I am in strong disagreement of this proposed rule. It is hard enough in our Free Commerce Society to be able to keep income anymore without something else passed to take it away.

Subject: TXCM Action Alert

Monday, May 10th is the deadline for commenting on the SEC's proposed rule mandating a redemption fee of 2% on the sale of mutual fund shares held for less than 5 days.

TEXAS CAPITAL MANAGEMENT encourages all clients to email the SEC and their congressional representatives opposing the mandatory 2% redemption fee. Email letters in your own words will be much more effective than form letters. The length of the email is not as important as the originality and the objection to the proposed rule.

The email letter should be emailed to: rule-comments@sec.gov and it is imperative that the subject line of the email include File No. S7-11-04 in the body of the email letter to the SEC. The letter should be addressed to:

Jonathan G. Katz,
Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission,
450 Fifth Street, NW
Washington, DC 20549-0609.

Fax is the preferred communications form with the Senators and Representatives. A list of DC fax numbers for all congressional members is attached. Letters are not advised because of delays in the mail handling systems.

If you need ideas for your letters, listed below are our talking points from the recent round of meetings with the SEC. It is also possible to review comments sent to the SEC via email, which are posted on the SEC web site at www.sec.gov . Look under proposed rules and click on the Comments received electronically are available link or <http://www.sec.gov/rules/proposed/s71104.shtml> . Faxed letters regretfully do not appear.

Please send a copy of any email or letter you submit to Sean Clemmons sean@txcm.com for our files and for use by the lobbyist and PR people at Edelman when talking to legislators.

Talking points on the 2% redemption fee from recent SEC meetings:

- There is no study that indicates that there is an industry wide problem of abusive mutual fund trading that passes higher costs onto buy and hold investors.
- There is no academic study that concludes that a mandatory redemption fee will eliminate abusive trading of mutual funds.
- Therefore there is no logic in making the 90% of funds who do not now have redemption fees, most likely because they have concluded they have no abusive trading problem, impose redemption fees.
- Imposing a mandatory redemption fee is equivalent to instituting a tax on mutual fund investors.
- The SEC has for 30 years led the way in lowering the costs of investing for investors and it would be a radical reversal in policy should the SEC vote to impose a mandatory redemption fee.

•Should the SEC impose a mandatory redemption fee, it will be the beginning of a trend that will take redemption fees out to 6 to 12 months in a relatively short period of time. This is also due to the fact that there is little competitive pressure in the mutual fund market place to encourage keeping the fees on for only a few days.

•A great deal of short term trading of mutual funds is due to stale pricing of fund shares. To this end, fair value pricing is much more effective in quashing short term trading of funds than a redemption fee ever will be.

•Funds have all the tools they need to control abusive trading of their fund shares. They need only use them to be effective. The solution is not mandatory redemption fees.

The more email comments we get sent from individuals the better!
Please communicate in whatever way possible to as many individual mutual fund investors as you can the need for sending an email to the SEC. For your convenience, a list of your Texas representatives has been included at the bottom of this email. This can simply be copied into your 'BCC' (blind-carbon-copy) box, or your 'TO' or 'CC' field.
