Background.—Section 316 of the North American Free-Trade Agreement Implementation Act (NAFTA Implementation Act (19 U.S.C. 3881)) requires that the Commission monitor U.S. imports of fresh or chilled tomatoes (HTS heading 0702.00) and fresh or chilled peppers, other than chili peppers (HTS subheading 0709.60.00), until January 1, 2009, for purposes of expediting an investigation concerning provisional relief under section 202 of the Trade Act of 1974. It does not require that the Commission publish reports on this monitoring activity or otherwise make the information available to the public. However, the Commission maintains current data files on tomatoes and peppers in order to conduct an expedited 21-day investigation should a request be received.¹ In response to the monitoring directive, the Commission instituted investigation No. 332-350, Monitoring of U.S. Imports of Tomatoes (59 FR 1763) and investigation No. 332-351, Monitoring of U.S. Imports of Peppers (59 FR 1762).

Under this proposal, data files will be stored electronically and will be maintained and made available to the public on the Commission's Web site until one year after the monitoring requirement expires on January 1, 2009. The most recent monitoring reports were published in November 2003 for tomatoes and peppers.

If provisional relief is requested, the Commission has 21 days in which to make its decision and to transmit any provisional relief recommendation to the President.

confidential treatment must conform with the requirements of section 201.6 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (19 CFR 201.6). All written submissions, except for confidential business information, will be made available in the Office of the Secretary of the Commission for inspection by interested persons. The Commission will not include any confidential business information in its monitoring reports, but may include such information in a report to the President under section 202 or 302 if a request for such an investigation were received. To be assured of consideration by the Commission, written statements relating to the Commission's reports should be submitted to the Commission in accordance with section 201.8 of the Commission's rules at the earliest practical date and should be received no later than the close of business on August 27, 2003.
