Reagan National Airport Wins Airport Best Concession Awards

Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport, operated by the Metropolitan Washington Airports Authority, has been selected by Airport Revenue News to receive two awards. In the Medium Size Airport division, Reagan National won awards for being the Airport with the “Best Concession Program Design” and Airport with the “Best Concessions Management Team”.

“These prestigious awards reflect the best airports and concessionaires in the industry who are chosen by respected experts,” says Pauline Armbrust, president and chief executive officer of the Armbrust Aviation Group. “We are proud to be the administrator of this important industry competition.”

James E. Bennett, President and Chief Executive Officer of the Airports Authority said “We are very proud of our concession team, and we will continue to work together to look for ways to improve our concession offerings and ensure that our facilities are attractive and user-friendly at Reagan National and Dulles International Airports.”
