

I've had it! I'm sure most of American's have had it.

I'm a female, XX years old. I work for a venture capital firm in Denver Colorado. Do you think more than 50 pornographic spam emails with nasty pictures is enough for any one person to deal with on a DAILY basis? I do. But I don't get 50, I get more than 100. They want to make my XXXXXX bigger (I don't have one), they put pictures up that are so embarrassing, they disguise what the content of the email is about by giving you a subject line that reads" Your order is on the way, your confirmation number is...." When you open it, your bombarded with nude photos of people having intercourse.

Yes I have a spamblocker, and a real good one. I use Cloudmark's Spamblocker. But it doesn't get it all.

I think it is unethical for people to be able to send this junk, bouncing from one email address to another, so you can't even block their email address.

Please, please, please do something to protect us and our children from the junk.

Sincerley

Lyn Halliwell