiled. Featuring new correction methods for improper exclusions of participants from 401(k) plans, plan loan failures, and failure to obtain proper spousal consents, the new procedure also provides more streamlined submission processes and enhanced compliance fee flexibility. - The 1st of July: The clock is ticking down till the new, increased user fees kick in for determination letter requests and for opinion and advisory letters. As a result of the new fee schedule, EP revised the Form 8717. Take a look at the June 23 News Flash for more info.
- Au Revoir: In our Summer 2005 Edition, we had an article, “Actuary Extraordinaire,” that presented the story of one of EP’s most remarkable employees: Paulette Tino. Madame Tino came to the United States from France via Canada and started her career with the IRS when ERISA was enacted in 1975. Mind you, she was age 51 at the time she started her government service. A strong proponent of the Joint Board, Paulette was also an integral player in the formulation of many significant funding rules. Last year, Paulette received the Robert J. Myers Public Service Award from the American Academy of Actuaries. Paulette retired and bid EP a fond “adieu” early this June.

- Goodbye and Hello: Sarah Hall Ingram, Deputy Commissioner of TE/GE since July 2004, is now the Chief of Appeals. The new Deputy Commissioner is Chris Wagner. Mr. Wagner comes to TE/GE from the Taxpayer Advocate Service, where he served as Deputy National Taxpayer Advocate. He started with the IRS in 1977 as a revenue agent and has held a variety of positions throughout the IRS during his career.

Timing still Everything

Our collection of the new retirement plan tool for employees, "Timing is Everything," continues to grow.

Each "Timing is Everything" is a one-page flyer that employers can share with their employees and provides plain-language, bullet-point information about retirement. Each flyer is part of the Retirement News for Employers electronic newsletter designed for the small-business owner.

Employers can print the "Timing" flyer and include it in their employees' pay envelopes or post it on a bulletin board – and the flyer looks good whether it's printed in color or in black & white. Employers can even use the flyer in company e-mails or newsletters.

Each "Timing" flyer will have important tips for employees on retirement issues. So far, we've had information on contribution limits for different plans in 2006, how much and when to contribute to an IRA, and how to save more for retirement.

We have an online archive of "Timing" flyers where viewers can click on linked items in each flyer and find additional info. You'll find the archive in both the "Plan Sponsor/Employer" and "Plan Participant/Employee" sections of the Retirement Plans Community web page.
