

Small increases and decreases in permitted public water-supply withdrawals can be attributed to population changes. Large increases and decreases can be attributed to merging of supply systems, change(s) in source, or purchases from other counties.

EXPLANATION

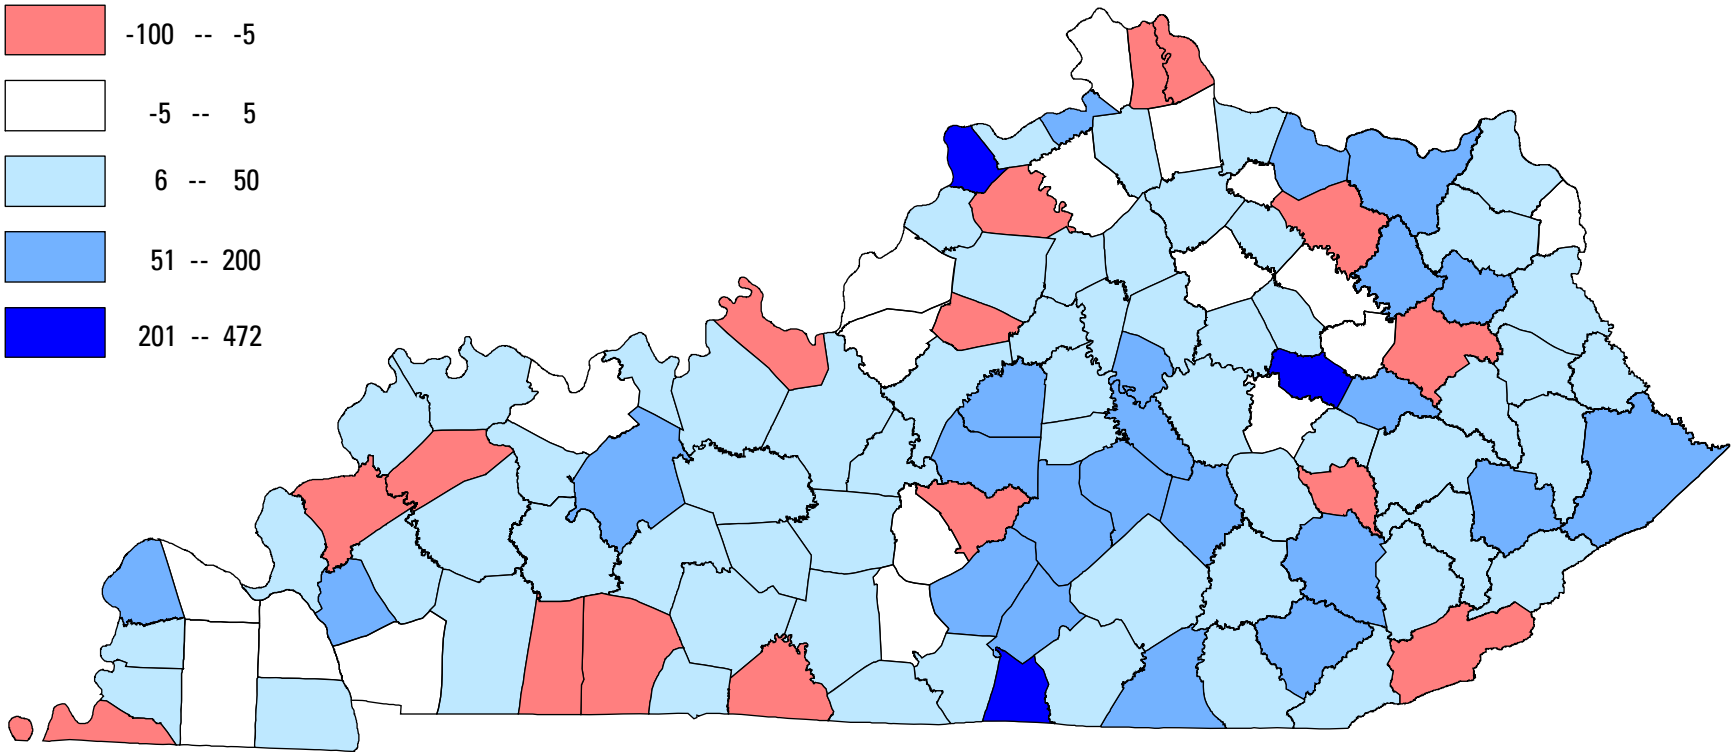

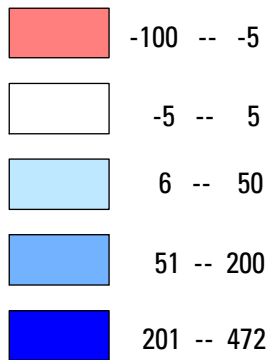

Figure 7. Percent change in permitted public water-supply withdrawals in Kentucky, 1995–2005.