These reports include activities concerning permits, leases, licenses, conveyances, and other authorizations. They can be searched at the LR2000 website (www.blm.gov/lr2000) under reports. Connect to the LR2000 Website at http://www.blm.gov/lr2000. Use Internet Explorer 6 or newer. Allow Pop-Ups.

Click "Reports" on the main menu

The reports page allows you to search for records by serial numbers, legal description, dates and customer reports.

The Reporting Menu – Lists the available reports in Case Recordation (CR), Legal Land Description (LLD), Mining Claims (MC) and Status (ST). Click on a report type to run a search for all reports meeting the qualifications of that type.

The most commonly run reports are the Customer Information and Serial Register Page. Customer Information is used to find a report issued by a specific person/company.

When searching for a serial register report under Serial Register Page choose "New Format Serial Entry". This option makes it easier to type the serial number in as it doesn't have to be formatted.

Tip: When searching be specific! Limit your search to no more than three states at a time. If your search is too broad, the LR2000 system, your computer, and printer will get tied up.

The section "Public All Systems Reports" searches for a specific report type in all of the different systems (CR, MC, ST).
