Purpose: The purposes of this program are to:

1. Provide national leadership in the prevention of sexual violence.
2. Provide comprehensive information and resources on sexual violence (e.g. sexual violence across the lifespan, the continuum of prevention, etc.) through a central resource library and Web site.
3. Provide technical assistance and professional consultation to State sexual assault coalitions and local sexual assault programs; local, state, national and tribal agencies and organizations (including public health agencies and organizations), and the media designed to enhance the prevention of and community response to sexual violence.

For the purposes of this program announcement the following definitions apply:

Intervention: services, policies and actions provided after sexual violence has occurred and that may have the advantageous effect of preventing a re-occurrence of violence.

Prevention: population-based and/or environmental/system level services, policies and action that prevent sexual violence from initially occurring. Prevention efforts work to modify and/or entirely eliminate the event, conditions, situations, or exposure to influences (risk factors) that result in the initiation of sexual violence and associated injuries, disabilities, and deaths. Additionally, prevention efforts seek to identify and enhance protective factors that may prevent sexual violence not only in at-risk populations but also in the community at large.

This program addresses the “Healthy People 2010” focus area of Injury and Violence Prevention.

Measurable outcomes of the program will be in alignment with the following performance goal for the National Center for Injury Prevention and Control (NCIPC): Increase the capacity of injury prevention and control programs to address the prevention of injuries and violence.

lifespan; sexual violence in unserved and/or underserved communities; and sexual violence as a public health issue.

e. Identify areas where additional research and evaluation is needed to complement policy and practice.

f. Maintain a central resource library to compile and disseminate information on statistics, research and evaluation findings, promising prevention strategies and intervention programs.

g. Maintain a website to communicate information about the resource center, resources and services available, and other information on emerging issues.

h. Provide a toll-free information line and an e-mail request box which allows the public access to information on sexual violence prevention and intervention tools; research and evaluation findings; and practice standards.

i. Provide a customized service available by phone, fax, mail, or electronic mail whereby programs, agencies, professionals, and the media may receive information packets, newsletters, bibliographies, policy papers, fact sheets, etc. This service should be designed and implemented in such a way as to meet the needs of programs, agencies and allied professionals residing in multiple time zones.

j. Provide a full-time manager and other staff as appropriate.

k. Establish and maintain collaborative relationships with national, state, local and tribal sexual violence prevention organizations, public health agencies and organizations, the recipient of the national online resource to support violence against women prevention cooperative agreement, and other CDC grantees and partners.

l. Actively market the resource center to a broad range of constituents (including researchers and practitioners in the sexual violence field as well as public health researchers and practitioners).

m. Establish and maintain an advisory board with professional experience and expertise in the area of sexual violence. Board members should represent multiple disciplines including child sexual abuse and public health, represent a balance between prevention and intervention expertise, and be culturally and racially/ethnically diverse.

n. Provide a detailed evaluation plan that will document program process, effectiveness, and outcomes. This plan should identify potential data sources for evaluation, document staff availability, expertise and capacity to perform the evaluation activities. The plan should also include how results or information will be used to make programmatic and/or operational decisions.
