Industrial Fire Precaution Levels on Public Lands Have Increased to Level III

CENTRAL OREGON—As the weather continues to heat up, fire precaution levels are also increasing. “Industrial Fire Precaution Level-III” restrictions for the Deschutes and Ochoco National Forests and the Prineville District of the Bureau of Land Management are now in effect.

Many people refer to the regulations as "partial shutdown" because the following activities, including woodcutting, are prohibited:

- Cable yarding is prohibited with the exception of gravity operate logging systems employing non-motorized carriages may operated between 8 p.m. and 1 p.m. when all blocks and moving lines are suspended 10 feet above the ground (except the line between the carriage and the chokers).
- Power saws are prohibited with the exception of power saws that are used at loading sites and on tractor/skidder operations between the hours of 8 p.m. and 1 p.m. local time.

The following are still permitted to operate between the hours of 8 p.m. and 1 p.m. local time:

- Tractor, skidder, feller-buncher, forwarder, or shovel logging operations where tractors, skidders or other equipment with a blade capable of constructing fireline are immediately available to quickly reach and effectively attack a fire start;
- Mechanized loading or hauling of any product or material; blasting;
- Welding or cutting of metal
- Any other spark emitting operation not specifically mentioned.

Fire regulations will become more restrictive as fire danger increases, necessitating the need to check local restrictions before visiting public or private lands. Current fire restrictions can be found by checking agency websites, speaking to campground hosts, reading posted signs and calling recorded messages.

Fire managers urge people who visit public lands to be extremely careful with outdoor activities involving campfires, lanterns, charcoal briquettes and recreational vehicles. People who start wildland fires can be fined, jailed and billed for suppression costs.
