

I'm an adult woman, and I object to seeing sex spam in my email box.

Today I received an email with this rude subject on AOL:

Break walls apart with your xxxx xxxx!

This email got past AOL 9.0's advertised spam filters, plenty of them do. Do we need this sort of annoying garbage clogging our inboxes, slowing our computer networks, and wasting our time? I don't think so.

Amy Peterson
Colorado